WILLIAM GREEN, MINER, COSHOCTON, LOOMS AS SUCCESSOR OF GOMPERS

Secretary-treasurer of United Mine Workers of America is Said to be Choice of Majority of Members of Executive Council as Meeting Opens.

JAMES DUNCAN AND MATTHEW WOLL ARE ALSO CANDIDATES FOR PLACE

Green, Fourth Vice-president of Federation and Co-worker of John L. Lewis, Has Support of Largest Single Unit in Organization Against Two Rivals.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The American Federation of Labor's executive council today elected William Green, one of its members and treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, to the presidency of the organization, left vacant by the death of Samuel Gompers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—For the purpose of selecting a president of the American Federation of Labor to succeed the late Samuel Gompers, the executive council of the Federation met here today. It was the belief of informed labor leaders that William Green, of Coshocton, Ohio, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, would be named as Gompers' successor.

The other candidates for the position, it is understood, are James Duncan and Matthew Woll, both vice presidents of the Federation and council members.

Duncan and Woll Popular.

Green is fourth vice president of the Federation. He has been associated for years with John L. Lewis in the leadership of the United Mine Workers. He has been a vice president of the Federation since 1913. Green has the support of the miners' organization, the largest single unit in the American Federation of Labor.

Duncan has been first vice president for 30 years and is well known in labor circles.

NEW CHIEFTAIN OF UNION LABOR

William Green.

Earl McDole's Leg Fractured When he Falls From Ladder

Earl McDole, aged about 38, contracting painter, sustained a fracture of the right leg just above the ankle, shortly before the noon hour today, when a ladder on which he was standing, attaching a radio aerial to his home at 748 St. Clair avenue, broke.

McDole fell to the ground a distance of about 25 feet. He was carried into his home by neighbors and Dr. C. R. Larkins called. He was later removed to the City hospital in an ambulance. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Larkins and Dr. W. A. Hobbs.

Gen. Wood's Son Wins Two Millions In Wall St. Boom

PARIS, Dec. 19—The recent boom in stocks in Wall Street netted Osborn Wood, son of General Leonard E. Wood, governor general of the Philippines, two million dollars, his friends here declared today.

Wood admitted today that he had been playing Wall Street but refused to confirm the amount of his profits.

He said he had decided not to take diplomatic examinations, but instead will return to New York within a fortnight and enter the oil business.

Wood celebrated what his friends termed "his biggest winning" by giving a dinner party last night at the club Daunou. He displayed a huge "bank roll" and his smallest change was thousand franc bills. After the dinner party Wood invited the entire group to Montmartre.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES DEMAND FOR TUITION

Warns Outside Pupils Non-payment Will Bar Them.

BILLS IGNORED

Clerk Sends Ultimatum to Various Township Trustees.

High school pupils residing outside the East Liverpool school district, whose tuition is paid by township boards, will be barred from their classes January 5 if payment has not been made in full to the first of the year, the board of education decided last evening.

A report from Miss Florence Updegraff showed unpaid tuition amounting to more than $1,200 from the St. Clair Madison, Grant district and other sub-divisions. Emmett J. Gaston, clerk to the school board, was instructed to write the various school boards, advising them that these pupils would not be admitted after the holiday vacation unless the tuition Street kettles Thursday brought in $38.07, while the pottery canvassers reported $42.81. Checks which came in through the mails added $96 more.

Kettles will be sent to East End and Wellsville on Saturday.

KILLERS HEAR JURY'S ANSWER TO PLEA FOR SPEEDY DEATH

Fritz Haarmann and Hans Grans Will be Beheaded.

24 WERE VICTIMS

Confederate Guilty of Instigation of One Crime.

HANOVER, Germany, December 19.—Fritz Haarmann today heard the jury's answer to his plea for speedy death. It was a sentence to die on the guillotine for both the attic ogre and his vulture accomplice, Hans Grans.

Haarmann was found guilty of 24 of the 27 murders with which he was charged. Grans was held guilty of instigation of one murder and as accessory in a second.

Grans was sentenced to the guillotine for prompting the murder of one of the many youths he lured to Haarmann's little rooom overlooking the river where Haarmann killed them that Grans might sell their clothes.

As accessory to a second murder of the possible two score Haarmann admitted he may have committed and lost in the ruck of his murder clotted memory, Grans was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Haarmann Emotionless.

Haarmann accepted the verdict in the same spirit that he had requested that his head be chopped off.

"I fully accept the verdict. I want no appeal, no pardon," he said. "However, in some of these cases, I was not guilty."

Both Haarmann and Grans stood calm and emotionless.

Haarmann was acquitted of three murders because absolute proof that he had committed them was lacking.

The verdict parallels the opinions of experts who held that Haarmann was sane. It read:

"He knew he would kill when he saw his victims for the first time. Therefore he acted deliberately."

Two Liquor Law Offenders Fined; One Goes to Jail

Harry Anderson, Walnut street, is being held by the police today in default of a fine of $300 and costs assessed by Mayor Brown yesterday afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor. Anderson was arrested at his home Wednesday night by Captain of Police Conley shortly after he is alleged to have sold two pints of corn whisky. Friends were said to be attempting to raise the money to pay his fine.

George Lawton, California Hollow teamster, was fined $50 and costs on an illegal possession charge. Police confiscated three gallon jugs filled with liquor in an outhouse at Lawton's home Wednesday afternoon. He pleaded guilty.

County Board of Revision Plans to Call Early Meeting

Auditor, Treasurer and Chairman of Commissioners Will Consider Complaints Regarding Property Valuations Under Recent Re-appraisement.

The county board of revision will meet to consider property valuations under the recent re-appraisement just as soon as the complaints warrant, County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, said today.

The revision board is composed of the County Auditor, County Treasurer Jo Pike and the chairman of the County Commissioners. John F. Kerr is the present chairman of the Commissioners, but by virtue of his term of service, Commissioner Conrad Berg will succeed him on January 5.

Some complaints have already been filed for consideration by the board. Complainants will be notified of the date of the first session.

WOOSTER WOMAN WILL CELEBRATE HER 100TH BIRTHDAY ON CHRISTMAS

Mrs. Rebecca Jennings, Born Near Steubenville, Has Smoked Clay Pipe During 95 of 100 Years of Her Life.

During 95 of the 100 years of her life, Mrs. Jennings has smoked a clay pipe.

Born near Steubenville, O., Dec. 25, 1824, all of her life has been spent in Ohio, principally in Knox and Ashland counties. She came to Wooster five years ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Traves, West Liberty street.

The four survivors of her eight children will gather at the Traves home on Christmas day to celebrate their mother's birthday anniversary. They include James and John Jennins, living near Mansfield; Mrs. J. A. Bain of Wadsworth and Mrs. Traves.

Losing Mental Alertness.

Although vigorous physically, Mrs. Jennings during the past two years has lost much of her mental alertness. Her eyesight, too, has failed and she is almost blind.

Mrs. Jennings remembers "Johnny Appleseed," recalls the time when, as a girl, she worked as a domestic for 50 cents a week, and knows just how it was that she learned to smoke her pipe.

"My mother smoked," she said, "and she worked at a loom. She didn't want to stop working, so she got me to fill her pipe and light it for her. I got to liking it and I have smoked ever since."

Through her mother, Polly Burke, Mrs. Jennings claims relationship with Billy Burke, the famous actress.

Kommell Re-elected Private Eddy Post V. F. W., Commander

Otto Kommell, Fifth street haberdasher, was re-elected commander of Private Eddy Post No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, last night.

Officers will be installed at the first meeting in January.

Two Local Students To Get Degrees at State University

Two East Liverpool young people are included in the 132 students of Ohio State University, who are candidates for degrees at the autumn convocation today.

They are Maurice William Horton, College of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and William E. McKinney, College of Arts. The exercises mark the formal close of the autumn quarter.

Dr. William O. Thompson, president of the university, will confer the degrees. Men outnumber women, three to one, in the class. The principal convocation address will be given by Dr. J. E. Hagerty, dean of the College of Commerce and Journalism and head of the Department of Sociology.

Tri-state Poultry Fanciers Complete Plans for Exhibit

Members of the Tri-State Poultry and Pet Stock association met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, in the Little building, last evening and completed plans for their second annual show, which will open on the second floor of the Harris-Buick Garage, West Fifth street, next Monday.

Approximately 1,000 entries are listed. The show will be open morning, afternoon and evening, closing on Saturday, Dec. 27. Awards will be made on the third day, according to the plans of the officers of the association.

Seven Men Caught When Police Raid Atlas Club Rooms

Patrolmen Haley and McFarland raided the Atlas Club rooms, Washington street, at 2:30 o'clock this morning, arresting seven alleged participants in a poker game.

Joseph Armshaw, charged with being the proprietor of the place and six others, who furnished fictitious names, charged with gambling, will be given hearings before Mayor Charles Brown this afternoon.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR HOLIDAYS

Christmas Programs Feature Afternoon Session.

Short Christmas programs were featured during the latter part of the afternoon sessions in the elementary schools. In the high school, the afternoon session was devoted to a special chapel period in which the students of the four classes participated.

Out-of-town teachers will leave tonight and Saturday for their homes where they will spend the holidays. The schools will reopen on Monday, Jan. 5.

The chapel exercises, in the high school which began at 1:20, were followed by a practice basketball game between the East Liverpool and Newell fives for high school students only.

At the opening of the program, Miss Florence Updegraff formally presented to the student body a

SIX MORE HELD FOR NILES RIOT

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 19.—Sheriff John E. Thomas, of Trumbull county served six additional warrants today in connection with the rioting at Niles, Nov. 1, when the Klan attempted to stage a parade.

All taken into custody have been released under $1,000 bond.

BRIEF SUSPENSION OF POTTERY OPERATIONS DURING CHRISTMAS SEASON; SATURDAY IS PAY DAY

With general ware manufacturers in the East Liverpool district anticipating a trade revival early in 1925, pottery operations will be suspended for not more than a week or ten days, it was indicated today.

The Christmas loaf in most plants will depend upon the time required to make needed improvements and complete the annual inventory, owners asserted.

The greater part of the plants will close Saturday although several of them will operate in certain departments on Monday and Tuesday of next week. Some of the factories will attempt to operate for a few days between Christmas and New Year's. The plants will be operating to full capacity not later than Monday, January 5, all declared.

Orders for delivery early in 1925 are beginning to come in, and buying is expected to be given an impetus following the annual pottery exposition which will be held in Pittsburgh in January.

Buyers from all parts of the United States will attend the show, stopping off in East Liverpool to place orders.

Anticipate Record Sales.

Most of the potteries will distribute their Christmas pays tomorrow, although in some cases pay day has been deferred until next week. In some instances, the payroll will represent earnings for nearly three weeks. As a result, business men anticipate record-breaking sales Saturday and during the forepart of next week.

Holiday suspensions announced are as follows:

West End Pottery company — We expect to be closed for a week or ten days, resuming immediately after New Year's day. Will pay our employes Saturday.

Davison Porcelain company — We will suspend operations Tuesday evening until January 2. Tuesday will be pay day.

Colonial Pottery company—We expect to be closed for about two weeks, suspending Saturday and resuming on January 5. We will pay Saturday.

Few Plants Pay on Wednesday.

Vodrey Pottery Company—We are closed in most departments now because of a broken pulley, but expect to resume in full January 5. Next Wednesday will be our pay day.

Adamant Porcelain company—Our holiday loaf will in all probability be confined to two days—Christmas and New Year's. We will pay before Christmas.

D. E. McNicol Pottery company—We have shut down in most all departments until after New Year's day. Saturday is our pay day.

American Porcelain company—We will be closed for about a week during the holiday season. Expect we will have another pay day before Christmas.

C. C. Thompson Pottery company—Our clay shops will finish Saturday, other departments not until next week. We expect to resume in full January 2. Employes will be paid Wednesday.

R. Thomas & Sons—We expect to be closed Christmas and New Years day and the Friday and Saturday following Christmas. Saturday will be our pay day.

Edwin M. Knowles China company (two plants)—We will be idle for a week or so at both the Chester and Newell plants. Will finish up Saturday which will also be pay day.

Plans For Inventories.

Potters Co-Operative company—(Two plants)—We will close Saturday for about ten days. Will have another pay day before Christmas.

Homer Laughlin China company (Newell and East End plants—We expect to be down completely for only four or five days, resuming in full immediately after New Years. Employes will be paid on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Company (Four Plants)—We will be down on both holidays and two other days during Christmas week to take inventory. We will pay on Saturday.

Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery company—We expect to shut down Saturday until probably January 2. Our last pay this year will be Saturday.

Standard Pottery company—Our decorating shop will work next week but other departments will suspend Saturday. We expect to resume in full January 5. We will pay next Tuesday.

Hall China company—(Two plants)—Our Christmas loaf will be of about ten days' duration, suspending Saturday until January 2. We will not pay until December 27.

Harker Pottery company—We will finish work Saturday for about ten days. We expect to pay our employes next Tuesday.

Christmas Programs Feature Afternoon Session.

Short Christmas programs were featured during the latter part of the afternoon sessions in the elementary schools. In the high school, the afternoon session was devoted to a special chapel period in which the students of the four classes participated.

Out-of-town teachers will leave tonight and Saturday for their homes where they will spend the holidays. The schools will reopen on Monday, Jan. 5.

The chapel exercises, in the high school which began at 1:20, were followed by a practice basketball game between the East Liverpool and Newell fives for high school students only.

SIX MORE HELD FOR NILES RIOT

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 19.—Sheriff John E. Thomas, of Trumbull county served six additional warrants today in connection with the rioting at Niles, Nov. 1, when the Klan attempted to stage a parade.

All taken into custody have been released under $1,000 bond.

With general ware manufacturers in the East Liverpool district anticipating a trade revival early in 1925, pottery operations will be suspended for not more than a week or ten days, it was indicated today.

The Christmas loaf in most plants will depend upon the time required to make needed improvements and complete the annual inventory, owners asserted.

The greater part of the plants will close Saturday although several of them will operate in certain departments on Monday and Tuesday of next week. Some of the factories will attempt to operate for a few days between Christmas and New Year's. The plants will be operating to full capacity not later than Monday, January 5, all declared.

Orders for delivery early in 1925 are beginning to come in, and buying is expected to be given an impetus following the annual pottery exposition which will be held in Pittsburgh in January.

Buyers from all parts of the United States will attend the show, stopping off in East Liverpool to place orders.

Anticipate Record Sales.

Most of the potteries will distribute their Christmas pays tomorrow, although in some cases pay day has been deferred until next week. In some instances, the payroll will represent earnings for nearly three weeks. As a result, business men anticipate record-breaking sales Saturday and during the forepart of next week.

Holiday suspensions announced are as follows:

West End Pottery company — We expect to be closed for a week or ten days, resuming immediately after New Year's day. Will pay our employes Saturday.

Davison Porcelain company — We will suspend operations Tuesday evening until January 2, Tuesday will be pay day.

Colonial Pottery company—We expect to be closed for about two weeks, suspending Saturday and resuming on January 5. We will pay Saturday.

Few Plants Pay on Wednesday.

Vodrey Pottery Company—We are closed in most departments now because of a broken pulley, but expect to resume in full January 5. Next Wednesday will be our pay day.

Adamant Porcelain company—Our holiday loaf will in all probability be confined to two days—Christmas and New Year's. We will pay before Christmas.

D. E. McNicol Pottery company—We have shut down in most all departments until after New Year's day. Saturday is our pay day.

American Porcelain company—We will be closed for about a week during the holiday season. Expect we will have another pay day before Christmas.

C. C. Thompson Pottery company—Our clay shops will finish Saturday, other departments not until next week. We expect to resume in full January 2. Employes will be paid Wednesday.

R. Thomas & Sons—We expect to be closed Christmas and New Years day and the Friday and Saturday following Christmas. Saturday will be our pay day.

Edwin M. Knowles China company (two plants)—We will be idle for a week or so at both the Chester and Newell plants. Will finish up Saturday which will also be pay day.

Plans For Inventories.

Potters Co-Operative company—(Two plants)—We will close Saturday for about ten days. Will have another pay day before Christmas.

Homer Laughlin China company (Newell and East End plants—We expect to be down completely for only four or five days, resuming in full immediately after New Years. Employes will be paid on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Company (Four Plants)—We will be down on both holidays and two other days during Christmas week to take inventory. We will pay on Saturday.

Taylor, Smith & Taylor Pottery company—We expect to shut down Saturday until probably January 2. Our last pay this year will be Saturday.

Standard Pottery company—Our decorating shop will work next week but other departments will suspend Saturday. We expect to resume in full January 5. We will pay next Tuesday.

Hall China company—(Two plants)—Our Christmas loaf will be of about ten days' duration, suspending Saturday until January 2. We will not pay until December 27.

Harker Pottery company—We will finish work Saturday for about ten days. We expect to pay our employes next Tuesday.

WILLIAM GREEN, MINER, COSHOCTON, LOOMS AS SUCCESSOR OF GOMPERS

Secretary-treasurer of United Mine Workers of America is Said to be Choice of Majority of Members of Executive Council as Meeting Opens.

JAMES DUNCAN AND MATTHEW WOLL ARE ALSO CANDIDATES FOR PLACE

Green, Fourth Vice-president of Federation and Co-worker of John L. Lewis, Has Support of Largest Single Unit in Organization Against Two Rivals.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The American Federation of Labor's executive council today elected William Green, one of its members and treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, to the presidency of the organization, left vacant by the death of Samuel Gompers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—For the purpose of selecting a president of the American Federation of Labor to succeed the late Samuel Gompers, the executive council of the Federation met here today. It was the belief of informed labor leaders that William Green, of Coshocton, Ohio, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, would be named as Gompers' successor.

The other candidates for the position, it is understood, are James Duncan and Matthew Woll, both vice presidents of the Federation and council members.

Duncan and Woll Popular.

Green is fourth vice president of the Federation. He has been associated for years with John L. Lewis in the leadership of the United Mine Workers. He has been a vice president of the Federation since 1913. Green has the support of the miners' organization, the largest single unit in the American Federation of Labor.

Duncan has been first vice president for 30 years and is well known in labor circles.

Gen. Wood's Son Wins Two Millions In Wall St. Boom

Wood admitted today that he had been playing Wall Street but refused to confirm the amount of his profits.

He said he had decided not to take diplomatic examinations, but instead will return to New York within a fortnight and enter the oil business.

Wood celebrated what his friends termed "his biggest winning" by giving a dinner party last night at the club Daunou. He displayed a huge "bank roll" and his smallest change was thousand franc bills. After the dinner party Wood invited the entire group to Montmartre.

KILLERS HEAR JURY'S ANSWER TO PLEA FOR SPEEDY DEATH

Fritz Haarmann and Hans Grans Will be Beheaded.

Confederate Guilty of Instigation of One Crime.

HANOVER, Germany, December 19.—Fritz Haarmann today heard the jury's answer to his plea for speedy death. It was a sentence to die on the guillotine for both the attic ogre and his vulture accomplice, Hans Grans.

Haarmann was found guilty of 24 of the 27 murders with which he was charged. Grans was held guilty of instigation of one murder and as accessory in a second.

Grans was sentenced to the guillotine for prompting the murder of one of the many youths he lured to Haarmann's little rooom overlooking the river where Haarmann killed them that Grans might sell their clothes.

As accessory to a second murder of the possible two score Haarmann admitted he may have committed and lost in the ruck of his murder clotted memory, Grans was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Haarmann Emotionless.

Haarmann accepted the verdict in the same spirit that he had requested that his head be chopped off.

"I fully accept the verdict. I want no appeal, no pardon," he said. "However, in some of these cases, I was not guilty."

Both Haarmann and Grans stood calm and emotionless.

Haarmann was acquitted of three murders because absolute proof that he had committed them was lacking.

The verdict parallels the opinions of experts who held that Haarmann was sane. It read:

"He knew he would kill when he saw his victims for the first time. Therefore he acted deliberately."

Two Liquor Law Offenders Fined; One Goes to Jail

Harry Anderson, Walnut street, is being held by the police today in default of a fine of $300 and costs assessed by Mayor Brown yesterday afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor. Anderson was arrested at his home Wednesday night by Captain of Police Conley shortly after he is alleged to have sold two pints of corn whisky. Friends were said to be attempting to raise the money to pay his fine.

George Lawton, California Hollow teamster, was fined $50 and costs on an illegal possession charge. Police confiscated three gallon jugs filled with liquor in an outhouse at Lawton's home Wednesday afternoon. He pleaded guilty.

County Board of Revision Plans to Call Early Meeting

Auditor, Treasurer and Chairman of Commissioners Will Consider Complaints Regarding Property Valuations Under Recent Re-appraisement.

The county board of revision will meet to consider property valuations under the recent re-appraisement just as soon as the complaints warrant, County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton, of Lisbon, said today.

The revision board is composed of the County Auditor, County Treasurer Jo Pike and the chairman of the County Commissioners. John F. Kerr is the present chairman of the Commissioners, but by virtue of his term of service, Commissioner Conrad Berg will succeed him on January 5.

Some complaints have already been filed for consideration by the board. Complainants will be notified of the date of the first session.

WOOSTER WOMAN WILL CELEBRATE HER 100TH BIRTHDAY ON CHRISTMAS

Mrs. Rebecca Jennings, Born Near Steubenville, Has Smoked Clay Pipe During 95 of 100 Years of Her Life.

During 95 of the 100 years of her life, Mrs. Jennings has smoked a clay pipe.

Born near Steubenville, O., Dec. 25, 1824, all of her life has been spent in Ohio, principally in Knox and Ashland counties. She came to Wooster five years ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Traves, West Liberty street.

The four survivors of her eight children will gather at the Traves home on Christmas day to celebrate their mother's birthday anniversary. They include James and John Jennins, living near Mansfield; Mrs. J. A. Bain of Wadsworth and Mrs. Traves.

Losing Mental Alertness.

Although vigorous physically, Mrs. Jennings during the past two years has lost much of her mental alertness. Her eyesight, too, has failed and she is almost blind.

Mrs. Jennings remembers "Johnny Appleseed," recalls the time when, as a girl, she worked as a domestic for 50 cents a week, and knows just how it was that she learned to smoke her pipe.

"My mother smoked," she said, "and she worked at a loom. She didn't want to stop working, so she got me to fill her pipe and light it for her. I got to liking it and I have smoked ever since."

Through her mother, Polly Burke, Mrs. Jennings claims relationship with Billy Burke, the famous actress.

Officers will be installed at the first meeting in January.

Two Local Students To Get Degrees at State University

Two East Liverpool young people are included in the 132 students of Ohio State University, who are candidates for degrees at the autumn convocation today.

They are Maurice William Horton, College of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and William E. McKinney, College of Arts. The exercises mark the formal close of the autumn quarter.

Dr. William O. Thompson, president of the university, will confer the degrees. Men outnumber women, three to one, in the class. The principal convocation address will be given by Dr. J. E. Hagerty, dean of the College of Commerce and Journalism and head of the Department of Sociology.

Tri-state Poultry Fanciers Complete Plans for Exhibit

Members of the Tri-State Poultry and Pet Stock association met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, in the Little building, last evening and completed plans for their second annual show, which will open on the second floor of the Harris-Buick Garage, West Fifth street, next Monday.

Approximately 1,000 entries are listed. The show will be open morning, afternoon and evening, closing on Saturday, Dec. 27. Awards will be made on the third day, according to the plans of the officers of the association.

Seven Men Caught When Police Raid Atlas Club Rooms

Patrolmen Haley and McFarland raided the Atlas Club rooms, Washington street, at 2:30 o'clock this morning, arresting seven alleged participants in a poker game.

The Holiday Rush Is At Its Height And Such Glorious Christmas Stocks We Have Never Known

That It Is Next to An Impossibility to Please Everybody

Is well illustrated by the hundred-year-old fable of the farmer, his son and the little pony, on the road to the horse market, to sell the little horse. To get the best price for the small animal, they concluded to not give him any load to carry, but a man passing them on the road said it would do no harm for the farmer's son to ride him. Coming along later, a party of men and women said, "Look at the good-for-nothing boy riding and letting his father trudge on foot." So the father climbed up and sat behind his son.

By and by more travelers came along and said aloud, for everybody to hear, "What a shame for two men to be on that little beast's back! It is enough to kill him," whereupon the father and son got off the pony and the whole three walked to town saying to each other, "Trying to please everybody pleases nobody." And yet—this store has agreeable recollections of more than thirty years of trying to please.

Organist, Walter Henstock. Choir director, Prof. Charles Schaergers.

Yellow Creek Church Services.

"What Should Christmas Do for Us?" will be the theme of Rev. K. Y. Stewart's Sunday evening sermon in the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church. Services will be held at the usual hours, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. Stewart's morning theme will be "The Guiding Stars of Life." Sunday school will convene at 10 a. m. and Young People's society at 7 p. m.

Rev. Stewart will have charge of services Sunday in the Long's Run Presbyterian church also. He will discuss "The Guiding Stars of Life" at services at 2:30 p. m. Sunday school will meet at 1:30 p. m.

LOYAL WOMEN NAME OFFICERS

Mrs. Walter Weldon was named president of the Loyal Women's Sunday school class of the First Christian church last night at the annual election of officers in the church parlors.

The election followed a 6 o'clock chicken dinner for members of the Loyal Women's and the Loyal Men's classes. The tables were decorated appropriately, Christmas colors prevailing. Gifts were exchanged following dinner.

Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, Mrs. Cloyd Boring; secretary, Mrs. Harry Wilson; assistant secretary, Mrs. Alex White; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Robb.

S. M. COFFLAND, 84, IS DEAD HERE

Samuel M. Coffland, 84 years old, died Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Wilbur Dales, 423 Riverside avenue, following a brief illness of complications.

For the past several years he had been making his home with Mrs. E. E. Ralston. He was a veteran of the Civil war.

Funeral services will be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Dales residence; in charge of Rev. Thomas Shearer, pastor of the Wellsville First Christian church, and Rev. B. R. Johnson, paster of the First Christian church of East Liverpool.

Burial will be made on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Bridgeport.

Announce Marriage.

Announcement was made here today of the marriage of Miss Alice Smith, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Hiuze of Buckeye avenue, to Asa Roberts, of Salineville, which was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Lisbon by the pastor, Rev. Tilton.

A wedding supper was served last night at the home of the bride. Places were laid for 10, including members of the respective families.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will make their home within the near future in Salineville, where the bridegroom is employed.

Plan Christmas Treat.

The regular Christmas entertainment and treat of the First United Presbyterian church will be held Thursday night, Christmas, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A playlet, adapted from "The Christmas Carol," by Dickens, will be given.

The Christmas treat will be given in connection with the services to which the entire Bible school, congregation and friends, are invited.

The Pyromaniac

An Ohio pyromaniac named Norvell has asked the state fire marshal to see that he is placed in some institution where he can be treated for his affliction by an alienist. Norvell has been convicted for arson six times and has served 30 of his 55 years in prison, surrendering voluntarily every time.

He explains that while his conscience disapproves of setting fire to houses, barns and haystacks, he is driven to it by an uncontrollable impulse. He puts it up to the mental experts to rid him of the impulse.

That is a sensible way to go about the matter. It may be impossible to straighten out the fire kink in Norvell's mind, but ordinarily a cure should be possible if such a subject were taken earlier in life. Children are natural pyromaniacs—it is instinctive to love fires, an dmost children have to be trained not to start them in dangerous places.

It always helps, with children, to shift a dangerous propensity into safer channels without damning it up. Thus many a child has been cured of the fire habit by letting him help with the regular household fires, or letting him participate in an occasional bonfire under the protection of grown-ups.

In one case an adult fire-fiend was cured thoroughly and permanently by making him fireman in a factory. He simply reveled in keeping the furnace fires hot, and so satisfied his abnormal love for flames.

Easy Money

Leo Koretz, Chicago promoter arrested in Halifax on a swindling charge, indignantly denies that he ever tried to "swindle" anybody.

"Why," he explains, "I never yet urged anyone to go into any kind of a deal with me. A lot of people insisted that I handle their money—they just forced it on me—and when things went wrong, they blamed it onto me. I refused hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Whatever may be the merits of this promoter's case, his plea is not altogether fanciful or unusual. The situation he represents is only too familiar in the world of speculation, and it is that situation which makes it so easy for crooks to prey on the public and get away with hundreds of millions of dollars in this country every year.

There are two sides to every deal. The slickest swindler does not bear all the responsibility. He does not sell his fake stock to his victims without an answering eagerness on their part to risk their money in the hope of getting something for nothing. This foolish eagerness to take a financial risk invites the swindles.

In many cases the results to the victims are pitiful indeed. In many, however, they may be wholesome, because there are gullible persons who can learn only through personal trial and loss. The wise investor is he who will take the word of other victims, or the word of experts who have seen much of such victimizing, and make anyone who wants his savings show very good reason why he should be entrusted with them.

Latin Alive Again

One of the surprising things in education today is the "come-back" of the Latin language. The war was thought to have killed it off, with its emphasis on immediately "practical" studies. Now even the most practical of students are finding the Latin is useful, if for no other reason than the familiarity it gives them with scientific terminology.

Students in general are said to be turning back to it for "cultural reasons." That is, they regard the Latin language as worth knowing for itself, and as a key to a vast amount of knowledge and literature that cannot be got at so easily otherwise. So great is this movement that it is almost impossible in some parts of the country to supply the demand for Latin teachers.

So the pendulum swings. The "classics" have died many times, and always come to life again. There must be great vitality in them.

As regards the basic merits of such study there is something to say on both sides. One thing sure, though—boys and girls who learn Latin will be able to spell better and use better English than have been customary lately.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

BUILDING AND MARKING HIGHWAYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—One of the most discussed reports submitted to Secretary of Commerce Hoover's national conference on street and highway safety was that of the committee on engineering and construction. Frank Page, the head of the North Carolina state highway commission, was the chairman of this committee, which worked out a long list of recommendations, predicated on the fact that with the tremendous development of motor traffic and the prospect of its future growth construction and engineering problems are of primary importance.

Congestion multiplies the dangers of the road. Therefore, says the committee, safety requires that these increasing currents of traffic be able to flow smoothly and continuously, by night as well as by day, with a minimum of conflict between currents.

Traffic accidents last year cost 22,600 lives and resulted in injuries to 678,000 people, with a total estimated economic loss of $600,000,000. Only a small percentage of these accidents can be charged to defects in the construction of streets and roads, but it is evident from all available data that a very large proportion of those resulting in deaths and personal injuries are due to reckless or careless driving, plus bad curves, unsafe grades, too narrow roadways, bad grade crossings, and other inadequate or unsafe features of highway construction.

Turn loose a speed demon—especially one who uses alcohol in his own radiator as well as in that of his car—on a road that is not everything it should be and the chances of disaster are vastly increased. And, unfortunately, when one of those accidents occur it isn't only the speeder who is killed or injured. He always has some innocent victims and it happens not infrequently that he himself escapes the penalty for his recklessness.

MULTIPLES OF TRAFFIC LANES

According to the conclusions of Mr. Page's committees the roadway of every improved rural highway sohuld be wide enough for at least two lanes of traffic, while every pavement in a city street should be wide enough for at least three lanes without street cars or four lanes with street cars. Those for streets of heavy traffic should be wider. Both street and highway pavement widths should be in multiples of the widths of traffic lanes—a minimum of nine feet for motor vehicles and 10 feet for street cars.

Right of way for parking space, for clear view at curves and intersections, and for future roadway widening should be provided before the cost of the land become prohibitive. Parkways and sidewalks should be so placed as to facilitate future widening.

In suburban streets carrying both street cars and heavy motor traffic, the street cars should be given exclusive space in the center with a roadway on either side. In rural districts, where car lines parallel the roadway, the tracks should remain continuously on one side. To make it feasible to prohibit parking or stopping on the traveled roadway, improved rural highways should be provided, either continuously or at intervals not exceeding 300 feet, with reasonably hard and level parking places entirely outside the traveled way.

No grade should be in excess of 6 per cent, if it is feasible to avoid it, and highways of importance should not have curves of less than 300-foot radius. The cross section of the pavement or roadway should be as flat as drainage conditions will permit, and curves should be widened and banked, and provided with transition curves to effect an easy transition between straight sections of the roadway and the curves. Guard rails of substantial type should be erected on the shoulders of embankments.

An unobstructed view of approaching vehicles for at least 300 feet should be provided at all points on highways of the first importance. To accomplish this it may be necessary to remove trees, shrubs and sloping banks on or off the right of way at curves and intersections, and to cut down sharp hillcrests. Few things contribute more to traffic accidents than the condition in which a driver cannot see where he is going or what vehicles are coming in his direction.

ELIMINATE GRADE CROSSINGS

The committee finds that grade crossing elimination through the co-operation of municipalities, states and railroads must be the ultimate remedy for the railroad-highway grade-crossing peril. Where this is done, narrow or unobstructed underpasses and sharp turns in the approaches thereto should be eliminated also, or avaided.

The creation of new grade crossings should be avoided wherever possible. Before improving an important highway which has grade crossings or other serious disadvantages, consideration should be given to the possible substitution of some parallel route free from such difficulties, even if little traveled at present.

Crossings remaining at grade should be safeguarded in every possible way. Standard warning signs or pavement markings should be supplemented by automatic signals, crossing flagmen or gates, depending upon the volume of highway and rail traffic. So far as possible a clear view along the track in both directions from both sides should be maintained. Sharp curves, abrupt changes of grade, roughness in pavement, or other conditions at or near tracks which tend to divert the attention of the motorist should be eliminated.

Every bridge on an improved highway or street should be at least 22 feet in width, to enable two lines of traffic to pace without difficulty, and existing one-way bridges should be widened or rebuilt. Detours around highways, streets or bridges under construction or reconstruction should be carefully selected and maintained in safe condition, and clearly marked.

Cautionary or stop signs and signals at danger points, direction and distance signs at important junctions and intersections, and signs and signals to indicate special traffic rules and regulations, all are necessary for the safe operation of vehicles and should be provided in the cities by the traffic authorities. They should be simple and uniform for a given purpose throughout the United States.

For signs and signals, both luminous and nonluminous, the committee recommends the following color indications, and says these colors should not be used for any other purpose: Red for "Stop;" green for "Proceed;" yellow for "Caution," as at curves; purple or some color as a special cautionary indication at cross roads; white letters or symbols to be used on the red, green or purple background, and black on the yellow. Distance and direction signs should be black and white.

Many unimproved highways not part of the federal-aid or state highway systems carry considerable motor traffic, and the committee says that automobile clubs or other agencies can perform a useful service by placing the standard signs at the chief danger points on such highways.

And the pedestrian, wherever and whenever he walks in traffic lanes, should keep to the left so that he easily avoid approaching vehicles and not have to worry about those overtaking him.

The Value of Reforesting.

There are native sons of the Keystone state who were brought up in sawmill towns in the virgin forest which was producing great quantities of pine and other lumber, and shipping heavily of forest products into other states. Today, outside of three or four tracts still intact, there is practically no virgin timber left in the state. We are importing 70 per cent of the pulpwood used in our paper mills, and 84 per cent of the timber we require for industrial, mining and building operations. And this with hundreds of thousands of acres of deforested waste land, which proper forestry measures would turn into a valuable asset, making us independent of outside timber supplies for ordinary purposes. Pennsylvania is paying annually $25,000,000 in freight charges alone to bring in wood products. The possible saving in that item is enough to make a $25,000,000 bond issue look like a good investment.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Powerful Katrinka's Little Brother— By Fontaine Fox

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—He never had a painting lesson in his life, but he's recognized as one of America's leading artists—the greatest painter of western life since Remington.

He is Charles Russell, Montana's cowboy artists, now in Los Angeles.

For 59 years Charlie—that's what they call him—Russell has known and loved the plains and buttes of Montana and love has produced his paintings.

His studio has been the mountain ranges, the rivers and lakes and plains of his rugged home state.

"I wanted to paint things that I saw and I just did," Russell explained.

Russell never was taught anatomy, yet his figures, his horses and buffaloes, as well as other animals, are pronounced superbly executed.

Strangely enough, one of the events which has given Russell much recent popularity was the prize fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4, 1923. Dempsey maintained his training camp at Great Falls, Mont., Russell's home, and visitors from all parts of the country flocked there.

In Great Falls every saloon, every soft drink "palace" and many stores boast Russell paintings. In addition, there are several collections in libraries and public buildings and all of these attracted the attention of eastern visitors.

While Dempsey was preparing to fight Gibbons Russell visited him and later made several paintings and clay models of the world's champion boxer.

One of Russell's paintings was bought by the Prince of Wales and three presidents—Harding, Taft and Roosevelt—purchased Russell canvases. Will Rogers, the Duke of Connaught, E. L. Doheny and Douglas Fairbanks are Russell admirers and own several of his paintings.

"I watched the roundups and the branding and the loading of cattle against the purple haze and golden sunsets of Montana and I just wanted to paint those scenes," said Russell. "I love horses especially, and I wanted to reproduce the things I liked in them and in other animals."

All of Russell's horses are creatures of action, freedom and abandon. It was the Montana artist's drawings of horses bucking, running and leaping which first won him fame.

"Painting is like any other art," said Russell. "I mean if one feels he must write, he can write; if a man has something in his heart, in his soul, that needs expression, then he will express it, either in painting, music or some form of creative art."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The fashion now to have cafe kitchens in the windows. So the customers may see, Brock Pemberton. A Kansas boy with two shows on Broadway. And a few years ago buried in an obscure newspaper job with me.

Canfield's old gambling house. Where highflying rajahs won and lost. And old Delmonico's near by. Where the highfliers tossed diamonds to dancing girls. The blue dome of the Grand Central—the delightful blue of Maxfield Parrish's pictures.

A depot gong. As doleful as a Chicago police whistle. Red nosed cabbies huddled in the wind. A group of Senegalese. In a sort of helpless daze. Kerrigan, the depot cop, with the jovial scowl. But who carries peppermint drops for the children.

Frankfurters with mustard and sauerkraut. Hot dog! Penny weighing machines that make fortunes for their owners. Why are most engineers stout? A theatrical company off for the sticks. And the leading lady, as usual, carries a white shaggy poodle.

The homegoing rush across Forty-second street. The Gainsborough girl is coming back. Also the princess gown. The first Christmas tree I've seen. A window filled with period dolls. They take the place of cushions. A. Sulka. Who owns the smart haberdashery.

The debutantes are giving the new Park Lane hotel a rush. Three Great Danes on a chain dragging a thin man along. The thunder of trains under street. Park avenue begins to show the inroads of trade. Soon it will be another Fifth avenue.

No one has yet captured the jazz mantle that fell upon the broad shoulders of Paul Whiteman. Whiteman left New York at the peak of his popularity for a three-year tour that will carry him to every corner of the globe. He had vision for just now there is no place that will pay the enormous prices that he was paid.

Winter and summer finds the Times Square "rail-birds" roosting along the curbing of the little triangular square at the northernly end. Here are men who while away the hours talking of "past performances" at the tracks, song and play royalties and the chances of a quick clean up. They are not all young. Indeed most of them are old and have for years expected a sudden fortune from minimum toil. They are birds of a feather flocking together. They speak in terms of thousands with not enough in their pockets to settle the current laundry bill.

A strange companionship exists in the Central Park zoo. I went to see myself. A pigeon and a hippo. Of course, there is the legend of the gird that warns the rhinocerous. Great hunters say it is true. But the pigeon and hippo seem to be merely pals. The bird stays on its back all night and during the day it flies alone only to return to its odd companion. The keeper says it has been going on for about ten months.

The poor buffaloes at the zoo seem to be in need of the ether cone. They are moth eaten and decrepid. They stand for hours motionless and no doubt dreaming of the glories once theirs. The only exhibits at the zoo for which I hold no pity are the snakes. The others seem to lead terrible caged in lives trying to avoid annoying visitors. The most pathetic of all the exhibits is a huge brown Alaskan bear who is blind. He stands all day long and sways.

THE FLYING MACHINE

What railroad man will first realize what the flying machine means? What railroad man especially will first realize what the flying machine will do to the passenger traffic of the great railroads on all long hauls?

The first capable man, acting on thorough realization of the flying machine's future, will establish for his stockholders and himself such a fortune as would make those of the Vanderbilts, Hills and Huntingtons look like financial crumbs.

You think about the flying machine in Los Angeles representing the business energy of the whole western country.

To go to Los Angeles now, you travel four days on trains admirably equipped and managed.

In less than 20 years the trip will be made by flying machines in six hours and with absolute safety. How many Americans will devote four railroad days to a six-hour flying trip?

Not many.

IT WILL CHANGE LIFE

The flying machine will upset theories, habits and values.

Land 100 miles from a great city will be reached more quickly than land in the suburbs 25 miles away is reached now.

Flying for all long journeys will displace railroading completely within the lives of middle aged men now living.

Many railroad men, of course, realize what a great change in transportation is soon coming. William Sprouls, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, said yesterday that what caused him to do some hard thinking was the landing at Los Angeles of a man that had flown from New York in one single day between sunrise and dark. If a man can do that experimentally for the government now how long before the thing will be done practically by up-to-date transportation men?

Napoleon listened for a minute or two to Fulton's description of the steamboat, but he didn't take it seriously. Had he done so, he might have crossed the English channel and conquered England.

He listened to a description of the deadly needle gun that had just been invented by a German. He even ordered samples made. But the samples were clumsy, awkward, and he dropped that. Had he supplied that mysterious weapon to his whole army he would have been absolutely invincible, and instead of going to Saint Helena, he might have ended his days as autocrat of all Europe and Asia.

Luckily for the world Napolean, the world's greatest general, never devised or encouraged any new war engine.

REAL ESTATE AND RAILROADS

Transportation through the air on a great commercial scale probably will be developed first in this part of the world, for here the need is greatest. Californians can fly a thousand miles along their own coast and zigzag east and west two or three hundred miles, all above California soil. They know that the flying machine will solve the great western problem, which is distance.

They run auto omnibuses in more or less feeble competition with railroads here. Huge machines make trips regularly from San Diego to San Francisco and farther north. That sort of proposition will end with the flying machine able to show the entire length of California in a forenoon.

Very likely the Southern Pacific railroad will displace passenger carrying on tracks, with passenger flying as the New York Central in the last century displaced the stage coach with "steam cars" between Buffalo and New York.

DON'T SELL S. P.

If you happen to have any stock in the Southern Pacific railroad, by the way, don't sell it. The men that manage it, William Sprouls, the president, and his vice president, Paul Shoup, are real railroad men, not watchers of the stock ticker. They are making money for their stockholders, and simultaneously making good will. Never speculate or gamble. But if you have any "S. P." hold it.

Real railroad men as regards present earnings will not fear the flying machine, even should they fail to utilize it. That flying machine, taking long haul passengers from railroads, will so greatly increase freight carrying as to make railroad rights of way and terminals more valuable than ever.

That's part of the wisdom of Divine justice. No really good thing ever disappears with another good thing already existing.

The taxi wiped out the hansom cab, as gas and electricity wiped out the tallow candle. But the hansom and the candle were really not "good things."

The young promoter of today has his best chance for usefulness and great success in closely watching flying machine development.

Theodore N. Vail, old and gray when he built the electric tramways in Buenos Aires, was older and whiter when he combined the Western Union and the telephone companies here.

He might be first to start a flying route, beginning with hydro-aeroplanes above the Hudson river from New York to Albany, then branching out all the way to Chicago.

Watch the flying machine. It will make changes greater than the steam engine ever made, making man literally master of all he surveys by enabling him to go anywhere and everywhere without roads or terminals, crossing a continent in half a day.

Most important of all is the fact that the flying machine alone represents national safety, since all wars will be fought and won or lost in the air from now on. Write your two senators and your congressman, urging adequate aerial defense—not half as many first-class machines as any other nation has, but twice as many.

The Pyromaniac

An Ohio pyromaniac named Norvell has asked the state fire marshal to see that he is placed in some institution where he can be treated for his affliction by an alienist. Norvell has been convicted for arson six times and has served 30 of his 55 years in prison, surrendering voluntarily every time.

He explains that while his conscience disapproves of setting fire to houses, barns and haystacks, he is driven to it by an uncontrollable impulse. He puts it up to the mental experts to rid him of the impulse.

That is a sensible way to go about the matter. It may be impossible to straighten out the fire kink in Norvell's mind, but ordinarily a cure should be possible if such a subject were taken earlier in life. Children are natural pyromaniacs—it is instinctive to love fires, an dmost children have to be trained not to start them in dangerous places.

It always helps, with children, to shift a dangerous propensity into safer channels without damning it up. Thus many a child has been cured of the fire habit by letting him help with the regular household fires, or letting him participate in an occasional bonfire under the protection of grown-ups.

In one case an adult fire-fiend was cured thoroughly and permanently by making him fireman in a factory. He simply reveled in keeping the furnace fires hot, and so satisfied his abnormal love for flames.

Easy Money

Leo Koretz, Chicago promoter arrested in Halifax on a swindling charge, indignantly denies that he ever tried to "swindle" anybody.

"Why," he explains, "I never yet urged anyone to go into any kind of a deal with me. A lot of people insisted that I handle their money—they just forced it on me—and when things went wrong, they blamed it onto me. I refused hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Whatever may be the merits of this promoter's case, his plea is not altogether fanciful or unusual. The situation he represents is only too familiar in the world of speculation, and it is that situation which makes it so easy for crooks to prey on the public and get away with hundreds of millions of dollars in this country every year.

There are two sides to every deal. The slickest swindler does not bear all the responsibility. He does not sell his fake stock to his victims without an answering eagerness on their part to risk their money in the hope of getting something for nothing. This foolish eagerness to take a financial risk invites the swindles.

In many cases the results to the victims are pitiful indeed. In many, however, they may be wholesome, because there are gullible persons who can learn only through personal trial and loss. The wise investor is he who will take the word of other victims, or the word of experts who have seen much of such victimizing, and make anyone who wants his savings show very good reason why he should be entrusted with them.

Latin Alive Again

One of the surprising things in education today is the "come-back" of the Latin language. The war was thought to have killed it off, with its emphasis on immediately "practical" studies. Now even the most practical of students are finding the Latin is useful, if for no other reason than the familiarity it gives them with scientific terminology.

Students in general are said to be turning back to it for "cultural reasons." That is, they regard the Latin language as worth knowing for itself, and as a key to a vast amount of knowledge and literature that cannot be got at so easily otherwise. So great is this movement that it is almost impossible in some parts of the country to supply the demand for Latin teachers.

So the pendulum swings. The "classics" have died many times, and always come to life again. There must be great vitality in them.

As regards the basic merits of such study there is something to say on both sides. One thing sure, though—boys and girls who learn Latin will be able to spell better and use better English than have been customary lately.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

BUILDING AND MARKING HIGHWAYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—One of the most discussed reports submitted to Secretary of Commerce Hoover's national conference on street and highway safety was that of the committee on engineering and construction. Frank Page, the head of the North Carolina state highway commission, was the chairman of this committee, which worked out a long list of recommendations, predicated on the fact that with the tremendous development of motor traffic and the prospect of its future growth construction and engineering problems are of primary importance.

Congestion multiplies the dangers of the road. Therefore, says the committee, safety requires that these increasing currents of traffic be able to flow smoothly and continuously, by night as well as by day, with a minimum of conflict between currents.

Traffic accidents last year cost 22,600 lives and resulted in injuries to 678,000 people, with a total estimated economic loss of $600,000,000. Only a small percentage of these accidents can be charged to defects in the construction of streets and roads, but it is evident from all available data that a very large proportion of those resulting in deaths and personal injuries are due to reckless or careless driving, plus bad curves, unsafe grades, too narrow roadways, bad grade crossings, and other inadequate or unsafe features of highway construction.

Turn loose a speed demon—especially one who uses alcohol in his own radiator as well as in that of his car—on a road that is not everything it should be and the chances of disaster are vastly increased. And, unfortunately, when one of those accidents occur it isn't only the speeder who is killed or injured. He always has some innocent victims and it happens not infrequently that he himself escapes the penalty for his recklessness.

MULTIPLES OF TRAFFIC LANES

According to the conclusions of Mr. Page's committees the roadway of every improved rural highway sohuld be wide enough for at least two lanes of traffic, while every pavement in a city street should be wide enough for at least three lanes without street cars or four lanes with street cars. Those for streets of heavy traffic should be wider. Both street and highway pavement widths should be in multiples of the widths of traffic lanes—a minimum of nine feet for motor vehicles and 10 feet for street cars.

Right of way for parking space, for clear view at curves and intersections, and for future roadway widening should be provided before the cost of the land become prohibitive. Parkways and sidewalks should be so placed as to facilitate future widening.

In suburban streets carrying both street cars and heavy motor traffic, the street cars should be given exclusive space in the center with a roadway on either side. In rural districts, where car lines parallel the roadway, the tracks should remain continuously on one side. To make it feasible to prohibit parking or stopping on the traveled roadway, improved rural highways should be provided, either continuously or at intervals not exceeding 300 feet, with reasonably hard and level parking places entirely outside the traveled way.

No grade should be in excess of 6 per cent, if it is feasible to avoid it, and highways of importance should not have curves of less than 300-foot radius. The cross section of the pavement or roadway should be as flat as drainage conditions will permit, and curves should be widened and banked, and provided with transition curves to effect an easy transition between straight sections of the roadway and the curves. Guard rails of substantial type should be erected on the shoulders of embankments.

An unobstructed view of approaching vehicles for at least 300 feet should be provided at all points on highways of the first importance. To accomplish this it may be necessary to remove trees, shrubs and sloping banks on or off the right of way at curves and intersections, and to cut down sharp hillcrests. Few things contribute more to traffic accidents than the condition in which a driver cannot see where he is going or what vehicles are coming in his direction.

ELIMINATE GRADE CROSSINGS

The committee finds that grade crossing elimination through the co-operation of municipalities, states and railroads must be the ultimate remedy for the railroad-highway grade-crossing peril. Where this is done, narrow or unobstructed underpasses and sharp turns in the approaches thereto should be eliminated also, or avaided.

The creation of new grade crossings should be avoided wherever possible. Before improving an important highway which has grade crossings or other serious disadvantages, consideration should be given to the possible substitution of some parallel route free from such difficulties, even if little traveled at present.

Crossings remaining at grade should be safeguarded in every possible way. Standard warning signs or pavement markings should be supplemented by automatic signals, crossing flagmen or gates, depending upon the volume of highway and rail traffic. So far as possible a clear view along the track in both directions from both sides should be maintained. Sharp curves, abrupt changes of grade, roughness in pavement, or other conditions at or near tracks which tend to divert the attention of the motorist should be eliminated.

Every bridge on an improved highway or street should be at least 22 feet in width, to enable two lines of traffic to pace without difficulty, and existing one-way bridges should be widened or rebuilt. Detours around highways, streets or bridges under construction or reconstruction should be carefully selected and maintained in safe condition, and clearly marked.

Cautionary or stop signs and signals at danger points, direction and distance signs at important junctions and intersections, and signs and signals to indicate special traffic rules and regulations, all are necessary for the safe operation of vehicles and should be provided in the cities by the traffic authorities. They should be simple and uniform for a given purpose throughout the United States.

For signs and signals, both luminous and non-luminous, the committee recommends the following color indications, and says these colors should not be used for any other purpose: Red for "Stop;" green for "Proceed;" yellow for "Caution," as at curves; purple or some color as a special cautionary indication at cross roads; white letters or symbols to be used on the red, green or purple background, and black on the yellow. Distance and direction signs should be black and white.

Many unimproved highways not part of the federal-aid or state highway systems carry considerable motor traffic, and the committee says that automobile clubs or other agencies can perform a useful service by placing the standard signs at the chief danger points on such highways.

And the pedestrian, wherever and whenever he walks in traffic lanes, should keep to the left so that he easily avoid approaching vehicles and not have to worry about those overtaking him.

The Value of Reforesting.

There are native sons of the Keystone state who were brought up in sawmill towns in the virgin forest which was producing great quantities of pine and other lumber, and shipping heavily of forest products into other states. Today, outside of three or four tracts still intact, there is practically no virgin timber left in the state. We are importing 70 per cent of the pulpwood used in our paper mills, and 84 per cent of the timber we require for industrial, mining and building operations. And this with hundreds of thousands of acres of deforested waste land, which proper forestry measures would turn into a valuable asset, making us independent of outside timber supplies for ordinary purposes. Pennsylvania is paying annually $25,000,000 in freight charges alone to bring in wood products. The possible saving in that item is enough to make a $25,000,000 bond issue look like a good investment.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—He never had a painting lesson in his life, but he's recognized as one of America's leading artists—the greatest painter of western life since Remington.

He is Charles Russell, Montana's cowboy artists, now in Los Angeles.

For 59 years Charlie—that's what they call him—Russell has known and loved the plains and buttes of Montana and love has produced his paintings.

His studio has been the mountain ranges, the rivers and lakes and plains of his rugged home state.

"I wanted to paint things that I saw and I just did," Russell explained.

Russell never was taught anatomy, yet his figures, his horses and buffaloes, as well as other animals, are pronounced superbly executed.

Strangely enough, one of the events which has given Russell much recent popularity was the prize fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4, 1923. Dempsey maintained his training camp at Great Falls, Mont., Russell's home, and visitors from all parts of the country flocked there.

In Great Falls every saloon, every soft drink "palace" and many stores boast Russell paintings. In addition, there are several collections in libraries and public buildings and all of these attracted the attention of eastern visitors.

While Dempsey was preparing to fight Gibbons Russell visited him and later made several paintings and clay models of the world's champion boxer.

One of Russell's paintings was bought by the Prince of Wales and three presidents—Harding, Taft and Roosevelt—purchased Russell canvases. Will Rogers, the Duke of Connaught, E. L. Doheny and Douglas Fairbanks are Russell admirers and own several of his paintings.

"I watched the roundups and the branding and the loading of cattle against the purple haze and golden sunsets of Montana and I just wanted to paint those scenes," said Russell. "I love horses especially, and I wanted to reproduce the things I liked in them and in other animals."

All of Russell's horses are creatures of action, freedom and abandon. It was the Montana artist's drawings of horses bucking, running and leaping which first won him fame.

"Painting is like any other art," said Russell. "I mean if one feels he must write, he can write; if a man has something in his heart, in his soul, that needs expression, then he will express it, either in painting, music or some form of creative art."

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The fashion now to have cafe kitchens in the windows. So the customers may see. Brock Pemberton. A Kansas boy with two shows on Broadway. And a few years ago buried in an obscure newspaper job with me.

Canfield's old gambling house. Where highflying rajahs won and lost. And old Delmonico's near by. Where the highfliers tossed diamonds to dancing girls. The blue dome of the Grand Central—the delightful blue of Maxfield Parrish's pictures.

A depot gong. As doleful as a Chicago police whistle. Red nosed cabbies huddled in the wind. A group of Senegalese. In a sort of helpless daze. Kerrigan, the depot cop, with the jovial scowl. But who carries peppermint drops for the children.

Frankfurters with mustard and sauerkraut. Hot dog! Penny weighing machines that make fortunes for their owners. Why are most engineers stout? A theatrical company off for the sticks. And the leading lady, as usual, carries a white shaggy poodle.

The homegoing rush across Forty-second street. The Gainsborough girl is coming back. Also the princess gown. The first Christmas tree I've seen. A window filled with period dolls. They take the place of cushions. A. Sulka. Who owns the smart haberdashery.

The debutantes are giving the new Park Lane hotel a rush. Three Great Danes on a chain dragging a thin man along. The thunder of trains under street. Park avenue begins to show the inroads of trade. Soon it will be another Fifth avenue.

No one has yet captured the jazz mantle that fell upon the broad shoulders of Paul Whiteman. Whiteman left New York at the peak of his popularity for a three-year tour that will carry him to every corner of the globe. He had vision for just now there is no place that will pay the enormous prices that he was paid.

Winter and summer finds the Times Square "rail-birds" roosting along the curbing of the little triangular square at the northernly end. Here are men who while away the hours talking of "past performances" at the tracks, song and play royalties and the chances of a quick clean up. They are not all young. Indeed most of them are old and have for years expected a sudden fortune from minimum toil. They are birds of a feather flocking together. They speak in terms of thousands with not enough in their pockets to settle the current laundry bill.

The Pyromaniac

An Ohio pyromaniac named Norvell has asked the state fire marshal to see that he is placed in some institution where he can be treated for his affliction by an alienist. Norvell has been convicted for arson six times and has served 30 of his 55 years in prison, surrendering voluntarily every time.

He explains that while his conscience disapproves of setting fire to houses, barns and haystacks, he is driven to it by an uncontrollable impulse. He puts it up to the mental experts to rid him of the impulse.

That is a sensible way to go about the matter. It may be impossible to straighten out the fire kink in Norvell's mind, but ordinarily a cure should be possible if such a subject were taken earlier in life. Children are natural pyromaniacs—it is instinctive to love fires, an dmost children have to be trained not to start them in dangerous places.

It always helps, with children, to shift a dangerous propensity into safer channels without damning it up. Thus many a child has been cured of the fire habit by letting him help with the regular household fires, or letting him participate in an occasional bonfire under the protection of grown-ups.

In one case an adult fire-fiend was cured thoroughly and permanently by making him fireman in a factory. He simply reveled in keeping the furnace fires hot, and so satisfied his abnormal love for flames.

Easy Money

Leo Koretz, Chicago promoter arrested in Halifax on a swindling charge, indignantly denies that he ever tried to "swindle" anybody.

"Why," he explains, "I never yet urged anyone to go into any kind of a deal with me. A lot of people insisted that I handle their money—they just forced it on me—and when things went wrong, they blamed it onto me. I refused hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Whatever may be the merits of this promoter's case, his plea is not altogether fanciful or unusual. The situation he represents is only too familiar in the world of speculation, and it is that situation which makes it so easy for crooks to prey on the public and get away with hundreds of millions of dollars in this country every year.

There are two sides to every deal. The slickest swindler does not bear all the responsibility. He does not sell his fake stock to his victims without an answering eagerness on their part to risk their money in the hope of getting something for nothing. This foolish eagerness to take a financial risk invites the swindles.

In many cases the results to the victims are pitiful indeed. In many, however, they may be wholesome, because there are gullible persons who can learn only through personal trial and loss. The wise investor is he who will take the word of other victims, or the word of experts who have seen much of such victimizing, and make anyone who wants his savings show very good reason why he should be entrusted with them.

Latin Alive Again

One of the surprising things in education today is the "come-back" of the Latin language. The war was thought to have killed it off, with its emphasis on immediately "practical" studies. Now even the most practical of students are finding the Latin is useful, if for no other reason than the familiarity it gives them with scientific terminology.

Students in general are said to be turning back to it for "cultural reasons." That is, they regard the Latin language as worth knowing for itself, and as a key to a vast amount of knowledge and literature that cannot be got at so easily otherwise. So great is this movement that it is almost impossible in some parts of the country to supply the demand for Latin teachers.

So the pendulum swings. The "classics" have died many times, and always come to life again. There must be great vitality in them.

As regards the basic merits of such study there is something to say on both sides. One thing sure, though—boys and girls who learn Latin will be able to spell better and use better English than have been customary lately.

Haskin Letter

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

BUILDING AND MARKING HIGHWAYS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—One of the most discussed reports submitted to Secretary of Commerce Hoover's national conference on street and highway safety was that of the committee on engineering and construction. Frank Page, the head of the North Carolina state highway commission, was the chairman of this committee, which worked out a long list of recommendations, predicated on the fact that with the tremendous development of motor traffic and the prospect of its future growth construction and engineering problems are of primary importance.

Congestion multiplies the dangers of the road. Therefore, says the committee, safety requires that these increasing currents of traffic be able to flow smoothly and continuously, by night as well as by day, with a minimum of conflict between currents.

Traffic accidents last year cost 22,600 lives and resulted in injuries to 678,000 people, with a total estimated economic loss of $600,000,000. Only a small percentage of these accidents can be charged to defects in the construction of streets and roads, but it is evident from all available data that a very large proportion of those resulting in deaths and personal injuries are due to reckless or careless driving, plus bad curves, unsafe grades, too narrow roadways, bad grade crossings, and other inadequate or unsafe features of highway construction.

Turn loose a speed demon—especially one who uses alcohol in his own radiator as well as in that of his car—on a road that is not everything it should be and the chances of disaster are vastly increased. And, unfortunately, when one of those accidents occur it isn't only the speeder who is killed or injured. He always has some innocent victims and it happens not infrequently that he himself escapes the penalty for his recklessness.

MULTIPLES OF TRAFFIC LANES

According to the conclusions of Mr. Page's committees the roadway of every improved rural highway sohuld be wide enough for at least two lanes of traffic, while every pavement in a city street should be wide enough for at least three lanes without street cars or four lanes with street cars. Those for streets of heavy traffic should be wider. Both street and highway pavement widths should be in multiples of the widths of traffic lanes—a minimum of nine feet for motor vehicles and 10 feet for street cars.

Right of way for parking space, for clear view at curves and intersections, and for future roadway widening should be provided before the cost of the land become prohibitive. Parkways and sidewalks should be so placed as to facilitate future widening.

In suburban streets carrying both street cars and heavy motor traffic, the street cars should be given exclusive space in the center with a roadway on either side. In rural districts, where car lines parallel the roadway, the tracks should remain continuously on one side. To make it feasible to prohibit parking or stopping on the traveled roadway, improved rural highways should be provided, either continuously or at intervals not exceeding 300 feet, with reasonably hard and level parking places entirely outside the traveled way.

No grade should be in excess of 6 per cent, if it is feasible to avoid it, and highways of importance should not have curves of less than 300-foot radius. The cross section of the pavement or roadway should be as flat as drainage conditions will permit, and curves should be widened and banked, and provided with transition curves to effect an easy transition between straight sections of the roadway and the curves. Guard rails of substantial type should be erected on the shoulders of embankments.

An unobstructed view of approaching vehicles for at least 300 feet should be provided at all points on highways of the first importance. To accomplish this it may be necessary to remove trees, shrubs and sloping banks on or off the right of way at curves and intersections, and to cut down sharp hillcrests. Few things contribute more to traffic accidents than the condition in which a driver cannot see where he is going or what vehicles are coming in his direction.

ELIMINATE GRADE CROSSINGS

The committee finds that grade crossing elimination through the co-operation of municipalities, states and railroads must be the ultimate remedy for the railroad-highway grade-crossing peril. Where this is done, narrow or unobstructed underpasses and sharp turns in the approaches thereto should be eliminated also, or avaided.

The creation of new grade crossings should be avoided wherever possible. Before improving an important highway which has grade crossings or other serious disadvantages, consideration should be given to the possible substitution of some parallel route free from such difficulties, even if little traveled at present.

Crossings remaining at grade should be safeguarded in every possible way. Standard warning signs or pavement markings should be supplemented by automatic signals, crossing flagmen or gates, depending upon the volume of highway and rail traffic. So far as possible a clear view along the track in both directions from both sides should be maintained. Sharp curves, abrupt changes of grade, roughness in pavement, or other conditions at or near tracks which tend to divert the attention of the motorist should be eliminated.

Every bridge on an improved highway or street should be at least 22 feet in width, to enable two lines of traffic to pace without difficulty, and existing one-way bridges should be widened or rebuilt. Detours around highways, streets or bridges under construction or reconstruction should be carefully selected and maintained in safe condition, and clearly marked.

Cautionary or stop signs and signals at danger points, direction and distance signs at important junctions and intersections, and signs and signals to indicate special traffic rules and regulations, all are necessary for the safe operation of vehicles and should be provided in the cities by the traffic authorities. They should be simple and uniform for a given purpose throughout the United States.

For signs and signals, both luminous and nonluminous, the committee recommends the following color indications, and says these colors should not be used for any other purpose: Red for "Stop;" green for "Proceed;" yellow for "Caution," as at curves; purple or some color as a special cautionary indication at cross roads; white letters or symbols to be used on the red, green or purple background, and black on the yellow. Distance and direction signs should be black and white.

Many unimproved highways not part of the federal-aid or state highway systems carry considerable motor traffic, and the committee says that automobile clubs or other agencies can perform a useful service by placing the standard signs at the chief danger points on such highways.

And the pedestrian, wherever and whenever he walks in traffic lanes, should keep to the left so that he easily avoid approaching vehicles and not have to worry about those overtaking him.

The Value of Reforesting.

There are native sons of the Keystone state who were brought up in sawmill towns in the virgin forest which was producing great quantities of pine and other lumber, and shipping heavily of forest products into other states. Today, outside of three or four tracts still intact, there is practically no virgin timber left in the state. We are importing 70 per cent of the pulpwood used in our paper mills, and 84 per cent of the timber we require for industrial, mining and building operations. And this with hundreds of thousands of acres of deforested waste land, which proper forestry measures would turn into a valuable asset, making us independent of outside timber supplies for ordinary purposes. Pennsylvania is paying annually $25,000,000 in freight charges alone to bring in wood products. The possible saving in that item is enough to make a $25,000,000 bond issue look like a good investment.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—He never had a painting lesson in his life, but he's recognized as one of America's leading artists—the greatest painter of western life since Remington.

He is Charles Russell, Montana's cowboy artists, now in Los Angeles.

For 59 years Charlie—that's what they call him—Russell has known and loved the plains and buttes of Montana and love has produced his paintings.

His studio has been the mountain ranges, the rivers and lakes and plains of his rugged home state.

"I wanted to paint things that I saw and I just did," Russell explained.

Russell never was taught anatomy, yet his figures, his horses and buffaloes, as well as other animals, are pronounced superbly executed.

Strangely enough, one of the events which has given Russell much recent popularity was the prize fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4, 1923. Dempsey maintained his training camp at Great Falls, Mont., Russell's home, and visitors from all parts of the country flocked there.

In Great Falls every saloon, every soft drink "palace" and many stores boast Russell paintings. In addition, there are several collections in libraries and public buildings and all of these attracted the attention of eastern visitors.

While Dempsey was preparing to fight Gibbons Russell visited him and later made several paintings and clay models of the world's champion boxer.

One of Russell's paintings was bought by the Prince of Wales and three presidents—Harding, Taft and Roosevelt—purchased Russell canvases. Will Rogers, the Duke of Connaught, E. L. Doheny and Douglas Fairbanks are Russell admirers and own several of his paintings.

"I watched the roundups and the branding and the loading of cattle against the purple haze and golden sunsets of Montana and I just wanted to paint those scenes," said Russell. "I love horses especially, and I wanted to reproduce the things I liked in them and in other animals."

All of Russell's horses are creatures of action, freedom and abandon. It was the Montana artist's drawings of horses bucking, running and leaping which first won him fame.

"Painting is like any other art," said Russell. "I mean if one feels he must write, he can write; if a man has something in his heart, in his soul, that needs expression, then he will express it, either in painting, music or some form of creative art."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The fashion now to have cafe kitchens in the windows. So the customers may see. Brock Pemberton. A Kansas boy with two shows on Broadway. And a few years ago buried in an obscure newspaper job with me.

A fellow singes his mustache with a match. And looks foolish. Groups waiting for matinee idols. With that peculiar stolid silence of New Yorkers. Some one playing a piccolo solo. Where are all the mandolin players?

Canfield's old gambling house. Where highflying rajahs won and lost. And old Delmonico's near by. Where the highfliers tossed diamonds to dancing girls. The blue dome of the Grand Central—the delightful blue of Maxfield Parrish's pictures.

A depot gong. As doleful as a Chicago police whistle. Red nosed cabbies huddled in the wind. A group of Senegalese. In a sort of helpless daze. Kerrigan, the depot cop, with the jovial scowl. But who carries peppermint drops for the children.

Frankfurters with mustard and sauerkraut. Hot dog! Penny weighing machines that make fortunes for their owners. Why are most engineers stout? A theatrical company off for the sticks. And the leading lady, as usual, carries a white shaggy poodle.

The homegoing rush across Forty-second street. The Gainsborough girl is coming back. Also the princess gown. The first Christmas tree I've seen. A window filled with period dolls. They take the place of cushions. A. Sulka. Who owns the smart haberdashery.

The debutantes are giving the new Park Lane hotel a rush. Three Great Danes on a chain dragging a thin man along. The thunder of trains under street. Park avenue begins to show the inroads of trade. Soon it will be another Fifth avenue.

No one has yet captured the jazz mantle that fell upon the broad shoulders of Paul Whiteman. Whiteman left New York at the peak of his popularity for a three-year tour that will carry him to every corner of the globe. He had vision for just now there is no place that will pay the enormous prices that he was paid.

Winter and summer finds the Times Square "rail-birds" roosting along the curbing of the little triangular square at the northernly end. Here are men who while away the hours talking of "past performances" at the tracks, song and play royalties and the chances of a quick clean up. They are not all young. Indeed most of them are old and have for years expected a sudden fortune from minimum toil. They are birds of a feather flocking together. They speak in terms of thousands with not enough in their pockets to settle the current laundry bill.

A strange companionship exists in the Central Park zoo. I went to see myself. A pigeon and a hippo. Of course, there is the legend of the gird that warns the rhinocerous. Great hunters say it is true. But the pigeon and hippo seem to be merely pals. The bird stays on its back all night and during the day it flies alone only to return to its odd companion. The keeper says it has been going on for about ten months.

The poor buffaloes at the zoo seem to be in need of the ether cone. They are moth eaten and decrepid. They stand for hours motionless and no doubt dreaming of the glories once theirs. The only exhibits at the zoo for which I hold no pity are the snakes. The others seem to lead terrible caged in lives trying to avoid annoying visitors. The most pathetic of all the exhibits is a huge brown Alaskan bear who is blind. He stands all day long and sways.

THE FLYING MACHINE

What railroad man will first realize what the flying machine means? What railroad man especially will first realize what the flying machine will do to the passenger traffic of the great railroads on all long hauls?

The first capable man, acting on thorough realization of the flying machine's future, will establish for his stockholders and himself such a fortune as would make those of the Vanderbilts, Hills and Huntingtons look like financial crumbs.

You think about the flying machine in Los Angeles representing the business energy of the whole western country.

To go to Los Angeles now, you travel four days on trains admirably equipped and managed.

In less than 20 years the trip will be made by flying machines in six hours and with absolute safety. How many Americans will devote four railroad days to a six-hour flying trip?

Not many.

IT WILL CHANGE LIFE

The flying machine will upset theories, habits and values.

Land 100 miles from a great city will be reached more quickly than land in the suburbs 25 miles away is reached now.

Flying for all long journeys will displace railroading completely within the lives of middle aged men now living.

Many railroad men, of course, realize what a great change in transportation is soon coming. William Sprouls, president of the Southern Pacific railroad, said yesterday that what caused him to do some hard thinking was the landing at Los Angeles of a man that had flown from New York in one single day between sunrise and dark. If a man can do that experimentally for the government now how long before the thing will be done practically by up-to-date transportation men?

Napoleon listened for a minute or two to Fulton's description of the steamboat, but he didn't take it seriously. Had he done so, he might have crossed the English channel and conquered England.

He listened to a description of the deadly needle gun that had just been invented by a German. He even ordered samples made. But the samples were clumsy, awkward, and he dropped that. Had he supplied that mysterious weapon to his whole army he would have been absolutely invincible, and instead of going to Saint Helena, he might have ended his days as autocrat of all Europe and Asia.

Luckily for the world Napolean, the world's greatest general, never devised or encouraged any new war engine.

REAL ESTATE AND RAILROADS

Transportation through the air on a great commercial scale probably will be developed first in this part of the world, for here the need is greatest. Californians can fly a thousand miles along their own coast and zigzag east and west two or three hundred miles, all above California soil. They know that the flying machine will solve the great western problem, which is distance.

They run auto omnibuses in more or less feeble competition with railroads here. Huge machines make trips regularly from San Diego to San Francisco and farther north. That sort of proposition will end with the flying machine able to show the entire length of California in a forenoon.

Very likely the Southern Pacific railroad will displace passenger carrying on tracks, with passenger flying as the New York Central in the last century displaced the stage coach with "steam cars" between Buffalo and New York.

DON'T SELL S. P.

If you happen to have any stock in the Southern Pacific railroad, by the way, don't sell it. The men that manage it, William Sprouls, the president, and his vice president, Paul Shoup, are real railroad men, not watchers of the stock ticker. They are making money for their stockholders, and simultaneously making good will. Never speculate or gamble. But if you have any "S. P." hold it.

Real railroad men as regards present earnings will not fear the flying machine, even should they fail to utilize it. That flying machine, taking long haul passengers from railroads, will so greatly increase freight carrying as to make railroad rights of way and terminals more valuable than ever.

That's part of the wisdom of Divine justice. No really good thing ever disappears with another good thing already existing.

The taxi wiped out the hansom cab, as gas and electricity wiped out the tallow candle. But the hansom and the candle were really not "good things."

The young promoter of today has his best chance for usefulness and great success in closely watching flying machine development.

Theodore N. Vail, old and gray when he built the electric tramways in Buenos Aires, was older and whiter when he combined the Western Union and the telephone companies here.

He might be first to start a flying route, beginning with hydro-aeroplanes above the Hudson river from New York to Albany, then branching out all the way to Chicago.

Watch the flying machine. It will make changes greater than the steam engine ever made, making man literally master of all he surveys by enabling him to go anywhere and everywhere without roads or terminals, crossing a continent in half a day.

Most important of all is the fact that the flying machine alone represents national safety, since all wars will be fought and won or lost in the air from now on. Write your two senators and your congressman, urging adequate aerial defense—not half as many first-class machines as any other nation has, but twice as many.

DINNER STORIES

Jones considered himself a humorist. He sent a selection of his original jokes to the editor of a newspaper and confidently awaited a remittance. His excitement ran high when he received a letter, obviously from the newspaper office.

He opened it with feverish haste. There was no check, however, just a small note, as follows:

"Dear sir—Your jokes received. Some we have seen before; some we have not seen yet."

One hot afternoon a customer entered this cafe and ordered softshell crabs, when they had been served he said to the waiter: "George, these crabs are very small."

"Yessuh."

"They don't seem very fresh, either."

OHIO MOURNS EX-GOVERNOR

Half-staff Flags in Tribute to Late J. E. Campbell.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Flags at the state house and governor's mansion and Ohio State university were half staffed today in tribute to the late James E. Campbell, former governor. They will be raised to full staff after the funeral at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the body will be taken to the rotunda at the state capitol where it will lie in state until an hour before the funeral will be conducted by the Rev. S. S. Palmer in Broad Street Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

Relatives of the late Governor and political general announced the selection of 25 honorary pallbearers who will be headed by Governor Vic Donahey. Others include: James M. Cox, Judson Harmon, Newton D. Baker, Claude Meeker, Dr. W. O. Thompson, Robert F. Wolfe, Edward Orton, Jr., Col. T. H. Powell, E. R. Sharpp, Dr. T. A. Dickey, of Middletown; Judge J. E. Johnson, of Springfield; Judge W. H. Kinder, of Findlay; W. E. Hutton of Cincinnati, Jos. Schoenthal, L. F. Safter, A. C. Johnson, Maurice Haugue, O. C. Hooper, J. H. Downing, of Dayton; Dr. Andrew Timberman, Allen Andrews of Hamilton, nad Justice R. E. Day.

framed picture, "America's Two Greatest Documents," a gift to the school from W. C. Dickey. This was followed by the awarding of letters to members of the football squad by High School Coach O. V. Boone. About 18 members of the squad qualified for the letters.

The remainder of the program consisted of a Christmas play, "All Aboard for Christmas," offered by the senior and junior classes.

Other Passengers: Mrs. Rucus, Mary Alice McGonigal; Mrs. Broadcast, Phyllis Archer; Mr. Broadcast, William Morgan; Mrs. Lilywhite, Martha McAaffee; Rosanne, Dorothy Cooper; Mr. Bond, Walter Mercer; Mrs. Trust, Grace Ramsey; Ephriam Tickett, E. K. Bennett.

Pianist: Edwina Wilson.

for the first four school months' had been paid in full. Acting under the board's instruction, the high school principal this morning notified the pupils themselves of the decision.

It was stated that tuition bills had been repeatedly forwarded to the township boards but the statements had been ignored.

Substitute Principal Named.

Miss Mary Andrews, former principal of the Third street school was named substitute principal for the Central school building, during the absence of Prof. I. A. Hoffman, who is confined to his home in Pope avenue, as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile crash on St. Clair avenue about two weeks ago.

The board upon recommendations of Superintendent F. P. Geiger, authorized the purchase of a new mimeograph machine for use in preparing examination papers and school bulletins. This machine will take the place of two old style machines which cannot be used. Superintendent Geiger was instructed to order 400 copies of a booklet, dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln, which will be read by pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, during the last five months of the school term. The books will cost 20 cents each.

Member F. T. Weaver reported that after a conference with Service Director A. G. Ellis, extension of water mains along Dresden avenue to the Trentvale street to the school board has been found to be impracticable at this time of the year. If the mains were extended the road would be made almost impassable for the remainder of the winter, it was stated. The service director indicated however that the mains may be laid as far as the school house next summer. Drinking water for the pupils is carried from a distant spring to the building.

School Revenue $317,000.

The new district tax duplicate will make approximately $317,000 available for the school's operating expenses in 1925, board members were advised. This sum represents the school's needs as estimated in a budget filed with County Auditor C. E. Hamilton at Lisbon before the millage rate was fixed.

The board approved the gift of a framed picture, "America's Two Greatest Documents," to the high school from Truant Officer W. C. Dickey. The picture, in colors, measures about four feet in length and three feet in width and carries a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, together with pictures of Independence Hall and Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington. The picture was turned over to the high school by Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, this morning.

School Children Frustrate Attack Upon Miss Birch

Saved only by the timely appearance of a group of school children, Miss Margaret Birch of East Liverpool, teacher at Hillcrest, north of Wellsville, is recovering today from the shock of her experience yesterday, when she was made the object of intended assault by an unidentified man who made his escape.

Miss Birch rides the street car from this city to the foot of the Lisbon hill, out of Wellsville. Here she leaves the car and ascends the hill road to the school house. Near the water trough along the road yesterday morning she was met by a man whom she describes as young and who wore a red sweater and brown trousers.

The man came from the side of the road toward her. Frightened, as she diagnosed his intentions, she shouted for help.

"I'll kill you!" her assailant is said to have threatened when the girl prepared to defend herself against his evil designs.

At this moment a group of children, enroute to school, appeared around a curve in the road, and the wearer of the red sweater, probably fearing detection, ran down the road.

Miss Birch immediately reported the occurrence to Hillcrest residents and a call sent to Wellsville police. Patrolman Hayes and Officers James Barnes Jr. and Charles Excell sped to the scene in a police car.

Although they searched the immediate vicinity for several hours they were unable to find any traces of their quarry.

President Opposes Senators Proposal For Naval Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. — The question of acceding to President Coolidge's wishes against a public investigation of the navy was placed squarely today before the administration members of the senate naval affairs committee.

The issue was thrust before the committee by a demand of Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, for a sweeping inquiry into charges that the navy has fallen below the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington conference and into the general efficiency and preparedness of the naval service.

Because President Coolidge has definitely set his foot down against a naval inquiry, there appeared little prospect that King's resolution would be adopted. Indications were instead that the committee would draft a private questionnaire for Secretary of Navy Wilbur, asking him for much the same information King requested in his resolution.

No First Week Recess for Ohio's General Assembly

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Breaking precedent, the state legislature will remain in session throughout the first week, following its convening here on Monday, January 5, according to announcement made today by State Representative Harry D. Silver, Preble county, who will serve as speaker of the house.

It has been the custom for the legislators to recess on the second day, until the following week, in view of the gubernatorial inauguration. Gov. Donahey, however, has voiced the wish that the inception of his second term, next month, be devoid of display, that he dispense with an inagural address and that the occasion be substantially limited to the administration of the oath of office to him in the chamber of the house of representatives to be followed by progress of his message to the legislature.

Alleged Wrecker Of Bank Held in National Capital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—George W. Hunter, under indictment for wrecking a national bank in Williamstown, W. Va., eight years ago, was returned to the district jail today following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner MacDonald, involving his removal to West Virginia. Commissioner MacDonald continued the case until January 3 and declined to reduce the bail bond of $15,000, which Hunter was unable to furnish.

Court's Decision On Smyrna's Fire Costs $100,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A judgment which means a loss of almost $100,000,000 to business men throughout the world was given today when the American Tobacco company lost its suit against the Guardian Insurance company.

The claim grew out of the burning of Smyrna, Turkey, during the revolutionary fighting several years ago.

The tobacco company claimed payment for damage to insured goods, contending the fire was accidental. The insurance company contended it was the result of incendiarism.

City's Population

of 1924, an increase of 300, or 6.6 per cent.

Report of H. B. Barth, of the Chamber of Commerce, of 13,895 names in the city directory of 1921-22 and 17,960 in that of 1924, an increase of 4,065, or 29.2 per cent.

Report of Postmaster J. E. McClure, showing 10 per cent increase in the number served through the East Liverpool postoffice at the close of 1924, as compared with the close of 1919.

The survey, with definitely ascertained figures of increase, is not to be classed with estimates announced from year to year on the assumption that the city's growth since 1920 has been at the identical rate of the period of 1910 to 1920.

FEAR ANOTHER BALKAN CLASH

Albanian Insurrection May be Forerunner of Huge War.

LONDON, Dec. 19—Shadows of another Balkan war, a possible forerunner of another huge European conflict, were foreseen today in the Albanian insurrection, by Konitza, Albanian minister to London. He charged Serbia with instigating the trouble but the Jugo-Slavian legation denied that Serbians were in any way involved.

"Unless some great power intervenes, another Balkan war is imminent, followed probably by a European war," said the Albanian minister.

"The trouble that has risen is due to the deliberate militaristic policy of aggression on the part of Serbia against Albania. There is a keen desire on the part of Serbia to annex Albania."

His charges were denied in a statement from the Jugo-Slavian legation.

Removal of Sheriff Asked; Charge he Was at Risque Party

LANSING, Dec., 19—Removal of Sheriff Warren C. Stoddard, of Jackson, from office, is asked in a petition filed today with Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

The Sheriff, some time ago attended a risque party in the rooms of the Jackson City club at which liquor was used freely by guests and a girl entertainer in nude danced Egyptian dances, the petition charges.

The petition is signed by E. M. Rhodades, Lisman Smith, Bret H. Taylor, three Jackson ministers.

It was referred to assistant Attorney-General Converse for investigation. Forty-two supporting affidavits accompany the petition.

Four Girls Dead, Woman Dying, After Fire Sweeps Home

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 19—Four girls were burned to death and Mrs. Olive Jones, mother of two of them, was probably fatally burned when fire destroyed the Jones home just across the Ohio border, it was reported today.

The blaze started from an oil explosion when Mrs. Jones was attempting to light an oven fire. The children were trapped on the second floor of the dwelling which was soon destroyed.

Interurban Car And Truck Crash; Driver is Unhurt

Charles Hanley, First avenue, East End, narrowly escaped injury about 10 o'clock last night, when a westbound Beaver-East Liverpool interurban car crashed into his truck, east of Smith's Ferry.

Hanley was returning to his home with an empty truck. Owing to the muddy condition of the road, his truck was caught between the rails of the interurban car tracks. Because of the dense fog, the motorman of the car, failed to see the truck until too late to avert the accident. Hanley leaped before the crash occurred.

The truck and street car were badly damaged.

FIRE FORCES 50 PERSONS TO FLEE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19.—Fire, which broke out in an apartment house in Carnegie avenue just before 5 o'clock this morning, drove more than 50 persons to the street clad only in night attire. Seventeen others were rescued from window ledges by firemen, when flames cut off escape by the stairways.

The fire, caused by an overheated furnace, did comparatively little damage, the loss being estimated at $2,500, by fire department officials. Eight fire companies responded to the alarms.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—High priced industrial and specialty stocks held the center of the stage in the early trading in the stock market today. The spectacular performance of American Can and Cast Iron Pipe at the close of Thursday's session attracted country-wide buying in these stocks and prices rushed up six points in pipe and three in can in the first period. Pan-American and Standard of New Jersey led the oil stocks in the rally which was also in progress at the close of yesterday's session.

The market started with a snap and a bang, with buying centered chiefly in the industrials. The rails were comparatively inactive, though most sales were at fractional advances over the previous close. Persistent rumors that American Can, General Electric, Cast Iron Pipe and other well known companies were about to cut a melon, stimulated the demand for these stocks. Favorable week-end developments in the money market, as evidenced by the opening of call money rates at 2½ per cent attracted considerable attention. Wheat soared another cent a bushel in Chicago.

Strenuous buying of the oil stocks was based on reports of decided improvement in the oil industry, particularly the consuming end of the business and the rumors that the oils were being groomed to lead the next upward movement in the market. All of the independent oil shares participate din the movement.

Studebaker and Mack trucks led a spirited advance in the motor stocks, the former exceeding all of its previous records for the year at 45¾, and the latter above 11 per cent.

Gulf States Steel and Crucible, at the head of the independent steels, registered gains of about two points each. Universal Pipe common and preferred sold higher, but their movements were not as spectacular as in previous sessions. American car and foundry and Baldwin Locomotive up three points each in active trading, emphasized the effect of the recent heavy influx of equipment orders. Philadelphia company led the public utility stocks with a gain of two points.

for the first four school months' had been paid in full. Acting under the board's instruction, the high school principal this morning notified the pupils themselves of the decision.

It was stated that tuition bills had been repeatedly forwarded to the township boards but the statements had been ignored.

Substitute Principal Named.

Miss Mary Andrews, former principal of the Third street school was named substitute principal for the Central school building, during the absence of Prof. I. A. Hoffman, who is confined to his home in Pope avenue, as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile crash on St. Clair avenue about two weeks ago.

The board upon recommendations of Superintendent F. P. Geiger, authorized the purchase of a new mimeograph machine for use in preparing examination papers and school bulletins. This machine will take the place of two old style machines which cannot be used. Superintendent Geiger was instructed to order 400 copies of a booklet, dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln, which will be read by pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, during the last five months of the school term. The books will cost 20 cents each.

Member F. T. Weaver reported that after a conference with Service Director A. G. Ellis, extension of water mains along Dresden avenue to the Trentvale street to the school board has been found to be impracticable at this time of the year. If the mains were extended the road would be made almost impassable for the remainder of the winter, it was stated. The service director indicated however that the mains may be laid as far as the school house next summer. Drinking water for the pupils is carried from a distant spring to the building.

School Revenue $317,000.

The new district tax duplicate will make approximately $317,000 available for the school's operating expenses in 1925, board members were advised. This sum represents the school's needs as estimated in a budget filed with County Auditor C. E. Hamilton at Lisbon before the millage rate was fixed.

The board approved the gift of a framed picture, "America's Two Greatest Documents," to the high school from Truant Officer W. C. Dickey. The picture, in colors, measures about four feet in length and three feet in width and carries a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, together with pictures of Independence Hall and Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington. The picture was turned over to the high school by Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, this morning.

School Children Frustrate Attack Upon Miss Birch

Saved only by the timely appearance of a group of school children, Miss Margaret Birch of East Liverpool, teacher at Hillcrest, north of Wellsville, is recovering today from the shock of her experience yesterday, when she was made the object of intended assault by an unidentified man who made his escape.

Miss Birch rides the street car from this city to the foot of the Lisbon hill, out of Wellsville. Here she leaves the car and ascends the hill road to the school house. Near the water trough along the road yesterday morning she was met by a man whom she describes as young and who wore a red sweater and brown trousers.

The man came from the side of the road toward her. Frightened, as she diagnosed his intentions, she shouted for help.

"I'll kill you!" her assailant is said to have threatened when the girl prepared to defend herself against his evil designs.

At this moment a group of children, enroute to school, appeared around a curve in the road, and the wearer of the red sweater, probably fearing detection, ran down the road.

Miss Birch immediately reported the occurrence to Hillcrest residents and a call sent to Wellsville police. Patrolman Hayes and Officers James Barnes Jr. and Charles Excell sped to the scene in a police car.

Although they searched the immediate vicinity for several hours they were unable to find any traces of their quarry.

President Opposes Senators Proposal For Naval Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. — The question of acceding to President Coolidge's wishes against a public investigation of the navy was placed squarely today before the administration members of the senate naval affairs committee.

The issue was thrust before the committee by a demand of Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, for a sweeping inquiry into charges that the navy has fallen below the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington conference and into the general efficiency and preparedness of the naval service.

Because President Coolidge has definitely set his foot down against a naval inquiry, there appeared little prospect that King's resolution would be adopted. Indications were instead that the committee would draft a private questionnaire for Secretary of Navy Wilbur, asking him for much the same information King requested in his resolution.

No First Week Recess for Ohio's General Assembly

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Breaking precedent, the state legislature will remain in session throughout the first week, following its convening here on Monday, January 5, according to announcement made today by State Representative Harry D. Silver, Preble county, who will serve as speaker of the house.

It has been the custom for the legislators to recess on the second day, until the following week, in view of the gubernatorial inauguration. Gov. Donahey, however, has voiced the wish that the inception of his second term, next month, be devoid of display, that he dispense with an inagural address and that the occasion be substantially limited to the administration of the oath of office to him in the chamber of the house of representatives to be followed by progress of his message to the legislature.

Alleged Wrecker Of Bank Held in National Capital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—George W. Hunter, under indictment for wrecking a national bank in Williamstown, W. Va., eight years ago, was returned to the district jail today following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner MacDonald, involving his removal to West Virginia. Commissioner MacDonald continued the case until January 3 and declined to reduce the bail bond of $15,000, which Hunter was unable to furnish.

Court's Decision On Smyrna's Fire Costs $100,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A judgment which means a loss of almost $100,000,000 to business men throughout the world was given today when the American Tobacco company lost its suit against the Guardian Insurance company.

The claim grew out of the burning of Smyrna, Turkey, during the revolutionary fighting several years ago.

The tobacco company claimed payment for damage to insured goods, contending the fire was accidental. The insurance company contended it was the result of incendiarism.

"Unless some great power intervenes, another Balkan war is imminent, followed probably by a European war," said the Albanian minister.

"The trouble that has risen is due to the deliberate militaristic policy of aggression on the part of Serbia against Albania. There is a keen desire on the part of Serbia to annex Albania."

His charges were denied in a statement from the Jugo-Slavian legation.

Removal of Sheriff Asked; Charge he Was at Risque Party

LANSING, Dec., 19—Removal of Sheriff Warren C. Stoddard, of Jackson, from office, is asked in a petition filed today with Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

The Sheriff, some time ago attended a risque party in the rooms of the Jackson City club at which liquor was used freely by guests and a girl entertainer in nude danced Egyptian dances, the petition charges.

The petition is signed by E. M. Rhodades, Lisman Smith, Bret H. Taylor, three Jackson ministers.

It was referred to assistant Attorney-General Converse for investigation. Forty-two supporting affidavits accompany the petition.

Charles Hanley, First avenue, East End, narrowly escaped injury about 10 o'clock last night, when a westbound Beaver-East Liverpool interurban car crashed into his truck, east of Smith's Ferry.

Hanley was returning to his home with an empty truck. Owing to the muddy condition of the road, his truck was caught between the rails of the interurban car tracks. Because of the dense fog, the motorman of the car, failed to see the truck until too late to avert the accident. Hanley leaped before the crash occurred.

The truck and street car were badly damaged.

FIRE FORCES 50 PERSONS TO FLEE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19.—Fire, which broke out in an apartment house in Carnegie avenue just before 5 o'clock this morning, drove more than 50 persons to the street clad only in night attire. Seventeen others were rescued from window ledges by firemen, when flames cut off escape by the stairways.

The fire, caused by an overheated furnace, did comparatively little damage, the loss being estimated at $2,500, by fire department officials. Eight fire companies responded to the alarms.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—High priced industrial and specialty stocks held the center of the stage in the early trading in the stock market today. The spectacular performance of American Can and Cast Iron Pipe at the close of Thursday's session attracted country-wide buying in these stocks and prices rushed up six points in pipe and three in can in the first period. Pan-American and Standard of New Jersey led the oil stocks in the rally which was also in progress at the close of yesterday's session.

The market started with a snap and a bang, with buying centered chiefly in the industrials. The rails were comparatively inactive, though most sales were at fractional advances over the previous close. Persistent rumors that American Can, General Electric, Cast Iron Pipe and other well known companies were about to cut a melon, stimulated the demand for these stocks. Favorable week-end developments in the money market, as evidenced by the opening of call money rates at 2½ per cent attracted considerable attention. Wheat soared another cent a bushel in Chicago.

Strenuous buying of the oil stocks was based on reports of decided improvement in the oil industry, particularly the consuming end of the business and the rumors that the oils were being groomed to lead the next upward movement in the market. All of the independent oil shares participate din the movement.

Studebaker and Mack trucks led a spirited advance in the motor stocks, the former exceeding all of its previous records for the year at 45¾, and the latter above 11 per cent.

Gulf States Steel and Crucible, at the head of the independent steels, registered gains of about two points each. Universal Pipe common and preferred sold higher, but their movements were not as spectacular as in previous sessions. American car and foundry and Baldwin Locomotive up three points each in active trading, emphasized the effect of the recent heavy influx of equipment orders. Philadelphia company led the public utility stocks with a gain of two points.

for the first four school months' had been paid in full. Acting under the board's instruction, the high school principal this morning notified the pupils themselves of the decision.

It was stated that tuition bills had been repeatedly forwarded to the township boards but the statements had been ignored.

Substitute Principal Named.

Miss Mary Andrews, former principal of the Third street school was named substitute principal for the Central school building, during the absence of Prof. I. A. Hoffman, who is confined to his home in Pope avenue, as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile crash on St. Clair avenue about two weeks ago.

The board upon recommendations of Superintendent F. P. Geiger, authorized the purchase of a new mimeograph machine for use in preparing examination papers and school bulletins. This machine will take the place of two old style machines which cannot be used. Superintendent Geiger was instructed to order 400 copies of a booklet, dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln, which will be read by pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, during the last five months of the school term. The books will cost 20 cents each.

Member F. T. Weaver reported that after a conference with Service Director A. G. Ellis, extension of water mains along Dresden avenue to the Trentvale street to the school board has been found to be impracticable at this time of the year. If the mains were extended the road would be made almost impassable for the remainder of the winter, it was stated. The service director indicated however, that the mains may be laid as far as the school house next summer. Drinking water for the pupils is carried from a distant spring to the building.

School Revenue $317,000.

The new district tax duplicate will make approximately $317,000 available for the school's operating expenses in 1925, board members were advised. This sum represents the school's needs as estimated in a budget filed with County Auditor C. E. Hamilton at Lisbon before the millage rate was fixed.

The board approved the gift of a framed picture, "America's Two Greatest Documents," to the high school from Truant Officer W. C. Dickey. The picture, in colors, measures about four feet in length and three feet in width and carries a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, together with pictures of Independence Hall and Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington. The picture was turned over to the high school by Miss Florence Updegraff, high school principal, this morning.

School Children Frustrate Attack Upon Miss Birch

Saved only by the timely appearance of a group of school children, Miss Margaret Birch of East Liverpool, teacher at Hillcrest, north of Wellsville, is recovering today from the shock of her experience yesterday, when she was made the object of intended assault by an unidentified man who made his escape.

Miss Birch rides the street car from this city to the foot of the Lisbon hill, out of Wellsville. Here she leaves the car and ascends the hill road to the school house. Near the water trough along the road yesterday morning she was met by a man whom she describes as young and who wore a red sweater and brown trousers.

The man came from the side of the road toward her. Frightened, as she diagnosed his intentions, she shouted for help.

"I'll kill you!" her assailant is said to have threatened when the girl prepared to defend herself against his evil designs.

At this moment a group of children, enroute to school, appeared around a curve in the road, and the wearer of the red sweater, probably fearing detection, ran down the road.

Miss Birch immediately reported the occurrence to Hillcrest residents and a call sent to Wellsville police. Patrolman Hayes and Officers James Barnes Jr. and Charles Excell sped to the scene in a police car.

Although they searched the immediate vicinity for several hours they were unable to find any traces of their quarry.

President Opposes Senators Proposal For Naval Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. — The question of acceding to President Coolidge's wishes against a public investigation of the navy was placed squarely today before the administration members of the senate naval affairs committee.

The issue was thrust before the committee by a demand of Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, for a sweeping inquiry into charges that the navy has fallen below the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington conference and into the general efficiency and preparedness of the naval service.

Because President Coolidge has definitely set his foot down against a naval inquiry, there appeared little prospect that King's resolution would be adopted. Indications were instead that the committee would draft a private questionnaire for Secretary of Navy Wilbur, asking him for much the same information King requested in his resolution.

No First Week Recess for Ohio's General Assembly

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Breaking precedent, the state legislature will remain in session throughout the first week, following its convening here on Monday, January 5, according to announcement made today by State Representative Harry D. Silver, Preble county, who will serve as speaker of the house.

It has been the custom for the legislators to recess on the second day, until the following week, in view of the gubernatorial inauguration. Gov. Donahey, however, has voiced the wish that the inception of his second term, next month, be devoid of display, that he dispense with an inaugural address and that the occasion be substantially limited to the administration of the oath of office to him in the chamber of the house of representatives to be followed by progress of his message to the legislature.

Alleged Wrecker Of Bank Held in National Capital

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—George W. Hunter, under indictment for wrecking a national bank in Williamstown, W. Va., eight years ago, was returned to the district jail today following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner MacDonald, involving his removal to West Virginia. Commissioner MacDonald continued the case until January 3 and declined to reduce the bail bond of $15,000, which Hunter was unable to furnish.

Court's Decision On Smyrna's Fire Costs $100,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A judgment which means a loss of almost $100,000,000 to business men throughout the world was given today when the American Tobacco company lost its suit against the Guardian Insurance company.

The claim grew out of the burning of Smyrna, Turkey, during the revolutionary fighting several years ago.

The tobacco company claimed payment for damage to insured goods, contending the fire was accidental. The insurance company contended it was the result of incendiarism.

City's Population

of 1924, an increase of 300, or 6.6 per cent.

Report of H. B. Barth, of the Chamber of Commerce, of 13,895 names in the city directory of 1921-22 and 17,960 in that of 1924, an increase of 4,065, or 29.2 per cent.

Report of Postmaster J. E. McClure, showing 10 per cent increase in the number served through the East Liverpool postoffice at the close of 1924, as compared with the close of 1919.

The survey, with definitely ascertained figures of increase, is not to be classed with estimates announced from year to year on the assumption that the city's growth since 1920 has been at the identical rate of the period of 1910 to 1920.

FEAR ANOTHER BALKAN CLASH

Albanian Insurrection May be Forerunner of Huge War.

LONDON, Dec. 19—Shadows of another Balkan war, a possible forerunner of another huge European conflict, were foreseen today in the Albanian insurrection, by Konitza, Albanian minister to London. He charged Serbia with instigating the trouble but the Jugo-Slavian legation denied that Serbians were in any way involved.

"Unless some great power intervenes, another Balkan war is imminent, followed probably by a European war," said the Albanian minister.

"The trouble that has risen is due to the deliberate militaristic policy of aggression on the part of Serbia against Albania. There is a keen desire on the part of Serbia to annex Albania."

His charges were denied in a statement from the Jugo-Slavian legation.

Removal of Sheriff Asked; Charge he Was at Risque Party

LANSING, Dec., 19—Removal of Sheriff Warren C. Stoddard, of Jackson, from office, is asked in a petition filed today with Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

The Sheriff, some time ago attended a risque party in the rooms of the Jackson City club at which liquor was used freely by guests and a girl entertainer in nude danced Egyptian dances, the petition charges.

The petition is signed by E. M. Rhodades, Lisman Smith, Bret H. Taylor, three Jackson ministers.

It was referred to assistant Attorney-General Converse for investigation. Forty-two supporting affidavits accompany the petition.

Four Girls Dead, Woman Dying, After Fire Sweeps Home

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 19—Four girls were burned to death and Mrs. Olive Jones, mother of two of them, was probably fatally burned when fire destroyed the Jones home just across the Ohio border, it was reported today.

The blaze started from an oil explosion when Mrs. Jones was attempting to light an oven fire. The children were trapped on the second floor of the dwelling which was soon destroyed.

Senator Carpenter Named Chairman of Finance Committee

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19—Announcement of the appointment of State Senator Harry M. Carpenter, Republican, of Steubenville, as chairman of the Senate finance committee, was made today as the Senate committee on committees met to make committee assignments.

Chairman Gardner called the meeting to order shortly before noon.

One Killed, Two Injured When Auto Skids and Plunges

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 19—Otto Neuen, 50, Sandusky, was killed, and Robert Burk, former engineer of the tug Yale, and Arthur Jacobsen, steamboat oiler, also of Sandusky, were seriously injured late last night three miles east of Vermillon, when Neune's car skidded in a slippery roadway and went over an embankment.

TOKIO DENIES U. S. FLEET STORY

TOKIO, Dec. 19.—Foreign Minister Shidehara this afternoon denied that Japan had declined the American overture to send the United States fleet to Japan following its Hawaiian maneuvers.

"The government can not decline a proposal which has not been made," the foreign minister declared. "The story has no foundation in fact."

Social Committee Of Country Club Buys Health Bond

The social committee of the East Liverpool Country Club today purchased a $100 health bond from the health committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, in charge of the Christmas health seal campaign here.

Charles Hanley, First avenue, East End, narrowly escaped injury about 10 o'clock last night, when a westbound Beaver-East Liverpool interurban car crashed into his truck, east of Smith's Ferry.

Hanley was returning to his home with an empty truck. Owing to the muddy condition of the road, his truck was caught between the rails of the interurban car tracks. Because of the dense fog, the motorman of the car, failed to see the truck until too late to avert the accident. Hanley leaped before the crash occurred.

The truck and street car were badly damaged.

FIRE FORCES 50 PERSONS TO FLEE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19.—Fire, which broke out in an apartment house in Carnegie avenue just before 5 o'clock this morning, drove more than 50 persons to the street clad only in night attire. Seventeen others were rescued from window ledges by firemen, when flames cut off escape by the stairways.

The fire, caused by an overheated furnace, did comparatively little damage, the loss being estimated at $2,500, by fire department officials. Eight fire companies responded to the alarms.

LEGS SEVERED, BRAKEMAN DIES

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 19. — Cal Wood's of Struthers a brakeman for the Lake Erie and Eastern railroad was killed here today when he fell between two cars. Both of his legs were severed.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Maude Thompson

Mrs. Maude Thompson, 44 years old, wife of James F. Thompson, Peake street, died Wednesday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Virginia Powell, Moundsville, W. Va. Death resulted from complications.

Deceased, who went to Moundsville five weeks ago to attend a funeral of a relative is survived besides her husband by two children, Wanda and Imogene, also one sister, Mrs. Ralph Alexander, Moundsville.

Mrs. L. W. Smith.

Mrs. L. W. Smith, 72 years old, died this morning at 10:30 o'clock in her home in Yellow Creek township following a several weeks' illness of paralysis.

She was born in Yellow Creek township on June 10, 1852, the daughter of James E. and Mary Ann Strain Smith. Fifty years ago she was married to W. L. Smith. She was one of the best known residents of the Scotch Settlements. She was a member of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church.

In addition to her husband she is survived by five children, Clarence C., of Lisbon; Mrs. William Forbes and Mrs. W. A. Faulkner, of Madison township; Elizabeth, at home; and Mrs. Frank Forbes, of Wellsville. A sister, Mrs. Ida M. Binsley, of Lisbon, is living.

Funeral services will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church in charge of the pastor, Rev. K. Y. Stewart. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

Trotzky Stays in Moscow

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 19. — Leon Trotzky, Russian Commissar for war, refuses to leave Moscow, according to dispatches received here today and his opponents are fearful of forcing the issue, anticipating a possible outbreak of Kremlin troops still loyal to the war commissar.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—High priced industrial and specialty stocks held the center of the stage in the early trading in the stock market today. The spectacular performance of American Can and Cast Iron Pipe at the close of Thursday's session attracted country-wide buying in these stocks and prices rushed up six points in pipe and three in can in the first period. Pan-American and Standard of New Jersey led the oil stocks in the rally which was also in progress at the close of yesterday's session.

The market started with a snap and a bang, with buying centered chiefly in the industrials. The rails were comparatively inactive, though most sales were at fractional advances over the previous close. Persistent rumors that American Can, General Electric, Cast Iron Pipe and other well known companies were about to cut a melon, stimulated the demand for these stocks. Favorable week-end developments in the money market, as evidenced by the opening of call money rates at 2½ per cent attracted considerable attention. Wheat soared another cent a bushel in Chicago.

Strenuous buying of the oil stocks was based on reports of decided improvement in the oil industry, particularly the consuming end of the business and the rumors that the oils were being groomed to lead the next upward movement in the market. All of the independent oil shares participate din the movement.

Studebaker and Mack trucks led a spirited advance in the motor stocks, the former exceeding all of its previous records for the year at 45¾, and the latter above 11 per cent.

Gulf States Steel and Crucible, at the head of the independent steels, registered gains of about two points each. Universal Pipe common and preferred sold higher, but their movements were not as spectacular as in previous sessions. American car and foundry and Baldwin Locomotive up three points each in active trading, emphasized the effect of the recent heavy influx of equipment orders. Philadelphia company led the public utility stocks with a gain of two points.

Missionary Society Session.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Harry Watkin. Mrs. L. M. Williams gave a talk on "In and Out of Utah." Mrs. Donald MacLeod's topic was "Christmas Thoughts." Miss Isabel Blake discussed "Moslem Lands." The mission study book was reviewed, after which an informal social hour was spent.

The hostesses included Mrs. A. C. Boice, Mrs. T. O. Torrence, Mrs. F. A. Leonard and Mrs. George Viney.

Philathea Class Party.

Thirty-nine members of the Philathea class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a Christmas exchange, which was held in the church parlors last evening. A short business session preceded the party. A luncheon was served by Mrs. Bessie Smith, Mrs. Mary Powell, Mrs. Bertha Wood and Mrs. Grace Tittle.

M. E. Church Yule Services.

Two special services in keeping with the Christmas season will be conducted at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.

Christmas anthems will be rendered by the choir at the morning services, when Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Leading Star."

The augmented choir, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, will present a cantata, "The King of Peace," by Emerson, at the evening service. Soloists will include Misses Mildred Weaver and Grace McNutt, sopranos, Wallace Banfield, tenor, and Wilbur Glenn, baritone.

The program follows: Organ pastoral, Mrs. T. C. Flick; women's chorus, "Lamb of God, the Heavens Adore Thee;" baritone solo and chorus, "The Annunciation;" soprano solo, "While Shepherds Watched;" chorus, "Come Thou Expected Jesus;" baritone solo and chorus of women, "No Room in the Inn;" chorus, "There is Room in My Heart;" baritone solo, "Hark, What Mean These Holy Voices?"; soprano solo and chorus, "Oh, Holy Night;" chorus, "Hymn to the King of Peace;" chorus, "Praise the King of Peace;" postlude, "Finale from Sonita" (Mendelssohn).

Countess Farms; Count is Maid.

Countess Klepinska, who before her titled marriage was Mary Grainger, daughter of a former mayor of Louisville, Ky., has returned to the scenes of her girlhood, impoverished by the war. Her husband is of noble Polish family and cannot endure hard work. Accordingly he stays at home and minds the children while the countess works on the small farm at manual labor. The farm is near Crestwood, Ky.

Gale Plays Queer Prank.

When a gale struck the home of Gorge Nelson in a small New England town, it ripped off one chimney on his house and blew a hole through the other, leaving a stable shell and in no way disturbing the top layers of brick or other parts of the building.

Prattle About Picture Plays

The Paramount Picture Co. (Famous Players-Lasky) is determined to ferret out beauty and talent in Movieland and give it a chance. Quite recently Cecil B. DeMille, one of the best known of the company's directors, announced that a young brunette, Vera Reynolds, would be featured in a picture. And Vera had a prominent role in "Feet of Clay." Apparently her work met with approval because Miss Reynolds again has a featured role in a new picture, "The Golden Bed," and Mr. De Mille has chosen a lovely blonde actress, Lillian Rich, to play the other important feminine role.

Lillian Rich is not entirely unknown to movie fans. She has been seen in a number of worthwhile pictures, the two latest that I recall being "The Love Master," a Canadian northwest story starring Strongheart, the dog star, and "Cheap Kisses."

Lillian is an English girl and was born at Herne Hill, a suburb of London, and educated in a girls' school within the shadow of one of England's oldest cathedrals. She was seized by the lure of Screenland and came to Hollywood to try her luck.

She was given just a bit in a picture directed by Henry King, and made so good an impression that she was selected for roles opposite such male stars as Herbert Rawlinson, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Douglas MacLean, John Bowers and Cullen Landis. She played in several pictures with Strongheart.

Lillian had no knowledge of outdoor sports when she began her picture career but, with grit and determination learned to ride, skate, ski and to use snow shoes as few men can. It is even said she learned to drive seven untamed wolf hounds while filming exterior scenes at Victoria Glacier in Canada for "The Love Master."

Sam Wood, the director, is trying out a new system of lighting while filming "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent." It is designed to moderate the terrific heat generated by the big overhead lights which have several times overcome players on the set.

Did you know that Rod LaRocque's hair is naturally curly? Well it is only he "slicks" it back much to his mother's annoyance. Very recently we are informed, he appeared on the Paramount lot with it au natural, and now his mother wears a triumphant smile.

Shortly before his death, the late Thomas H. Ince signed Jackqueline Logan for a five and a half year contract. "I consider Miss Logan one of the most promising of the younger screen favorites," Mr. Ince is quoted as saying.

Did we mention that Booth Tarkington's novel, "The Magnificent Ambarson," is to be filmed under the name of "Pampered Youth?"

Constance Bennett.

In recognition of her good work in Zane Grey's "The Code of the West," Constance Bennett has been signed for a long term contract with Paramount Pictures, according to Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president in charge of production .Her first release under the new contract will be "The Goose Hangs High," a James Cruze production just finished.

Constance Bennett is the daughter of Richard Bennett, well known stage and screen star. She was born in New York City and carefully educated at Mrs. Nerrill's school there. After graduation she went to Switzerland and attended a famous school three for a number of years. After her return to America she secured a position behind the footlights as a ballet dancer, but soon graviated to the screen and has lately joined the ranks of young and pulchritudinous damsels who are being featured by Paramount Co.

She appeared in one picture for Selznick, "Reckless Youth," and one for Equity, "What's Wrong with the Women." Miss Bennett is a blonde and is said to have originated several flapper roles for the screen.

Corinne Griffith has a busy winter ahead of her. She has just started work on "Declasse." As soon as that picture is finished she will star in "The National Anthem," the J. Hartley Manners play in which Laurette Taylor starred on the stage two years ago.

Two-hour flights between Europe and America at an altitude of ten miles, are forecast by S. Lindquist, a well-known Swedish airplane constructor.

Prattle About Picture Plays

The Paramount Picture Co. (Famous Players-Lasky) is determined to ferret out beauty and talent in Movieland and give it a chance. Quite recently Cecil B. DeMille, one of the best known of the company's directors, announced that a young brunette, Vera Reynolds, would be featured in a picture. And Vera had a prominent role in "Feet of Clay." Apparently her work met with approval because Miss Reynolds again has a featured role in a new picture, "The Golden Bed," and Mr. De Mille has chosen a lovely blonde actress, Lillian Rich, to play the other important feminine role.

Lillian Rich is not entirely unknown to movie fans. She has been seen in a number of worthwhile pictures, the two latest that I recall being "The Love Master," a Canadian northwest story starring Strongheart, the dog star, and "Cheap Kisses."

Lillian is an English girl and was born at Herne Hill, a suburb of London, and educated in a girls' school within the shadow of one of England's oldest cathedrals. She was seized by the lure of Screenland and came to Hollywood to try her luck.

She was given just a bit in a picture directed by Henry King, and made so good an impression that she was selected for roles opposite such male stars as Herbert Rawlinson, Harry Carey, Hoot Gibson, Douglas MacLean, John Bowers and Cullen Landis. She played in several pictures with Strongheart.

Lillian had no knowledge of outdoor sports when she began her picture career but, with grit and determination learned to ride, skate, ski and to use snow shoes as few men can. It is even said she learned to drive seven untamed wolf hounds while filming exterior scenes at Victoria Glacier in Canada for "The Love Master."

Sam Wood, the director, is trying out a new system of lighting while filming "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent." It is designed to moderate the terrific heat generated by the big overhead lights which have several times overcome players on the set.

Did you know that Rod LaRocque's hair is naturally curly? Well it is only he "slicks" it back much to his mother's annoyance. Very recently we are informed, he appeared on the Paramount lot with it au natural, and now his mother wears a triumphant smile.

Shortly before his death, the late Thomas H. Ince signed Jackqueline Logan for a five and a half year contract. "I consider Miss Logan one of the most promising of the younger screen favorites," Mr. Ince is quoted as saying.

Did we mention that Booth Tarkington's novel, "The Magnificent Ambarson," is to be filmed under the name of "Pampered Youth?"

Constance Bennett.

In recognition of her good work in Zane Grey's "The Code of the West," Constance Bennett has been signed for a long term contract with Paramount Pictures, according to Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president in charge of production .Her first release under the new contract will be "The Goose Hangs High," a James Cruze production just finished.

Constance Bennett is the daughter of Richard Bennett, well known stage and screen star. She was born in New York City and carefully educated at Mrs. Nerrill's school there. WEIRTON POSSE SEEKING NEGRO

Eva Avano, 17-year-old Weirton girl, who was attacked by an unknown Negro near her home yesterday morning, had recovered sufficiently last night from shock and injuries to be returned to her home after receiving treatment at a Steubenville hospital.

Miss Avano had started from her home along what is known as the brick road west of Weirton to visit a neighbor when a burly Negro blocked her path, making insulting remarks. The girl screamed and in trying to frighten her into quieting down the Negro drew a revolver. This only caused Miss Avano to scream louder and the Negro struck her over the head with the butt of his revolver and was choking her when a party of tourists drove up and frightened him away.

Chief of Police Harry L. Brooks was notified and detailed every member of his force to lead a posse of citizens in searching the West Virginia hills back of Weirton for the girl's assailant, but the search ended at dark with the wanted man still at large. Neighbors of Mike Avano, the girl's father, called on the chief last night, asking that they be permitted to go armed in furthering their search. Two large bruises on the girl's head, inflicted by the pistol handle, were found not to be of a serious nature, although first reports were that she had sustained a fracture of the skull. The girl told Chief Brooks that the timely arrival of the auto party saved her life.

Health Seal Sales.

Sale of Christmas Health Seals will practically come to a close here tomorrow. During the week children of the public and parochial schools have been engaged in disposing of the seals. Proceeds will be used in the fight being directed against the spread of tuberculosis and assisting those who have fell victims to the disease.

STEEL PLANT TO RESUME IN FULL

J. C. Williams, vice-president and general manager of the Weirton Steel company, announced yesterday that the Steubenville plant of the company would resume operations in full Monday, January 5.

Extensive improvements and remodelling of the entire plant assures steady and capacity operations, Mr. Williams stated. Eight hundred men will be given employment.

He issued the following statement: "The Steubenville plant of the Weirton Steel Company will resume operations in full Monday, January 5. E. M. Mentzer has been promoted to the position of general superintendent of all the company's tin mills and the Steubenville plant will be under his charge with E. D. Paddack occupying the position of local manager. Mr. Mentzer will be succeeded at the Weirton plant by G. H. Richards who will act as manager of the plant."

STAGE SET FOR FLOOR CONTEST

Rock Springs park will be the scene of the opening basketball game of the season this evening, when Chester high school five clashes with the strong Franklin and Marshall academy team, of Lancaster, Pa.

The local team has been working out for several weeks and will be in good condition to stand the fast pace which will probably be set by the Pennsylvania aggregation, whose lineup includes Greenspun and Wyant, former local high school stars and Todd, who carried off honors during his career as a member of the Wellsville high school athletic teams.

The preliminary game between the High girls and First Methodist Episcopal church team, of East Liverpool, will start at 7:30.

XMAS CANTATA TO BE PRESENTED

A Christmas cantata, "The Prince of Peace" will be rendered by a chorus choir consisting of 30 voices in the First Presbyterian church Sabbath evening at 7:30. A. J. Savage will preside at the organ, and Mrs. Patton will direct the chorus.

The cantata portrays in rich and flowing melody, interspersed with tender harmonius and stirring dynamics, the wonderful story of the coming of the Prince of Peace into the world.

The Old Testament prophecy, the visit of the Magi the familiar incidents of the humble Shepherds, will be told through the medium of song in praise to the Lord's and the King of Kings.

WEIRTON POSSE SEEKING NEGRO

Man Who Attacked Girl Escapes by Taking to Hills.

Eva Avano, 17-year-old Weirton girl, who was attacked by an unknown Negro near her home yesterday morning, had recovered sufficiently last night from shock and injuries to be returned to her home after receiving treatment at a Steubenville hospital.

Miss Avano had started from her home along what is known as the brick road west of Weirton to visit a neighbor when a burly Negro blocked her path, making insulting remarks. The girl screamed and in trying to frighten her into quieting down the Negro drew a revolver. This only caused Miss Avano to scream louder and the Negro struck her over the head with the butt of his revolver and was choking her when a party of tourists drove up and frightened him away.

Chief of Police Harry L. Brooks was notified and detailed every member of his force to lead a posse of citizens in searching the West Virginia hills back of Weirton for the girl's assailant, but the search ended at dark with the wanted man still at large. Neighbors of Mike Avano, the girl's father, called on the chief last night, asking that they be permitted to go armed in furthering their search. Two large bruises on the girl's head, inflicted by the pistol handle, were found not to be of a serious nature, although first reports were that she had sustained a fracture of the skull. The girl told Chief Brooks that the timely arrival of the auto party saved her life.

Health Seal Sales.

Sale of Christmas Health Seals will practically come to a close here tomorrow. During the week children of the public and parochial schools have been engaged in disposing of the seals. Proceeds will be used in the fight being directed against the spread of tuberculosis and assisting those who have fell victims to the disease.

STEEL PLANT TO RESUME IN FULL

J. C. Williams, vice-president and general manager of the Weirton Steel company, announced yesterday that the Steubenville plant of the company would resume operations in full Monday, January 5.

Extensive improvements and remodelling of the entire plant assures steady and capacity operations, Mr. Williams stated. Eight hundred men will be given employment.

He issued the following statement: "The Steubenville plant of the Weirton Steel Company will resume operations in full Monday, January 5. E. M. Mentzer has been promoted to the position of general superintendent of all the company's tin mills and the Steubenville plant will be under his charge with E. D. Paddack occupying the position of local manager. Mr. Mentzer will be succeeded at the Weirton plant by G. H. Richards who will act as manager of the plant."

STAGE SET FOR FLOOR CONTEST

Rock Springs park will be the scene of the opening basketball game of the season this evening, when Chester high school five clashes with the strong Franklin and Marshall academy team, of Lancaster, Pa.

The local team has been working out for several weeks and will be in good condition to stand the fast pace which will probably be set by the Pennsylvania aggregation, whose lineup includes Greenspun and Wyant, former local high school stars and Todd, who carried off honors during his career as a member of the Wellsville high school athletic teams.

The preliminary game between the High girls and First Methodist Episcopal church team, of East Liverpool, will start at 7:30.

NATION FACES BIG PROBLEM

Water Shortage Feared by Reclamation Bureau Chief.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—What to do for water is one of the rapidly approaching problems for the nation to face, in the opinion of Frederick H. Newell, former chief of the Federal Reclamation Service, as expressed before members of Yale Forestry School here. "The time is coming," said Mr. Newell, "when it will be necessary to apportion the amount of water to be used in drinking and for household uses before industries are permitted to take any for manufacturing or other purposes."

Not lack of rain, but insufficient control of rainfall is the trouble. "Our rainfall remains comparatively constant," said Mr. Newell. "It is only as we change its distribution by removal of forests, or contaminate streams by dumping waste, that a shortage of water ensues."

Under Federal law, navigation once had the first call in the use of water. Nowadays, according to Mr. Newell, the use of water is ranked thus: Drinking, raising crops, removal of waste, industrial water power, navigation and recreation.

BRIGHT SPOT IN DAYS NEWS

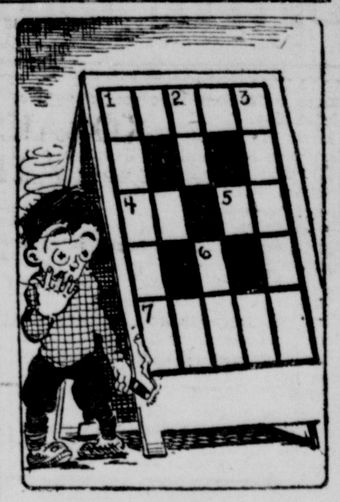
The mistletoe, legendary "kissing plant," seems to have lost its charm.

Dealers in Christmas favors in all sections of Ohio this Christmas season report only a few sales of the novelty which formerly adorned nearly every chandelier at this season.

"How do you explain it," they were asked.

"Movies, automobiles and overstuffed davenports have forced it into the discared," was the almost unanimous reply.

CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE



How To Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. They key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1. What is making the boy sick.
Word 4. The opposite of down.
Word 5. How do you ———.

(Running Down.)

NATION FACES BIG PROBLEM

Water Shortage Feared by Reclamation Bureau Chief.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—What to do for water is one of the rapidly approaching problems for the nation to face, in the opinion of Frederick H. Newell, former chief of the Federal Reclamation Service, as expressed before members of Yale Forestry School here. "The time is coming," said Mr. Newell, "when it will be necessary to apportion the amount of water to be used in drinking and for household uses before industries are permitted to take any for manufacturing or other purposes."

Not lack of rain, but insufficient control of rainfall is the trouble. "Our rainfall remains comparatively constant," said Mr. Newell. "It is only as we change its distribution by removal of forests, or contaminate streams by dumping waste, that a shortage of water ensues."

Under Federal law, navigation once had the first call in the use of water. Nowadays, according to Mr. Newell, the use of water is ranked thus: Drinking, raising crops, removal of waste, industrial water power, navigation and recreation.

BRIGHT SPOT IN DAYS NEWS

The mistletoe, legendary "kissing plant," seems to have lost its charm.

Dealers in Christmas favors in all sections of Ohio this Christmas season report only a few sales of the novelty which formerly adorned nearly every chandelier at this season.

"How do you explain it," they were asked.

"Movies, automobiles and overstuffed davenports have forced it into the discared," was the almost unanimous reply.

CHILDRENS CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. They key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1. What is making the boy sick.
Word 4. The opposite of down.
Word 5. How do you ———.

(Running Down.)

Word 3. They cover all houses.
Word 6. What mother has to say often to little folks.

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

Two Decrees Issued by Judge Moore in Court Thursday.

When Mrs. Frank Carson, of East Liverpool, was testifying on the witness stand in the divorce action against her husband, Judge James G. Moore stopped the witness from offering testimony other than suggested by her counsel, Charles S. Speaker, of Lisbon.

"You don't know about him being with this girl," Mrs. Carson suggested as she turned in the witness chair and looked at the court.

"We're just interested in what your counsel is asking you," the court replied. "That will be all, please step aside."

Mrs. Carson left the witness stand, and was followed by her 13-year-old daughter, who testified as did her mother, to Carson striking his wife and knocking her down.

Two character witnesses testified briefly. A number of other witnesses who had been summoned in this cause by Mrs. Carson were not called upon to testify.

Carson was not in court. He was represented, however, by his counsel, William H. Spence, but the latter took no part in the case. Carson first sued his wife for divorce. She filed an answer and cross petition. The petition of Carson was dismissed at his costs, and the case went to trial on the cross petition of Mrs. Carson.

An alimony agreement had been arranged privately between counsel, and the court granted Mrs. Carson a decree on the grounds of extreme cruelty and awarded the custody of the daughter to the mother.

NO ASSIGNMENT FOR NEXT WEEK

No assignment will be issued for common pleas court next week, although Judge James G. Moore has announced that the usual routine of court work will be attended to with the exception of Christmas Day, when all offices in the court house will be closed.

Judge Carl H. Smith, of Steubenville, who has been assisting Judge Moore during the last three weeks, completed his service in this county Thursday, and returned to his home. Judge Smith retires from judicial life with the expiration of his present term next February.

COUNTY RED CROSS OFFICERS NAMED

At the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Chapter of the Red Cross, Melvin Goldsmith was elected chairman, vice Attorney George T. Farrell, who has served as the head of the organization for several years. Other officers elected are:

Vice chairman, Rev. P. W. Macaulay; treasurer, Mabel Marquis; secretary, Miss Jane Way; chairman Home Service, Attorney Charles S. Speaker; chairman Junior Red Cros, County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard; chairman Lisbon Junior Red Cross, Mrs. Maude Steele; publicity committee: the Misses Martha and Jess B. Dailey.

The executive committee is composed of the officers and includes Charles W. Costello, Mrs. May Pritchard, Mrs. E. F. Moore, Mrs. W. B. Chaine, Attorney George T. Farrell, Prof. E. P. Stonebraker, Columbiana; Mrs. S. J. Lowry of East Palestine and Miss Anna Sinclair of Hanoverton.

Rural Schools Close.

Rural schools of the county close for their annual holiday vacation with the Friday afternoon sessions, and will resume Monday, Dec. 29, according to the schedule announced by County Superintenednt of schools, H. C. Leonard. There may be a holiday also declared on New Years Day.

Small Blaze.

Burning soot in the main flue of the David Anderson high school, West Lincoln Way, Lisbon, caused the Lisbon fire department to respond to an alarm early Friday morning. There was no damage to the school building, and the fire in the flue was soon extinguished.

Post Elects Officers.

Florence Richardson, wife of Neal Richardson, a storekeeper on the Lincoln highway at Stop 55, was granted a decree of divorce from her husband by Judge James G. Moore on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, and the petition, as filed by Mrs. Richardson in her claim for alimony, recited that Richardson had struck her.

As alimony the court awarded her $1,020 and counsel fees.

Village of Leetonia Made Defendant In Court Action

A mandatory injunction has been sought against the village of Leetonia in a petition filed in common pleas court by the law firm of Metzgar & McCarty, of Salem, for E. E. Morgan.

The plaintiff in this cause has set up that Michael Beilhart, L. D. Royer and Mahlon McDevitt, composing the board of affairs of Leetonia, and Seth Neigh, superintendent of the Leetonia municipal water plant, refuse to furnish him with water for a home he has built on the south side of East Columbia street, in Fairfield township, and 500 yards east of the corporation line.

The petition recites that property owners along the street laid the supply line at their own expense, and pay an excess of 10 per cent to secure water service. Morgan participated in this water line extension expense, and now since he has built a new house the village of Leetonia refuses to "tap" its main to supply the new property. Therefore the petition asking for the mandatory injunction.

City Solicitor Homer H. Hickling has waived service of summons for the defendants.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Asa Roberts, of Salineville, but a former resident of Deerfield, and Miss Alice Smith, employed as a pottery worker at Wellsville. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. W. E. Tilton.

Demurrer Sustained.

In the case of Lodge Thorne against the McLain Fire Brick company, of Wellsville, which is for the recovery of $1,663 claimed due the plaintiff from the defendant company, the demurrer of the defendant to the second ground has been sustained by Judge James G. Moore, to which counsel for the plaintiff has taken exception.

Property Transfers.

E. J. Close, et al, to Harry E. Metz, et al, 23.37 acres in section 19, Fairfield township; $1,950.

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

Two Decrees Issued by Judge Moore in Court Thursday.

When Mrs. Frank Carson, of East Liverpool, was testifying on the witness stand in the divorce action against her husband, Judge James G. Moore stopped the witness from offering testimony other than suggested by her counsel, Charles S. Speaker, of Lisbon.

"You don't know about him being with this girl," Mrs. Carson suggested as she turned in the witness chair and looked at the court.

"We're just interested in what your counsel is asking you," the court replied. "That will be all, please step aside."

Mrs. Carson left the witness stand, and was followed by her 13-year-old daughter, who testified as did her mother, to Carson striking his wife and knocking her down.

Two character witnesses testified briefly. A number of other witnesses who had been summoned in this cause by Mrs. Carson were not called upon to testify.

Carson was not in court. He was represented, however, by his counsel, William H. Spence, but the latter took no part in the case. Carson first sued his wife for divorce. She filed an answer and cross petition. The petition of Carson was dismissed at his costs, and the case went to trial on the cross petition of Mrs. Carson.

An alimony agreement had been arranged privately between counsel, and the court granted Mrs. Carson a decree on the grounds of extreme cruelty and awarded the custody of the daughter to the mother.

NO ASSIGNMENT FOR NEXT WEEK

No assignment will be issued for common pleas court next week, although Judge James G. Moore has announced that the usual routine of court work will be attended to with the exception of Christmas Day, when all offices in the court house will be closed.

Judge Carl H. Smith, of Steubenville, who has been assisting Judge Moore during the last three weeks, completed his service in this county Thursday, and returned to his home. Judge Smith retires from judicial life with the expiration of his present term next February.

COUNTY RED CROSS OFFICERS NAMED

At the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Chapter of the Red Cross, Melvin Goldsmith was elected chairman, vice Attorney George T. Farrell, who has served as the head of the organization for several years. Other officers elected are:

Vice chairman, Rev. P. W. Macaulay; treasurer, Mabel Marquis; secretary, Miss Jane Way; chairman Home Service, Attorney Charles S. Speaker; chairman Junior Red Cros, County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard; chairman Lisbon Junior Red Cross, Mrs. Maude Steele; publicity committee: the Misses Martha and Jess B. Dailey.

The executive committee is composed of the officers and includes Charles W. Costello, Mrs. May Pritchard, Mrs. E. F. Moore, Mrs. W. B. Chaine, Attorney George T. Farrell, Prof. E. P. Stonebraker, Columbiana; Mrs. S. J. Lowry of East Palestine and Miss Anna Sinclair of Hanoverton.

Rural Schools Close.

Rural schools of the county close for their annual holiday vacation with the Friday afternoon sessions, and will resume Monday, Dec. 29, according to the schedule announced by County Superintenednt of schools, H. C. Leonard. There may be a holiday also declared on New Years Day.

Small Blaze.

Burning soot in the main flue of the David Anderson high school, West Lincoln Way, Lisbon, caused the Lisbon fire department to respond to an alarm early Friday morning. There was no damage to the school building, and the fire in the flue was soon extinguished.

Post Elects Officers.

Florence Richardson, wife of Neal Richardson, a storekeeper on the Lincoln highway at Stop 55, was granted a decree of divorce from her husband by Judge James G. Moore on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, and the petition, as filed by Mrs. Richardson in her claim for alimony, recited that Richardson had struck her.

As alimony the court awarded her $1,020 and counsel fees.

Village of Leetonia Made Defendant In Court Action

A mandatory injunction has been sought against the village of Leetonia in a petition filed in common pleas court by the law firm of Metzgar & McCarty, of Salem, for E. E. Morgan.

The plaintiff in this cause has set up that Michael Beilhart, L. D. Royer and Mahlon McDevitt, composing the board of affairs of Leetonia, and Seth Neigh, superintendent of the Leetonia municipal water plant, refuse to furnish him with water for a home he has built on the south side of East Columbia street, in Fairfield township, and 500 yards east of the corporation line.

The petition recites that property owners along the street laid the supply line at their own expense, and pay an excess of 10 per cent to secure water service. Morgan participated in this water line extension expense, and now since he has built a new house the village of Leetonia refuses to "tap" its main to supply the new property. Therefore the petition asking for the mandatory injunction.

City Solicitor Homer H. Hickling has waived service of summons for the defendants.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Asa Roberts, of Salineville, but a former resident of Deerfield, and Miss Alice Smith, employed as a pottery worker at Wellsville. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. W. E. Tilton.

Demurrer Sustained.

In the case of Lodge Thorne against the McLain Fire Brick company, of Wellsville, which is for the recovery of $1,663 claimed due the plaintiff from the defendant company, the demurrer of the defendant to the second ground has been sustained by Judge James G. Moore, to which counsel for the plaintiff has taken exception.

DIVORCE CASES HEARD BY COURT

Two Decrees Issued by Judge Moore in Court Thursday.

When Mrs. Frank Carson, of East Liverpool, was testifying on the witness stand in the divorce action against her husband, Judge James G. Moore stopped the witness from offering testimony other than suggested by her counsel, Charles S. Speaker, of Lisbon.

"You don't know about him being with this girl," Mrs. Carson suggested as she turned in the witness chair and looked at the court.

"We're just interested in what your counsel is asking you," the court replied. "That will be all, please step aside."

Mrs. Carson left the witness stand, and was followed by her 13-year-old daughter, who testified as did her mother, to Carson striking his wife and knocking her down.

Two character witnesses testified briefly. A number of other witnesses who had been summoned in this cause by Mrs. Carson were not called upon to testify.

Carson was not in court. He was represented, however, by his counsel, William H. Spence, but the latter took no part in the case. Carson first sued his wife for divorce. She filed an answer and cross petition. The petition of Carson was dismissed at his costs, and the case went to trial on the cross petition of Mrs. Carson.

An alimony agreement had been arranged privately between counsel, and the court granted Mrs. Carson a decree on the grounds of extreme cruelty and awarded the custody of the daughter to the mother.

NO ASSIGNMENT FOR NEXT WEEK

No assignment will be issued for common pleas court next week, although Judge James G. Moore has announced that the usual routine of court work will be attended to with the exception of Christmas Day, when all offices in the court house will be closed.

Judge Carl H. Smith, of Steubenville, who has been assisting Judge Moore during the last three weeks, completed his service in this county Thursday, and returned to his home. Judge Smith retires from judicial life with the expiration of his present term next February.

COUNTY RED CROSS OFFICERS NAMED

At the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Chapter of the Red Cross, Melvin Goldsmith was elected chairman, vice Attorney George T. Farrell, who has served as the head of the organization for several years. Other officers elected are:

Vice chairman, Rev. P. W. Macaulay; treasurer, Mabel Marquis; secretary, Miss Jane Way; chairman Home Service, Attorney Charles S. Speaker; chairman Junior Red Cros, County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard; chairman Lisbon Junior Red Cross, Mrs. Maude Steele; publicity committee: the Misses Martha and Jess B. Dailey.

The executive committee is composed of the officers and includes Charles W. Costello, Mrs. May Pritchard, Mrs. E. F. Moore, Mrs. W. B. Chaine, Attorney George T. Farrell, Prof. E. P. Stonebraker, Columbiana; Mrs. S. J. Lowry of East Palestine and Miss Anna Sinclair of Hanoverton.

Rural Schools Close.

Rural schools of the county close for their annual holiday vacation with the Friday afternoon sessions, and will resume Monday, Dec. 29, according to the schedule announced by County Superintenednt of schools, H. C. Leonard. There may be a holiday also declared on New Years Day.

Small Blaze.

Burning soot in the main flue of the David Anderson high school, West Lincoln Way, Lisbon, caused the Lisbon fire department to respond to an alarm early Friday morning. There was no damage to the school building, and the fire in the flue was soon extinguished.

Post Elects Officers.

Florence Richardson, wife of Neal Richardson, a storekeeper on the Lincoln highway at Stop 55, was granted a decree of divorce from her husband by Judge James G. Moore on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, and the petition, as filed by Mrs. Richardson in her claim for alimony, cited that Richardson had struck her.

As alimony the court awarded her $1,020 and counsel fees.

Village of Leetonia Made Defendant In Court Action

A mandatory injunction has been sought against the village of Leetonia in a petition filed in common pleas court by the law firm of Metzgar & McCarty, of Salem, for E. E. Morgan.

The plaintiff in this cause has set up that Michael Beilhart, L. D. Royer and Mahlon McDevitt, composing the board of affairs of Leetonia, and Seth Neigh, superintendent of the Leetonia municipal water plant, refuse to furnish him with water for a home he has built on the south side of East Columbia street, in Fairfield township, and 500 yards east of the corporation line.

The petition recites that property owners along the street laid the supply line at their own expense, and pay an excess of 10 per cent to secure water service. Morgan participated in this water line extension expense, and now since he has built a new house the village of Leetonia refuses to "tap" its main to supply the new property. Therefore the petition asking for the mandatory injunction.

City Solicitor Homer H. Hickling has waived service of summons for the defendants.

Marriage License.

A marriage license has been issued to Asa Roberts, of Salineville, but a former resident of Deerfield, and Miss Alice Smith, employed as a pottery worker at Wellsville. They were married at the parsonage of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. W. E. Tilton.

Demurrer Sustained.

In the case of Lodge Thorne against the McLain Fire Brick company, of Wellsville, which is for the recovery of $1,663 claimed due the plaintiff from the defendant company, the demurrer of the defendant to the second ground has been sustained by Judge James G. Moore, to which counsel for the plaintiff has taken exception.

Following is the list of the building committee who will meet next Monday evening: Rev. A. J. Travis, Ralph Smith, H. E. Stoddard, John Pearson, Walter Bennett, T. M. Fullerton and Thomas Lamp.

Orchestras Practice.

Orchestras of the Second Presbyterian and Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal churches met for rehearsal last evening. Both organizations will take part in the annual Christmas entertainments to be held in their respective churches.

To Attend Lodge Meet.

Pennova lodge No. 880, Odd Fellows, will be represented at the meeting this evening in the I. O. O. F. building, Sixth street. Members of lodges from the entire Ohio valley will be present.

Xmas Rehearsals.

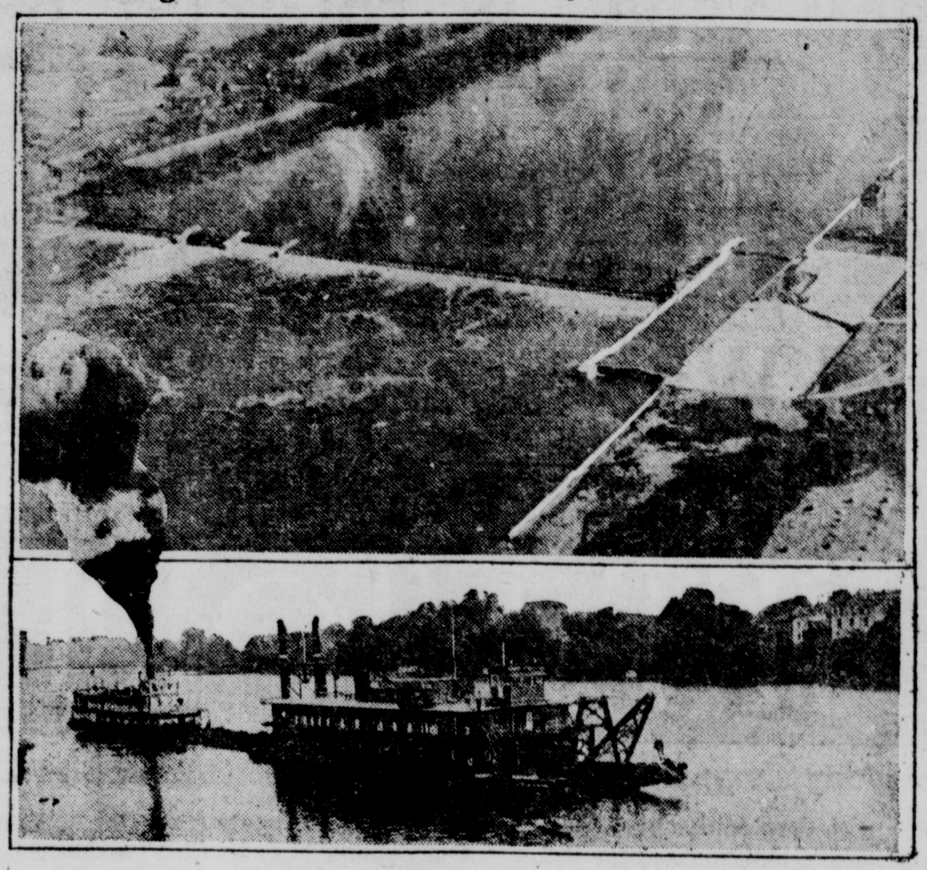
Final rehearsals will be held this evening by choir and Sunday school members for entertainments to be held in connection with the Christmas season. Special music will be a feature of the services in the churches here Sunday.

Big Exodus From Hebrides.

Residents of the Hebrides islands are moving from their island homes to Canada in large numbers, according to Rev. Father MacDonald, who is touring Canada to ascertain how the former emigrants from the island are faring. The delegation headed by Father MacDonnell, is interested in surveying new opportunities for fishermen and similar workmen who contemplate going to Canada.

Following an increase in milk prices in England, a farmer offered to deliver the first five day's supply free, and guaranteed to give customer's their average weekly supply without charge for two weeks in June each year.

Damming of Ohio River Nears Completion—50-Year Task



The canalization of the Ohio river, commenced in 1879, is nearing completion. The first lock and dam were authorized in that year. Fifty-two of the 54 dams and locks between Pittsburg and Cairo, found necessary, have now been completed. Photo shows an aeroplane view of the great movable dam in the Ohio river at New Richmond, and giant dredge, largest in world, used in the work.

Conspicuous among the artists who will sing in East Liverpool when she comes to the Ceramic theatre Thursday, January 15, is Miss Elda Vettori. She is scheduled to sing the prima donna role of "Madame Butterfly." Miss Vettori has often been called the most beautiful woman on the operatic stage. And to personal beauty she adds a voice of great beauty and of the true dramatic timbers. Also, she is a siging actress of the highest order—a singer who acts as well as she sings.

Unlike most successful divas, Miss Vettori did not always intend to be an operatic artist. She discovered her voice by the merest chance. It happened on ship board. Several operatic singers happened to be crossing the Great Lakes on the same boat with her. For a joke she hummed a tune in a gathering of musicians. Everyone was struck with the beauty of her voice. She at once was advised to study the art of the operatic artist. And it was only two months later that she made her debut with the San Carlo Grand Opera company in an important role.

And to personal beauty she adds a voice of great beauty and of the true dramatic timbers. Also, she is a siging actress of the highest order—a singer who acts as well as she sings.

Unlike most successful divas, Miss Vettori did not always intend to be an operatic artist. She discovered her voice by the merest chance. It happened on ship board. Several operatic singers happened to be crossing the Great Lakes on the same boat with her. For a joke she hummed a tune in a gathering of musicians. Everyone was struck with the beauty of her voice. She at once was advised to study the art of the operatic artist. And it was only two months later that she made her debut with the San Carlo Grand Opera company in an important role.

Coal is being examined by X-ray in England in order to learn its heating power and also to determine the amount and kinds of metal it contains.

CERAMIC CLASS' HOLIDAY RECESS

Ceramic class pupils were dismissed last night for the holiday recess. Sessions will be resumed Monday, January 5.

J. H. Hipplewhite, chief chemist at the E. M. Knowles plant, will be in charge when the school re-opens. V. J. Roehm, Home Laughlin China company, will direct the chemical engineering course, while L. M. Aaron, Homer Laughlin company, will be the economics teacher.

R. B. Miller, head chemist at the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles pottery, was in charge of fall sessions.

Lodge Gives Entertainment.

Members of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges held an entertainment last evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. Pupils of the fourth, sixth and eight grades took part in the program which included vocal selections by Mrs. Lawrence Bush; address by Rev. E. E. Lashley; vocal solo by Edward Cubberly; violin solo by Edward Hall; piano selection by Cecil Smith and reading by Mrs. E. E. Lashley.

1925 MOTOR CAR PLATES ARRIVE

Several Newell auto owners have received 1925 license plates from the state road commission at Charleston. These tags cannot be placed on cars until New year's Day. Violation of this rule will result in arrests. Under a ruling of the commission no extension of this time will be given in procuring plates for next year.

Revival Campaign Continues.

Revival services are still in progress at the First Methodist Episcopal church, with Rev. Joseph H. Smith of Redlands, Cal., in charge. Special music is a feature of the meetings which will close next Wednesday evening.

District Schools Close.

Newell and Grant district schools closed for the Christmas vacation this afternoon. Programs in keeping with the holiday season were given. Sessions will be resumed Monday, January 5.

School Savings Report.

Schools savings for the week ending December 15 follow: room No. 1, $1.04; room No. 2, $1.92; room No. 3, $3.20; room No. 4, $3.25; room No. 5, 26; room No. 6, $8.77; room No. 7, .50; room No. 8, no report; room No. 9, 85; room No. 10, 55.

Christmas trees grown especially to be perfect bearers of good cheer, is a possibility following experiments being made at the Northeastern Forest Experiment Station in New England to determine the feasibility of growing trees purposely to supply the market.

LOCAL SKINNY FOLKS WELCOME IMPROVED COD LIVER OIL TABLETS

Hypo-Cod in Tablet Form Guaranteed to Build Up Flesh, Energy and Strength for Men, Women and Children.

The great popularity of Hypo-Cod in Tablet Form, the improved compound Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites Tablets can easily be understood. These tablets are sold on a money-back guarantee, and hundreds of local skinny folks are finding them of great value in building flesh, energy and strength.

Hypo-Cod Tablets are rich in the millions of Cod Liver Oil vitamines and they make it possible to take this terrible tasting, fishy smelling stomach upsetting oil as easily as candy. Besides they contain the combined hypophosphites of lime, soda and iron to purify the blood and increase strength and vigor; quinine, manganese and strychnine to aid the stomach, heart and nerves, as well as the greatness of all blood enrichers, peptonate of iron. It's the same formula which has been used for years in the celebrated Earle's Hypo-Cod in liquid form.

Recommended in East Liverpool by Mathews' Cut Rate, Economy Drug Store, Huff's Drug Store, Bulger's Pharmacy, Gamble's Drug Store and McCutcheon's Pharmacy in Chester, and other good druggists everywhere.

Frocks Illustrate Three Trimming Treatments

Three distinct modes of trimming are illustrated in these frocks—embroidery, lace and fur. The simple tunic frock on the left is built of brown crepe de chine with an effective pattern of braiding and chenille embroidery in a darker shade for trimming. In the center is a smart little frock of black georgette with tiny sleeves and wide graduated skirt flounce of crepe lace. The third model is developed in a warm shade of brown and is banded with beaver on collar, cuffs and hem.

COXWELL CHAIRS

Dad is not selfish and would not buy a chair for his personal use but he would be all smiles if his family would present him with one of the comfortable Cogswell reading chairs, all his with no infringements. Velour, Damask, $40.00, Tapestry combinations $45.00, Mohair $50.00.

There are so many beautiful and at the same time practicable gifts to be had in a furniture store that we wonder why some folks spend good money for frivolous contraptions.

Frocks Illustrate Three Trimming Treatments

Three distinct modes of trimming are illustrated in these frocks—embroidery, lace and fur. The simple tunic frock on the left is built of brown crepe de chine with an effective pattern of braiding and chenille embroidery in a darker shade for trimming. In the center is a smart little frock of black georgette with tiny sleeves and wide graduated skirt flounce of crepe lace. The third model is developed in a warm shade of brown and is banded with beaver on collar, cuffs and hem.

Cleveland's School Board Will Operate Two New Poolrooms

CLEVELAND — Cleveland's school board will operate two pool rooms for young men, charging 2½ cents a cue, and will open two children's entertainment centers where films will be shown every Saturday at two cents admission.

Floyd A. Rowe, physical welfare director, plans to place two billiard tables in each of two school buildings. Movies will be shown in two other buildings.

London has a woman jockey.

The repair bill of the railroads of the country, for disabled locomotives alone, is a hugeitem according to the American Railroad association, which reported that in the last half of September, 33,955 locomotives were repaired and turned out of the railroad shops of the country. At that, better handling of the big iron horses is responsible for a gradual cutting down of this item of expense.

Surprise and Delight Her This Christmas

THERE is one gift you can give her that will be cherished. One gift that will be appreciated above all others. The gift of music. Before you decide on her Christmas gift, consider carefully these facts about music—the Playerpiano. ¶ Music—the Playerpiano—will add much charm to your home. The Playerpiano provides an ideal way to entertain friends. If you wish to dance, the Playerpiano is ready. If you wish to hear light opera, the Playerpiano is ready. If you prefer grand opera, or sacred music, or instrumental music, the Playerpiano, likewise, is always ready to please your fancy.

Our Great

Christmas Special

Makes it possible for you to have Music in your home for Christmas

If you pay a small sum—not more than the price you would pay for an ordinary gift—we'll place a wonderful new Playerpiano in your home for Christmas. A piano so rich in appearance—so fine in construction—so beautiful in tone quality—yet so low in price, it will amaze you. ¶ You can take as long as three years to pay for the instrument. Three years made richer—happier—more beautiful by the presence of music in your home.

ONLY A FEW PIANOS AT THIS UNUSUAL PRICE

Perhaps never before—possibly never again—will music lovers be given such an unusual opportunity. An opportunity to buy such a high grade musical instrument, for so little money. Only once in many years do such opportunities come. ¶ Take advantage of this opportunity today. Surprise and delight her this Christmas with the gift of happiness—Music.

Steam Roller "Gets Even" With Ex-pastor Mayor of Donville

He received a shock when he found a steam roller and force of men drowning out the services at the Grace Methodist church, his last charge before being granted leave to serve as mayor.

Blind Stenographer Accurate.

Mabel Green, an English girl who has been blind since birth, has taken in Braille shorthand a 40,000 word book on the history of radio and has typed it with remarkable accuracy on a typwriter especially designed to transcribe Braille characters. The machine has only seven keys. The work was done at spare times in the evenings after her regular work at the National Institute for the Blind in London.

Bread prices have been raised four times in London this year.

His Essay Best Among 200,000

John Liska, above, high school youth of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., has just won the H. S. Firestone four-year university scholarship regarded as one of the greatest educational awards in the U. S. His essay on "Good Roads" was adjudged the best of those submitted by 200,000 high school students throughout the U. S. and territorial possessions.

COMMON SENSE IN SMALL DOSES

There's safety in switches,
But the safest of all
Is a snap button switch
In your bathroom wall.

Heat with gas stoves all you please,
Use precaution when you do;
If you heat with such as these,
Pipe your gas fumes to your flue.

If we'd boil surface water
And oil shallow pools,
We'd have less use
For grave digger's tools.

Nobody yet,
With agilitee,
Has been accused
Of senilitee.

And we used to keep baby
Continually "stewed"
On narcotized toddies

Said old Doctor Murphy—
"One swallow of that
And the first thing you know
You're as blind as a bat."

Wear your wool in Coat or sweater,
But, next your skin,
Cotton's better.

The time will come when every patient
Will seek prevention—that is sure;
Like the doctor, they'll discover
That prevention beats a cure.

Well, anyway, most children are wise to the fact that we broadcast the best jazz after the bedtime stories.

Thieves Destroy Fine Collection of Indian Relics at Berwick

BERWICK, Pa. — The collection of Indian relics of Samuel C. Jayne, one of the best in the state, has been broken up by thieves destroying the fruits of more than 40 years' collecting. Mr. Jayne began early in the 80s to make the collection, which consisted of pottery, arrowheads and tomahawks found along the river valley in this section.

The collection was kept in a building near his home, and when he went to look at it he discovered most of it had been taken by thieves.

To mark the place where the last wolf in Sutherlandshire, Scotland, was killed about 225 years ago, the Duke of Portland has erected and inscribed a stone of Aberdeen granite at Lothberg.

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Automobiles in India are considered to be greater luxuries than champagne, jewelry or race horses, and a renewal of the thirty per cent tax on pleasure vehicles is being agitated.

Discovery Forecasts Insulin Manufacture; Price to Decline

CHICAGO.—Discovery of the method of isolating the active element in insulin by Dr. Arthur Locke, of St. Luke's hospital, ultimately will result in the manufacture of artificial or synthetic insulin so that this treatment for diabetic sufferers may be obtained much cheaper than at present, according to an announcement at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Julius Steiglitz, head of the department of chemistry, said that "positive progress has been made by Dr. Locke in obtaining more potent product from insulin," but added that it could not be predicted how much time may be required before artificial preparation of the product can be accomplished.

More accidents occur in London on Saturday than any other day of the week.

On Road To Boneyard

"I have just finished a treatment of your wonderful remedy and can say it has done wonders for me already. For the past five years I have been unable to eat any but the lightest food and that but sparingly, as any food caused me to bloat with gas. I was reduced to a skeleton of ninety pounds, and was on the road to the boneyard. A friend in Birmingham sent me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I took, and I am sure it will entirely cure me of my trouble, judging from what it brought from me and the way I feil." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists everywhere.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

MANY WOMEN SUCCEEDED ON FARM SURVEY SHOWS.

There are more than 1,000,000 women engaged as farmers in the United States, approximately 20 per cent of whom are owners and managers of their own farms, specializing in dairying, truck gardening, poultry, fruit, flowers or bees, according to the Bureau of Vocational Information, which has just completed a survey of the training available to women in twenty-three professions and allied occupations.

The survey, it is explained, was made possible on a grant from one of the educational foundations, and is the most important of a series of surveys published by the bureau dealing with occupational opportunities for women.

After considering more than 8,000 training courses the bureau has prepared not only a "selected list of training facilities" but indicated for each field the types of training which are coming to be generally accepted as the best. It also shows the training opportunities for women which meet the standardized requirements in each profession in every state, with a summary of the occupational opportunities, the preparation required, the reward offered, the methods of entrance and the lines of promotion.

While nearly 2,000,000 women are engaged in business, only 2 per cent are owners, managers, officers, foremen and overseers, the survey shows. This is laid to the prejudice against giving women administrative experience, and to women's "too frequent temporary attitude toward business." Women are warned against the tendency to train for technical work, such as secretarial positions, instead of electing the broader preparations in business offered by colleagiate schools. The report says in part:

"Music is one of the professions which shows a drop in its women members for the last ten years, 11,800 fewer being recorded in 1920 than in 1910. Men musicians have increased during the same period, taking over to a large extent the supervisory positions in public school instruction in music. Women, on the other hand, are going slowly into the field of music as composers and members of orchestras.

Women as Architects.

"Architecture also shows a decrease in the number of women engaged in it, although women have done notable work in domestic artichecture, a corner of the field which they have by natural instinct, invaded frist.

"Women pioneers in the engineering profession numbered ten in 1910; in 1920 the number recorded as technical engineers had increased to forty-one which did not include 1,985 women counted as draftsmen.

"Women are doing successful work as illuminating engineers with public utility companies, as radio engineers in experimental work, as industrial statisticians and as consulting industrial engineers and in a few cases as teachers in engineering schools. There are instances of women trained in engineering who have become manufacturers.

Discovery Forecasts Insulin Manufacture; Price to Decline

CHICAGO.—Discovery of the method of isolating the active element in insulin by Dr. Arthur Locke, of St. Luke's hospital, ultimately will result in the manufacture of artificial or synthetic insulin so that this treatment for diabetic sufferers may be obtained much cheaper than at present, according to an announcement at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Julius Steiglitz, head of the department of chemistry, said that "positive progress has been made by Dr. Locke in obtaining more potent product from insulin," but added that it could not be predicted how much time may be required before artificial preparation of the product can be accomplished.

On Road To Boneyard

"I have just finished a treatment of your wonderful remedy and can say it has done wonders for me already. For the past five years I have been unable to eat any but the lightest food and that but sparingly, as any food caused me to bloat with gas. I was reduced to a skeleton of ninety pounds, and was on the road to the boneyard. A friend in Birmingham sent me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I took, and I am sure it will entirely cure me of my trouble, judging from what it brought from me and the way I feil." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists everywhere.

Deny Share of Payments Under Dawes Plan.

TREATY ISSUE

Deciares Failure to O. K. Pact Voids $300,000,000 Claim.

PARIS, Dec. — The United States has no legal right to claim a share of the Dawes plan payments from Germany in settlement of the reparations bill, is the opinion of the Belgian government expressed to Le Temps correspondent at Brussels.

In an agreement reached October 25, between French Finance Minister Clementel and Colonel James A. Logan, American unofficial observer on the reparations commission. The French government agreed in principle to the United States participating in the proceeds of the Dawes plan.

"Belgian official circles are disposed to examine American reparations claims in the same generous spirit shown by France," declares the statement to Le Temps. "Brussels is ready to welcome the American demand as a matter of equity, because the great Republic was our ally during the war. But we must decline to admit the American claim as a question of legal right.

"The failure of the United States to ratify the Versailles treaty, and the conclusion of the separate German-American peace treaty at Berlin, makes the American demand inadmissible from a legal standpoint, especially as America could have paid herself by selling the German property sequestered in the United States.

"America's demand being received, however, as a matter of equity, it must be submitted to the same treatment as the other allied claims against Germany.

"The value of the annuities under the Dawes plan is estimated to be 38 billion gold marks, including the expenses of collection. Obviously the American claims can't be deducted from this sum without undergoing a reduction. Otherwise the Spa agreement would not only be destroyed but the very spirit of the Dawes plan, adopted by all the allies, would be violated.

"In justice the United States should accept a reduction of their claims, corresponding in amount to the reduction accepted by the other allies, and the payments to America should be made over a long period of years.

"This is the spirit in which Belgium will approach the American claims which will be made by Colonel Logan at the interallied financial conference opening in Paris January 6."

The American government will present a bill for 2,332 million gold marks at this conference. American reparations demands total $300,000,000, or 1,260 million gold marks. The expenses of the American Army of Occupation amounted to 1,072 million gold marks.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

"I'll try to remember," Mary Bliss said humbly and gratefully.

The woman's clinging devotion touched Karesia's heart; it made her feel less lonely. She began to feel really attached to the poor hapless creature. it was a luxury, stretching herself on the couch and feeling that she was not alone in the house; her perturbation of the night before seemed unreal; she had no hectic fears and less heartache; she would try to give health and happiness to Mary Bliss. And the joy it would be, having a quiet, satisfying presence, John Dascome, next door! She would not allow herself to look farther ahead than that—a friendly neighbor. Suppose she did have to part for a time her precious belongings, her lovely kakemonos.

Karesia lifted her head and looked at the painting that hung at the foot of the couch. . . . Where it should hang! . . . She sat up, brushed away a hazy smoke wreath which seemed to obscure her vision. Then she sprang up, trembling. She gazed first at one blank wall space then at the other, conscious of a sensation of heat, then of cold; they were not there, her valuable Japanese paintings. She even went over and touched the rough plaster. . . . It was true—they were gone. They were there last night—some one had taken them in the night. She had been robbed, after all.

XIV

Her beautiful paintings had been stolen! The shock turned Karesia weak. All the money she had in the house, all her belongings she would have parted from and not have suffered as she was suffering now; those paintings she loved. But who would steal them? Not one person in thousands would even guess their value; only an artist, a connoisseur, or a dealer in oriental treasures. Those paintings were more than two hundred years old and the work of a famous artist of old Japan. There were few Japanese, even, who would realize their value; that was why she had felt so secure in hanging them on any wall, anywhere. Whoever was clever enough to know their value would know how to guard his theft. Her treasures were gone.

The tears rolled down Karesia's cheeks; those mellow paintings had been her friends, soothing and comforting. In the hard hours when she had wept and ached, the sight of them had comforted, made her griefs seem small things, for they had witnessed generations of grief and joy, times of battle and days of peace; the simple home life of the imperial palace, the days of intricate ceremonial, the seasons of cherry bloom, the steady downpours of the nyubai; flowers and incense, the hovering presence of the great Buddha. . . . For a long space Karesia felt merely the misery of loss.

But it stirred in her finally, the despairing feeling that she must make certain that they were not in the house; find out, if possible, how the thief had entered, do something. She searched the house; the windows were latched, all the doors were locked. She remembered that she had left the cabinet swung back the night before.

Karesia searched the other house; all the windows were fastened, the kitchen door was locked, the front door was locked—she remembered that John Dascome had locked it when they came out last night. . . . Karesia came back into her own house and heard the tinkle of silver—Mary Bliss in the kitchen—and a forlorn hope clutched her; the woman was queer and conscientious, perhaps she had taken the paintings down with the idea of dusting them.

Karesia tried to look natural. "Did you dust those long paintings in the front room this morning, Mary?" she asked.

Mary Bliss lifted her filmy eyes to her with a troubled look as if reminded of a duty neglected. "No," she said timidly. "I was afraid to go in there without your telling me. Shall I dust there now?"

"By and by, Mary." No hope there. Not for anything would she have brought the look of terror into the woman's face. A burglary! Mary Bliss would collapse. And yet, the only possible thief Karesia could conceive of was the man Mary Bliss had described to her. The man might have followed her to the house.

Karesia saw no way out other than to call the police, though she would almost rather give up her painting than do that. There must not be any publicity just now; she could not afford it. . . . Then it swept over her, a wave of relief; she felt herself looking into steady gray eyes and receiving quiet counsel. She must tell him, anyway; he had rented her house with the paintings there; he had said that, to him, they made the house worth a double rental. She could telephone.

The Hollywood hotel connected her promptly with Mr. John Dascome's room, and it was his voice that answered, quiet and deep.

"Mr. Dascome—this is Mrs. Kaime——"

"Yes—what has happened?"

"How did you know—anything had happened?" she asked, surprised.

"Your voice. I know touble when I hear it, Mrs. Kaime. What is it?"

"I—I can't tell it very well over the telephone. Could you come to see me?" she asked appealingly.

"Yes—at once." He hung up his receiver before she hung up hers.

XV

Ten minutes late Dascome brought his car to a stop before Karesia's door. She came out on the gallery to meet him.

It's something serious," he said, rather than asked.

"Yes. But we must speak very low, I don't want Mary Bliss—I told you about her last night—I don't want her to hear." She drew him into the house. "My Japanese paintings are gone," she said with a break in her voice. "I think they were stolen last night?"

Dascome glanced at the bare spaces. "I see—but who would steal them? Have you missed anything else?"

"No—that is the strange thing. If only they had taken anything else than my paintings." Her lips quivered and her eyes filled.

"I'll try to remember," Mary Bliss said humbly and gratefully.

The woman's clinging devotion touched Karesia's heart; it made her feel less lonely. She began to feel really attached to the poor hapless creature. It was a luxury, stretching herself on the couch and feeling that she was not alone in the house; her perturbation of the night before seemed unreal; she had no hectic fears and less heartache; she would try to give health and happiness to Mary Bliss. And the joy it would be, having a quiet, satisfying presence, John Dascome, next door! She would not allow herself to look farther ahead than that—a friendly neighbor. Suppose she did have to part for a time her precious belongings, her lovely kakemonos.

Karesia lifted her head and looked at the painting that hung at the foot of the couch. . . . Where it should hang! . . . She sat up, brushed away a hazy smoke wreath which seemed to obscure her vision. Then she sprang up, trembling. She gazed first at one blank wall space then at the other, conscious of a sensation of heat, then of cold; they were not there, her valuable Japanese paintings. She even went over and touched the rough plaster. . . . It was true—they were gone. They were there last night—some one had taken them in the night. She had been robbed, after all.

XIV

Her beautiful paintings had been stolen! The shock turned Karesia weak. All the money she had in the house, all her belongings she would have parted from and not have suffered as she was suffering now; those paintings she loved. But who would steal them? Not one person in thousands would even guess their value; only an artist, a connoisseur, or a dealer in oriental treasures. Those paintings were more than two hundred years old and the work of a famous artist of old Japan. There were few Japanese, even, who would realize their value; that was why she had felt so secure in hanging them on any wall, anywhere. Whoever was clever enough to know their value would know how to guard his theft. Her treasures were gone.

The tears rolled down Karesia's cheeks; those mellow paintings had been her friends, soothing and comforting. In the hard hours when she had wept and ached, the sight of them had comforted, made her griefs seem small things, for they had witnessed generations of grief and joy, times of battle and days of peace; the simple home life of the imperial palace, the days of intricate ceremonial, the seasons of cherry bloom, the steady downpours of the nyubai; flowers and incense, the hovering presence of the great Buddha. . . . For a long space Karesia felt merely the misery of loss.

But it stirred in her finally, the despairing feeling that she must make certain that they were not in the house; find out, if possible, how the thief had entered, do something. BAN ON ALL MOTOR HORNS IN JERUSALEM

Bells Must Replace Ear-splitters, is Official Edict.

SPEEDERS WARNED

Taxicab Drivers Have Much in Common With U. S. Brethren.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The growth of motor traffic in Palestine since the war has increased so greatly that the municipal government of Jerusalem has taken steps to curb the mad careening of automobiles through the crowded streets and the harsh honking of horns, which are distasteful to a population accustomed to living in the medieval quaintness and quiet, which were characteristic of the Holy City before its modernization began.

A report received by the Palestine Foundation Fund from Jerusalem states that the government of Jerusalem has issued decrees handing out drastic punishments for speeding and reckless driving, and stipulating that, after January 1, all automobile horns must be replaced by bells. The latter, the government declares, are more in harmony with the spirit of Jerusalem.

Taxicabs, which formerly reaped a harvest by getting any fare they could, are now required by governmental decrees to post the regulation tariffs on their cars in the three official languages of the country—Hebrew, Arabic and English—and severe punishment will be meted out to all drivers who attempt to charge more than the legal rate.

That taxicab drivers of the Holy City have much in common with their New York brethren is disclosed by an editorial in the Palestine weekly, the principal English paper of the Holy Land, which comments upon the government's action as follows:

"Drivers of public conveyances in the Holy City have in the past maintained an ultra-autocratic rule of the road, and their behavior has until now been visited by no official admonition. Charges for drives for quite insignificant distances have been extremely exhorbitant, and the unfortunate fares who did insist upon examining the tariff were all too frequently subjected to abuse and shown the intricacies of extensive vocabularies of vituperation."

Pottsville Flock Say Prayers Saved Life Of Prominent Girl

POTTSVILLE, Pa.—Miss Helen Savidge, daughter of the Rev. W. F. Savidge, of this city, has recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia by what church members believe to be a direct answer to prayer. Two nurses in attendance state that many patients not as sick as Miss Savidge had died from pneumonia.

For three weeks church members have been praying for Miss Savidge as her life hung in the balance.

A baby carriage that may be folded into a package resembling a suit case has been invented.

AUSTRIAN WOMAN DECLARES HER HUSBAND WAS ZEPPELIN INVENTOR

Asserts German Count Paid Her Royalties for Time, and Then Stopped Them.

VIENNA.—That the Zeppelin is not the invention of the famous Count Zeppelin, but that the "rigid" system was the idea of David Schwartz, an Austrian, who died in 1894, is the claim of the Neues Wiener Journal, a Viennese evening newspaper.

To bolster up its claim the newspaper publishes an interview with the widow of the deceased engineer, Frau Melaine Schwartz, who states that in 1894 her husband offered his invention to the Austrian government, but without success.

On January 13 of that year he was on the point of going to Berlin to show his invention, when he dropped dead from apoplexy.

His widow states that she did not feel equal to the task of continuing his efforts, but a foreign power sent experts to witness a demonstration of the invention. On noticing that a photographic apparatus had been secreted in the hall, however, she states that she left immediately, and would not conduct the experiment.

She then approached Count Zeppelin, who was a great friend of the family, and, after much dickering, he acquired the Schwartz patent from the Austrian government on the basis of an agreement for thirty years, which gave him unlimited use of the ...'s invention.

...eppelin paid her and her three children certain sums for some time; but after he had become famous and a national hero, she visited him at Friedrichshafen, when he declared that he could not pay her any more money, as the Germans almost universally believed by that time the "Zeppelin" was his invention, and that his payments might be looked upon as "hush money."

Frau Schwartz sates that the priority of her husband's invention can be proved by documentary evidence, although she does not deny that the airship has been greatly improved by many years' work of self-seorificing experts.

Survey Shows Cotton Blankets Fully as Warm as Wool

WASHINGTON.—Cotton blankets are as warm as those of wool, according to a survey of bed clothing by the United States Bureau of Standards.

In comparing cotton blankets with woolen ones, the bureau found no significant difference in the heat resistance of in the resistance to the passage of air or moisture.

Cotton blankets, however, it was explained, are apt to be stiffer than wool and fit less closely around the neck. They also have the undesirable property of absorbing moisture, whereas wool repels it.

"On the other hand," officials said, "cotton blankets are much cheaper. It is believed they could be used to good advantage in doors, with sheets, while the advantages of woolen blankets are most pronounced for camping."

Blankets of moderate density were found to be most effective for retaining heat, when not exposed to air currents. Heavyweight blankets proved more effective in keeping out the wind.

Owls have been introduced on Lord Howe Island, in the South seas, to kill rats that have made the island practically a desert by destroying palm seed and virtually exterminated the insect-eating birds by eating birds by eating eggs and nestlings.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Young Mother is Lonely.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young mother of three little boys and am very lonesome. My husband is pleasant once in a while, but again he is not at all. His mother has moved to town for the winter and I certainly do miss her. She was always pleasant and thought a lot of me. Now I have no one to care for me. I try to be gentle and pleasant with my husband, but it is awfully hard. I don't feel angry by any means, but my feelings are hurt. I have everything I want, but there is some one else who has his love. As you may know my home is not pleasant, although I try to make it happy for my children so that they may have a good time. My husband deceives me in every way and drinks, too, although he doesn't get drunk and I am thankful for that. He isn't pleasant except when he has a drink. I have said I would leave him with the children, but it would be hard for me to go somewhere and not know about them. Then I would always be worrying. What would you advise me to do? He treats my people as if they were dogs when they come to visit me, which is not often. He hasn't cause to do so for he has not been treated that way at their home and neither have I treated his people in such manner. I really do more for hispeople than mine.

LONESOME MOTHER, M. E.

You wouldn't be happy a minute if you left your home and children and so the only course for you to follow is to remain where you are and make the best of the situation, realizing all the time that doing the best one knows how will bring good results sooner or later. Center your life about the children, ignoring as much as possible your husband's unkindness so that you will be able to keep harmony in the home. You will have to teach yourself to be unmoved by his conduct so that your spirit won't be broken. Probably you will find that your husband's love for the other woman is infatuation. He may go from her to some one else. But I am confident as the years pass he will turn more and more to you and his family. By keeping very busy you can do much to blot out your loneliness and unhappiness. In the evenings read and write letters. You will also find it reaps rich reward to read and be a companion to the children. The fact that you and your mother-in-law mean so much to each other speaks well for you. It is an argument that your husband is really at fault and that although there may be two sides to the story his side is weak.

Should She Write Former Lover?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 29 years old and have had a lot of trouble in my married life. My husband ran with other women and he never gave me any money. We have been parted two years and he is planning to be married as soon as I get a divorce. I will get it in December. My heart hurts but I guess this is the only thing to do. There is a young man I went with who is still single and he seemed to like me. I believe he would make a good husband, but he drinks a little. Would it be my place to write to him or not?

BROKEN-HEARTED.

It would not be your place to write to your former sweetheart. Simply trust that if he still loves you he will keep in touch with you enough to learn that you have a divorce. Besides the very fact that he drinks is enough to keep you from marrying him. Do not set about to find another husband because you have lost your first. Marriage is a serious matter and you should be very sure the next time you marry that you are not making a mistake.

Forgive Or Forget.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been a widow for a number of years and am keeping boarders and roomers to earn my way in the world. There is a man staying in my home who has been with us for several years and whom I have loved very dearly. He has told me numberless times that he loved me also. He has been very good to me and has been an ideal friend in every way until recently when he went out with degraded women from the shop where he works. He even brought their disgrace and filth into our home. Since I found this out I am so disgusted with him I am heart sick. I can't sit at the table to eat where he is or even stay in the house when I know he is there. But, what can I do? I can't make him leave for we are business partners in the property where we live and also in other property and money. Should I break up the home to dissolve partnership? Or what should I do? He has begged me to forgive him and not put him out. He says he will never again cause me such trouble. I have tried to forgive and forget but I am afraid I never can. I can never trust him again as before and I don't feel I want to be a business partner with him.

TROUBLED.

It is quite probable that you could put out your boarder if he is bringing disgrace to your home. Such a matter should be handled through an attorney and I would advise you to get legal advice if you really want to dissolve the partnership. If you are merely upset because of what you have discovered but in spite of it would like to give the man another chance, drop the matter entirely. Sit at the table as you did formerly and to all appearances forgive and forget. You will keep yourself and everyone else miserable if you continue to show resentment and nothing will be gained by such an attitude. Clear up the matter at once either by getting rid of the man or dropping the unpleasant thing.

Cold and Distant Nature.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 21 years old and have been married two years. All that detracts from perfect happiness is my cold, distant nature. Although I love him very much I do not show it and would like to have you advise me how I can assure him that I really care much more than is apparent. We are now just beginning to understand each other and this is all that stands between us. MARCIA.

You must force yourself to be more demonstrative even if it is contrary to your nature. Don't keep the loving thoughts you feel toward your husband shut up within your own heart. Tell him that you are happy with him and how much you love him. Meet him at the door with a kiss every night, and in the morning kiss him when he leaves for work. It may be hard for you at first to go to him with your love, but in a short time you will be less self-conscious and will enjoy the new warmth in your relationship.

The custom of permambulating the borough boundaries by the Mayor of Morpeth, England, was recently revived, and he had to use a ladder to climb walls now built over the boundary lines.

Cold and Distant Nature.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 21 years old and have been married two years. All that detracts from perfect happiness is my cold, distant nature. Although I love him very much I do not show it and would like to have you advise me how I can assure him that I really care much more than is apparent. We are now just beginning to understand each other and this is all that stands between us. MARCIA.

You must force yourself to be more demonstrative even if it is contrary to your nature. Don't keep the loving thoughts you feel toward your husband shut up within your own heart. Tell him that you are happy with him and how much you love him. Meet him at the door with a kiss every night, and in the morning kiss him when he leaves for work. It may be hard for you at first to go to him with your love, but in a short time you will be less self-conscious and will enjoy the new warmth in your relationship.

The custom of permambulating the borough boundaries by the Mayor of Morpeth, England, was recently revived, and he had to use a ladder to climb walls now built over the boundary lines.

Runyon Says

Here's Some Sad College News.
It's About a "Cussing" Eleven.
They Call Opponents Vile Names.
Braves Once Went "Goat Getting."
McGraw Doesn't Have To Swear.

By DAMON RUNYON

YOU who like to think of college as a place of culture and refinement will be shocked by the information imparted to this writer not long ago by a once-famous football player at one of our largest and most important colleges.

He was relating the practice of the football players of another college in the same gridiron group as his own of talking profanely to their opponents during a game, calling them vile names.

Usually they picked out one or two stars, that they judged of sentisive fibre, as the targets of their obscenity. After the game they would casually apologize for their indecencies.

Their idea—or more probably the idea of their coach—was to "get the goats" of the men at whom the language was directed, to make them angry. The theory is that when a man is angry he can't display the full measure of his ability in football or anything else.

You would be positively horrified if the writer told you the name of the college where the players were given to this quaint practice in the famous player's time.

It may have died out since then. But his time was only a few years ago and he says to the best of his information and belief the custom endures.

He repeated some of the language he has heard drifting his way out of the opposing line in the days when his team played against it. A man would be hurled ignominiously from the lowest dive in the "Roaring Forties" for uttering half of it.

The name of the former player who told it is known in football circles all over the country.

He spoke of the practice, not as one imparting scandal, but to illustrate the length to which some football teams and coaches will go to produce victories.

A number of former football players, famous in their gridiron days, heard his statement. They didn't seem surprised. Obviously, the practice was quite familiar to them.

But to this reporter, accustomed, hardened to many strange customs in professional sport, it came as a surprise. He thought college football, of all games, preserves the ethics of sportsmanship to the letter.

Some men, especially in athletics, or anything that involves a display of physical strength and courage, are at their best when they are angry—when they are "seeing red."

They picked, among others, Eddie Collins, quiet, gentlemanly second-baseman of Mack's club, and then Frank Baker, then called the "Home Run King." How remote Baker and his title, based on eight or ten home runs, now seems in these days of Babe Ruth, with his mark of fifty-nine!

Whenever any of the Boston young men walked near those players they called them names usually indicated in print by dashes. This proceeding was naturally most surprising to Collins and Baker. They made no reply. Probably it was not in them to think of a fting reply to such an attack.

He is of the opinion that the thing that got ALL the Athletic "goats" that year was the pitching of Rudolph, Tyler and James.

Not every man indicates that he has lost his "goat" by an outburst of temper. Some men simply sulk, or lose heart. The world of sport calls that "dogging it." Sport goes to the animal kingdom for many similes.

They are both peculiarly susceptible to epithets. Call either of these distinguished gentlemen a name and you have to fight. That is their code.

And there is no doubt that for a short time "losing their goats" affects the playing of both Cobb and Ruth.

Collins Enters Select Group of High-Paid Stars

Will Be Compelled to Eke Out Living On $25,000 Salary

By Davis J. Walsh.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Edward T. Collins, probably the greatest second baseman baseball has known, will contrive to eke out an existence next seasons at a salary of $25,000 as player-manager of the Chicago White Sox, according to information bandied about today among baseball men as they departed for home.

Collins thus entered the small but select group of baseball's "heavy sugar" boys, the conterie including Messrs. Ruth, McGraw, Cobb and Hornsby.

No other ball player or manager is believed to draw more than $20,000 a year. Charles A. Comiskey, who is not inclined to be careless with important money, will look for Collins to make good on the investment. The lenghth of Edward's contract, one year, is the tip-off on Comiskey's attitude. Never before has he paid an employee more than $15,000 a year. The present arrangement would prove somewhat irksome to him if the White Sox were chronic losers under Collins.

Collins, of course, will get a fair trial. In fact he probably will receive better financial support than any manager outside New York, for Comisky has told friends that he will back Collins to the limit, even to the extent of paying as much for a good minor league prospect as he did for Willie Kamm, to wit, $100,000.

At the same time he admits that he can not really buy what the Sox needed last year—a hustling ball club. Johnny Evers was dropped down in a tough spot when Frank Chance died. The going became rougher as the campaign progressed. There seemed to be quite a few ball players in Chicago who wouldn't win for Evers. The White Sox, even though they lacked consistent pitching and a short stop, were not a last place ball club on paper.

Nearly every baseball man the writer has talked to expects Collins to do better with the White Sox than they did last season. The Sox finished last, but he must have a shortstop and the tip is out that Comiskey will shortly indulge himself in another costly minor league purchase.

M. P. PASSERS COP TWO GAMES

First Methodist Protestant basketball teams, Juniors and Intermediates, were victorious over Christian church aggregations last night in Sunday school league contests on the M. P. floor. In the prelim, the M. P. Juniors easily won by the score of 30 to 13, while the Intermediates came through with a 42 to 20 conquest.

The M. P. five had things practically its own way, getting a seven-point lead before the opposition had found the basket. The Christians' efforts in the first quarter produced only a field goal, the count at the end of the quarter being 7-2. The M. P.'s increased their margin in the second period to 10 points, the tally standing 17 to 7 at the half.

In the third quarter the M. P. passers had the ball so frequently that the Christians scored only one point. In this period the M. P. quintet ran the score to 28 to 8. The Christians, however, held their own in the concluding canto, scoring 13 to their foe's 14 points.

Mackey starred for the winners, registering nine field goals and four fouls. Wilson, Todd and Carey figured in the M. P. scoring also. Owens was the principal point maker for the losers, while Lamping, O'Neill and Heddleston also performed well.

The lineups:

First M. P.		First Christian.
C. Mackey	F.	Kilmer
Wilson	F.	Bloor
Todd	C.	Lamping
Welkart	G.	Heddleston
Carey	G.	O'Neill

M. P. Juniors		Christian Juniors
Burke	F.	Lindell
Bettridge	F.	Gregg
Bailey	C.	A. Earl
Boyd	G.	Watring
Ankrim	G.	Earl

Substitution—Angus for Bettridge.

LOCAL LADS MAY LAND PLACES ON STOOPS' SQUAD

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va., December 19.—"Jinks" Hamilton, East Liverpool boy, and Raymond Stephens, both graduates of Chester High school, are out for positions on this year's basketball five at West Liberty Normal.

Hamilton is showing speed at a forward position, and handles the ball as easily as any member of the squad. He is a good shot from any angle of the floor, and has a good chance to make this season's team.

Stephens is out for the center position, and is working hard to cop this position. He is a good floor roamer and passer, and under the work of Coach Stoops he is fast rounding into form. This position is being worked into by Kiger, football star of the past season and Stephens both showing wonderful playing form.

O'GATTY WILL BATTLE STOY

Packy O'Gatty, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be Rosy Stoy's opponent tonight in the Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown, according to announcement received here today from Matchmaker Al Zill.

Stoy was to have met Irish Johnny Curtin, but Curtin called off the scrap as a result of injuries he sustained in his scrap at New York the other night with Frankie Fasano. Curtin's handlers made every effort to patch up Curtin's injured eye, but their efforts were fruitless.

Zill tried to line up Fasano, who applied the touches to Curtin's eye, but couldn't get him, while repeated efforts were made also to sign Charlies Goodman, Benny Gershe, Jackie Nichols and others. Zill finally got his hands on Packy O'Gatty, and Packy, who was billed at one other time to meet Stoy, and who claims that Stoy ran out on the fight, came to terms.

Midget Mike O'Dowd will take on Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland, in the simi-final, and Eddie Bowen, of Sharon, will tackle Eddie Grant. The latter holds a decision over O'Dowd. Sammy Marisco and Young Meenahan, bitter rivals, will meet in the preliminary.

CENTRAL LEAGUE REORGANIZATION MEET IS CALLED

WHEELING, Dec. 19—The old Central league will be reorganized at a meeting of baseball men in Pittsburgh Saturday. This definite information was forthcoming from business men yesterday afternoon, a prominent local sportsman said. The old minor league, having an "on again off again," history, will be a real go, it is said. The meeting of the baseball men will be held in the Fort Pitt hotel and representatives of the 10 cities will be in attendance.

The prominent local sportsman and business man, connected with the coal industry, will represent Wheeling at the meeting and will try to land a franchise for the city. At this time he desires no publicity and will continue to work with the confidence of but a few other associates who may become interested in backing a minor league team for Wheeling, once again.

The league will be organized with eight clubs. The eight most prominently mentioned are: Erie, Altoona, Johnstown and Oil City, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va., Canton, Akron and Youngstown, Ohio.

Play At Fulton.

If Wheeling is entered in the league, and it looks as though it will be entered the home club will play at Fulton, in the park used by the Bauers last season. This park is conveniently located and is accessible easily by both street car and automobile. It would be a proper location for the diamond.

Pittsburgh sportsmen have been trying to organize the old Central league for the past two years but have been unsuccessful. From all indications, however, the league will be organized this coming year—Wheeling or no Wheeling.

Ohio Legislators To Consider Bill Licensing Anglers

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—A new license bill fixing the fisherman's license at 50 cents a year, exempting persons under 17 years of age and stipulating the revenue shall be used for building fish hatcheries and re-stocking Ohio streams with millions of game fish, will be introduced at the session of the state legislature this winter it was announced here today by officials of the league of Ohio sportsmen.

CANTON QUINTET STARTS SEASON

Rex McConnell's all-Masonic basketball team, the Canton Travelers, one of the few Masonic fives in existence, Wednesday invaded Columbiana county for the first time this season, playing the Nash Motors at Lisbon.

The Travelers jumped to Lisbon from Cadiz where they played the night previous. The schedule as prepared by McConnell this year takes the club into the states of West Virginia and Pennsylvania and includes many Ohio contests. Last season the club traveled more than 3,000 miles to complete its card.

On the team are ex-high school and former college players, including Pete Rate, formerly of the Canton Bulldogs. McConnell, manager and booking manager, who organized the team, was identified with local amateur sports for many years.

Highs Play Newell Today; Face F. & M. Quintet Next

Real Test Ahead for Blue and White in Contest Saturday With Sam Taylor's Academy Cagers From Lancaster, Pa.

Following practically two weeks' intensive drill work, which included a game with the Sewickley, Pa., scholastic five here, Coach O. V. Boone's school cagers will tackle George Kidder's Newell high quintet this afternoon on the local gym floor as an appetizer prior to their basketball entree tomorrow with Franklin & Marshall Academy outfit, of Lancaster, Pa.

This afternoon's engagement is scheduled for 4 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, according to Manager Bruce Perry.

The clash with the Newellites is expected to prove no more troublesome than the contest with Sewickley here a week ago, in which the Blue and White triumphed by the count of 40 to 10.

But the game with the Franklin & Marshall prep schoolers who are directed by Sam Taylor, former local athlete, is counted on to produce something definite in the nature of a test for the locals.

Boone is confident that the new members of the squad playing with the veterans English, Liebschner and McConville, will come through, however, satisfactorily.

CHESTER TO PUT ON MITT PROGRAM

Three boxing matches and a wrestling scrap are listed as the attractions on Chester's first public exhibition of fisticuffs in many seasons, scheduled for Dec. 26 at Ward's garage, Second and Virginia avenue.

K. O. Sweeney and Frank Medo of Chester are listed as the main bouters. K. O. Smith of Chester and Harry Heckathorne of this city, will meet in the semi-final. Harry McCluskey of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Kid Wood of East Liverpool will be the preliminary artists. George Sprawunsky of Chester and Hugie Porson of Middle Run will display their grappling ability.

Two hundred thousand Canadians emigrated to the United States last year.

McGraw Doesn't Have To Swear.

By DAMON RUNYON

YOU who like to think of college as a place of culture and refinement will be shocked by the information imparted to this writer not long ago by a once-famous football player at one of our largest and most important colleges.

He was relating the practice of the football players of another college in the same gridiron group as his own of talking profanely to their opponents during a game, calling them vile names.

Usually they picked out one or two stars, that they judged of sentisive fibre, as the targets of their obscenity. After the game they would casually apologize for their indecencies.

Their idea—or more probably the idea of their coach—was to "get the goats" of the men at whom the language was directed, to make them angry. The theory is that when a man is angry he can't display the full measure of his ability in football or anything else.

You would be positively horrified if the writer told you the name of the college where the players were given to this quaint practice in the famous player's time.

It may have died out since then. But his time was only a few years ago and he says to the best of his information and belief the custom endures.

He repeated some of the language he has heard drifting his way out of the opposing line in the days when his team played against it. A man would be hurled ignominiously from the lowest dive in the "Roaring Forties" for uttering half of it.

The name of the former player who told it is known in football circles all over the country.

He is a young man of dignity — of standing.

He spoke of the practice, not as one imparting scandal, but to illustrate the length to which some football teams and coaches will go to produce victories.

A number of former football players, famous in their gridiron days, heard his statement. They didn't seem surprised. Obviously, the practice was quite familiar to them.

But to this reporter, accustomed, hardened to many strange customs in professional sport, it came as a surprise. He thought college football, of all games, preserves the ethics of sportsmanship to the letter.

He was relieved when the former football player later said that the offending college is an exception.

That's an old theory that in making an opponent angry—by "getting his goat"—you reduce his efficiency.

It's an old theory and not entirely true.

Some men, especially in athletics, or anything that involves a display of physical strength and courage, are at their best when they are angry—when they are "seeing red."

They may not be able to THINK as clearly with their brains muddled with ire. But anger, and sometimes physical hurt, gives some men twice their ordinary strength, twice their ordinary vigor.

And the practice of calling an opponent vile names to arouse his anger, to "get his goat," is so ancient, that it has long since been discarded in our best professional circles.

It is always unsportsmanlike. Often it is quite silly.

When the Boston Braves of 1914 went into the world's series against the Athletics, some of Stallings' bright young men picked several of the Athletics as sensitive souls, susceptible to "goat-getting."

They picked, among others, Eddie Collins, quiet, gentlemanly second-baseman of Mack's club, and then Frank Baker, then called the "Home Run King." How remote Baker and his title, based on eight or ten home runs, now seems in these days of Babe Ruth, with his mark of fifty-nine!

Whenever any of the Boston young men walked near those players they called them names usually indicated in print by dashes. This proceeding was naturally most surprising to Collins and Baker. They made no reply. Probably it was not in them to think of a fting reply to such an attack.

He is of the opinion that the thing that got ALL the Athletic "goats" that year was the pitching of Rudolph, Tyler and James.

Your "goat" sometimes called "nanny," is your self-control.

The origin of the term "goat" is not clear, though everybody knows the meaning.

Not every man indicates that he has lost his "goat" by an outburst of temper. Some men simply sulk, or lose heart. The world of sport calls that "dogging it." Sport goes to the animal kingdom for many similes.

Perhaps it comes from the fact that when a real goat gets lost from its accustomed surroundings it runs around wild-eyed, blathering "ma-ah," with no apparent sense of direction, butting foolishly at anyone who tries to help it.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, "the jewel of Georgia," and the great Babe Ruth, have what you might term loosely tethered "goats."

They are both peculiarly susceptible to epithets. Call either of these distinguished gentlemen a name and you have to fight. That is their code.

And there is no doubt that for a short time "losing their goats" affects the playing of both Cobb and Ruth.

Collins Enters Select Group of High-Paid Stars

Will Be Compelled to Eke Out Living On $25,000 Salary

By Davis J. Walsh.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Edward T. Collins, probably the greatest second baseman baseball has known, will contrive to eke out an existence next seasons at a salary of $25,000 as player-manager of the Chicago White Sox, according to information bandied about today among baseball men as they departed for home.

Collins thus entered the small but select group of baseball's "heavy sugar" boys, the conterie including Messrs. Ruth, McGraw, Cobb and Hornsby.

No other ball player or manager is believed to draw more than $20,000 a year. Charles A. Comiskey, who is not inclined to be careless with important money, will look for Collins to make good on the investment. The lenghth of Edward's contract, one year, is the tip-off on Comiskey's attitude. Never before has he paid an employee more than $15,000 a year. The present arrangement would prove somewhat irksome to him if the White Sox were chronic losers under Collins.

Collins, of course, will get a fair trial. In fact he probably will receive better financial support than any manager outside New York, for Comisky has told friends that he will back Collins to the limit, even to the extent of paying as much for a good minor league prospect as he did for Willie Kamm, to wit, $100,000.

At the same time he admits that he can not really buy what the Sox needed last year—a hustling ball club. Johnny Evers was dropped down in a tough spot when Frank Chance died. The going became rougher as the campaign progressed. There seemed to be quite a few ball players in Chicago who wouldn't win for Evers. The White Sox, even though they lacked consistent pitching and a short stop, were not a last place ball club on paper.

Nearly every baseball man the writer has talked to expects Collins to do better with the White Sox than they did last season. The Sox finished last, but he must have a shortstop and the tip is out that Comiskey will shortly indulge himself in another costly minor league purchase.

M. P. PASSERS COP TWO GAMES

First Methodist Protestant basketball teams, Juniors and Intermediates, were victorious over Christian church aggregations last night in Sunday school league contests on the M. P. floor. In the prelim, the M. P. Juniors easily won by the score of 30 to 13, while the Intermediates came through with a 42 to 20 conquest.

The M. P. five had things practically its own way, getting a seven-point lead before the opposition had found the basket. The Christians' efforts in the first quarter produced only a field goal, the count at the end of the quarter being 7-2. The M. P.'s increased their margin in the second period to 10 points, the tally standing 17 to 7 at the half.

In the third quarter the M. P. passers had the ball so frequently that the Christians scored only one point. In this period the M. P. quintet ran the score to 28 to 8. The Christians, however, held their own in the concluding canto, scoring 13 to their foe's 14 points.

Mackey starred for the winners, registering nine field goals and four fouls. Wilson, Todd and Carey figured in the M. P. scoring also. Owens was the principal point maker for the losers, while Lamping, O'Neill and Heddleston also performed well.

The lineups:

First M. P.		First Christian.
C. Mackey	F.	Kilmer
Wilson	F.	Bloor
Todd	C.	Lamping
Weikart	G.	Heddleston
Carey	G.	O'Neill

M. P. Juniors		Christian Juniors
Burke	F.	Lindell
Bettridge	F.	Gregg
Bailey	C.	A. Earl
Boyd	G.	Watring
Ankrim	G.	Earl

Substitution—Angus for Bettridge.

Field goals—Burke 4, Angus 4, Bailey 2, Ankrim 2, Lindell 3, A. Earl 2.

LOCAL LADS MAY LAND PLACES ON STOOPS' SQUAD

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va., December 19.—"Jinks" Hamilton, East Liverpool boy, and Raymond Stephens, both graduates of Chester High school, are out for positions on this year's basketball five at West Liberty Normal.

Hamilton is showing speed at a forward position, and handles the ball as easily as any member of the squad. He is a good shot from any angle of the floor, and has a good chance to make this season's team.

Stephens is out for the center position, and is working hard to cop this position. He is a good floor roamer and passer, and under the work of Coach Stoops he is fast rounding into form. This position is being worked into by Kiger, football star of the past season and Stephens both showing wonderful playing form.

O'GATTY WILL BATTLE STOY

Packy O'Gatty, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be Rosy Stoy's opponent tonight in the Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown, according to announcement received here today from Matchmaker Al Zill.

Stoy was to have met Irish Johnny Curtin, but Curtin called off the scrap as a result of injuries he sustained in his scrap at New York the other night with Frankie Fasano. Curtin's handlers made every effort to patch up Curtin's injured eye, but their efforts were fruitless.

Zill tried to line up Fasano, who applied the touches to Curtin's eye, but couldn't get him, while repeated efforts were made also to sign Charlies Goodman, Benny Gershe, Jackie Nichols and others. Zill finally got his hands on Packy O'Gatty, and Packy, who was billed at one other time to meet Stoy, and who claims that Stoy ran out on the fight, came to terms.

Midget Mike O'Dowd will take on Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland, in the simi-final, and Eddie Bowen, of Sharon, will tackle Eddie Grant. The latter holds a decision over O'Dowd. Sammy Marisco and Young Meenahan, bitter rivals, will meet in the preliminary.

CENTRAL LEAGUE REORGANIZATION MEET IS CALLED

WHEELING, Dec. 19—The old Central league will be reorganized at a meeting of baseball men in Pittsburgh Saturday. This definite information was forthcoming from business men yesterday afternoon, a prominent local sportsman said. The old minor league, having an "on again off again," history, will be a real go, it is said. The meeting of the baseball men will be held in the Fort Pitt hotel and representatives of the 10 cities will be in attendance.

The prominent local sportsman and business man, connected with the coal industry, will represent Wheeling at the meeting and will try to land a franchise for the city. At this time he desires no publicity and will continue to work with the confidence of but a few other associates who may become interested in backing a minor league team for Wheeling, once again.

The league will be organized with eight clubs. The eight most prominently mentioned are: Erie, Altoona, Johnstown and Oil City, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va., Canton, Akron and Youngstown, Ohio.

Play At Fulton.

If Wheeling is entered in the league, and it looks as though it will be entered the home club will play at Fulton, in the park used by the Bauers last season. This park is conveniently located and is accessible easily by both street car and automobile. It would be a proper location for the diamond.

Pittsburgh sportsmen have been trying to organize the old Central league for the past two years but have been unsuccessful. From all indications, however, the league will be organized this coming year—Wheeling or no Wheeling.

Ohio Legislators To Consider Bill Licensing Anglers

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—A new license bill fixing the fisherman's license at 50 cents a year, exempting persons under 17 years of age and stipulating the revenue shall be used for building fish hatcheries and re-stocking Ohio streams with millions of game fish, will be introduced at the session of the state legislature this winter it was announced here today by officials of the league of Ohio sportsmen.

CANTON QUINTET STARTS SEASON

Rex McConnell's all-Masonic basketball team, the Canton Travelers, one of the few Masonic fives in existence, Wednesday invaded Columbiana county for the first time this season, playing the Nash Motors at Lisbon.

The Travelers jumped to Lisbon from Cadiz where they played the night previous. The schedule as prepared by McConnell this year takes the club into the states of West Virginia and Pennsylvania and includes many Ohio contests. Last season the club traveled more than 3,000 miles to complete its card.

On the team are ex-high school and former college players, including Pete Rate, formerly of the Canton Bulldogs. McConnell, manager and booking manager, who organized the team, was identified with local amateur sports for many years.

Highs Play Newell Today; Face F. & M. Quintet Next

Real Test Ahead for Blue and White in Contest Saturday With Sam Taylor's Academy Cagers From Lancaster, Pa.

Following practically two weeks' intensive drill work, which included a game with the Sewickley, Pa., scholastic five here, Coach O. V. Boone's school cagers will tackle George Kidder's Newell high quintet this afternoon on the local gym floor as an appetizer prior to their basketball entree tomorrow with Franklin & Marshall Academy outfit, of Lancaster, Pa.

This afternoon's engagement is scheduled for 4 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, according to Manager Bruce Perry.

The clash with the Newellites is expected to prove no more troublesome than the contest with Sewickley here a week ago, in which the Blue and White triumphed by the count of 40 to 10.

But the game with the Franklin & Marshall prep schoolers who are directed by Sam Taylor, former local athlete, is counted on to produce something definite in the nature of a test for the locals.

Boone is confident that the new members of the squad playing with the veterans English, Liebschner and McConville, will come through, however, satisfactorily.

CHESTER TO PUT ON MITT PROGRAM

Three boxing matches and a wrestling scrap are listed as the attractions on Chester's first public exhibition of fisticuffs in many seasons, scheduled for Dec. 26 at Ward's garage, Second and Virginia avenue.

K. O. Sweeney and Frank Medo of Chester are listed as the main bouters. K. O. Smith of Chester and Harry Heckathorne of this city, will meet in the semi-final. Harry McCluskey of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Kid Wood of East Liverpool will be the preliminary artists. George Sprawunsky of Chester and Hugie Porson of Middle Run will display their grappling ability.

Two hundred thousand Canadians emigrated to the United States last year.

P.'s increased their margin in the second period to 10 points, the tally standing 17 to 7 at the half.

In the third quarter the M. P. passers had the ball so frequently that the Christians scored only one point. In this period the M. P. quintet ran the score to 28 to 8. The Christians, however, held their own in the concluding canto, scoring 13 to their foe's 14 points.

Mackey starred for the winners, registering nine field goals and four fouls. Wilson, Todd and Carey figured in the M. P. scoring also. Owens was the principal point maker for the losers, while Lamping, O'Neill and Heddleston also performed well.

The lineups:

First M. P.		First Christian.
C. Mackey	F	Kilmer
Wilson	F	Bloor
Todd	C	Lamping
Weikart	G	Heddleston
Carey	G	O'Neill

M. P. Juniors		Christian Juniors
Burke	F	Lindell
Bettridge	F	Gregg
Bailey	C	A. Earl
Boyd	G	Watring
Ankrim	G	Earl

Substitution—Angus for Bettridge.

Field goals—Burke 4, Angus 4, Bailey 2, Ankrim 2, Lindell 3, A. Earl 2.

LOCAL LADS MAY LAND PLACES ON STOOPS' SQUAD

WEST LIBERTY, W. Va., December 19.—"Jinks" Hamilton, East Liverpool boy, and Raymond Stephens, both graduates of Chester High school, are out for positions on this year's basketball five at West Liberty Normal.

Hamilton is showing speed at a forward position, and handles the ball as easily as any member of the squad. He is a good shot from any angle of the floor, and has a good chance to make this season's team.

Stephens is out for the center position, and is working hard to cop this position. He is a good floor roamer and passer, and under the work of Coach Stoops he is fast rounding into form. This position is being worked into by Kiger, football star of the past season and Stephens both showing wonderful playing form.

O'GATTY WILL BATTLE STOY

Packy O'Gatty, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be Rosy Stoy's opponent tonight in the Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown, according to announcement received here today from Matchmaker Al Zill.

Stoy was to have met Irish Johnny Curtin, but Curtin called off the scrap as a result of injuries he sustained in his scrap at New York the other night with Frankie Fasano. Curtin's handlers made every effort to patch up Curtin's injured eye, but their efforts were fruitless.

Zill tried to line up Fasano, who applied the touches to Curtin's eye, but couldn't get him, while repeated efforts were made also to sign Charlies Goodman, Benny Gershe, Jackie Nichols and others. Zill finally got his hands on Packy O'Gatty, and Packy, who was billed at one other time to meet Stoy, and who claims that Stoy ran out on the fight, came to terms.

Midget Mike O'Dowd will take on Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland, in the simi-final, and Eddie Bowen, of Sharon, will tackle Eddie Grant. The latter holds a decision over O'Dowd. Sammy Marisco and Young Meenahan, bitter rivals, will meet in the preliminary.

CENTRAL LEAGUE REORGANIZATION MEET IS CALLED

WHEELING, Dec. 19—The old Central league will be reorganized at a meeting of baseball men in Pittsburgh Saturday. This definite information was forthcoming from business men yesterday afternoon, a prominent local sportsman said. The old minor league, having an "on again off again," history, will be a real go, it is said. The meeting of the baseball men will be held in the Fort Pitt hotel and representatives of the 10 cities will be in attendance.

The prominent local sportsman and business man, connected with the coal industry, will represent Wheeling at the meeting and will try to land a franchise for the city. At this time he desires no publicity and will continue to work with the confidence of but a few other associates who may become interested in backing a minor league team for Wheeling, once again.

The league will be organized with eight clubs. The eight most prominently mentioned are: Erie, Altoona, Johnstown and Oil City, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va., Canton, Akron and Youngstown, Ohio.

Play At Fulton.

If Wheeling is entered in the league, and it looks as though it will be entered the home club will play at Fulton, in the park used by the Bauers last season. This park is conveniently located and is accessible easily by both street car and automobile. It would be a proper location for the diamond.

Pittsburgh sportsmen have been trying to organize the old Central league for the past two years but have been unsuccessful. From all indications, however, the league will be organized this coming year—Wheeling or no Wheeling.

Ohio Legislators To Consider Bill Licensing Anglers

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—A new license bill fixing the fisherman's license at 50 cents a year, exempting persons under 17 years of age and stipulating the revenue shall be used for building fish hatcheries and re-stocking Ohio streams with millions of game fish, will be introduced at the session of the state legislature this winter it was announced here today by officials of the league of Ohio sportsmen.

CANTON QUINTET STARTS SEASON

Rex McConnell's all-Masonic basketball team, the Canton Travelers, one of the few Masonic fives in existence, Wednesday invaded Columbiana county for the first time this season, playing the Nash Motors at Lisbon.

The Travelers jumped to Lisbon from Cadiz where they played the night previous. The schedule as prepared by McConnell this year takes the club into the states of West Virginia and Pennsylvania and includes many Ohio contests. Last season the club traveled more than 3,000 miles to complete its card.

On the team are ex-high school and former college players, including Pete Rate, formerly of the Canton Bulldogs. McConnell, manager and booking manager, who organized the team, was identified with local amateur sports for many years.

Highs Play Newell Today; Face F. & M. Quintet Next

Real Test Ahead for Blue and White in Contest Saturday With Sam Taylor's Academy Cagers From Lancaster, Pa.

Following practically two weeks' intensive drill work, which included a game with the Sewickley, Pa., scholastic five here, Coach O. V. Boone's school cagers will tackle George Kidder's Newell high quintet this afternoon on the local gym floor as an appetizer prior to their basketball entree tomorrow with Franklin & Marshall Academy outfit, of Lancaster, Pa.

This afternoon's engagement is scheduled for 4 o'clock. There will be no admission charge, according to Manager Bruce Perry.

The clash with the Newellites is expected to prove no more troublesome than the contest with Sewickley here a week ago, in which the Blue and White triumphed by the count of 40 to 10.

But the game with the Franklin & Marshall prep schoolers who are directed by Sam Taylor, former local athlete, is counted on to produce something definite in the nature of a test for the locals.

Boone is confident that the new members of the squad playing with the veterans English, Liebschner and McConville, will come through, however, satisfactorily.

CHESTER TO PUT ON MITT PROGRAM

Three boxing matches and a wrestling scrap are listed as the attractions on Chester's first public exhibition of fisticuffs in many seasons, scheduled for Dec. 26 at Ward's garage, Second and Virginia avenue.

K. O. Sweeney and Frank Medo of Chester are listed as the main bouters. K. O. Smith of Chester and Harry Heckathorne of this city, will meet in the semi-final. Harry McCluskey of Crawfordsville, Ind., and Kid Wood of East Liverpool will be the preliminary artists. George Sprawunsky of Chester and Hugie Porson of Middle Run will display their grappling ability.

WHAT COULD POOR THING SAY WHEN HUBBY ASKED QUESTION?

CENTRALLIA, Ill.—This is a story that will cause every husband to chuckle who has admonished his wife to carry a keyring. For that's the moral of it.

The heroine, whose name has been withheld for obvious reasons, is a leader of Centrallia's smart set, wife of a prominent business man and is a widely known hostess.

She drove her roadster into the garage, got out, switched off the lights and slammed the garage door shut, ready to trip lightly toward the house, where hubby was asleep.

The garage door, equipped with a strong spring-lock, had caught the tail of her skirt fast when she had slammed it shut.

She discovered to her dismay that she had no key with her. The skirt was caught firmly. It was chilly. What was she to do?

Hubby had a key, but hubby was asleep. He was a sound sleeper. She called and called louder, but hubby slept on.

Our heroine was a woman of quick wit, and her nimble mind responded beautifully. If the skirt did not want to go along, then leave it behind. She stepped out of the garment and, clad in very light weight silken underwear, started for the house, which, of course, had to be a corner house. As soon as she started running the gauntlet an automobile, one of those with glaring lights, swept around the corner.

Anyone who wants to get the full benefit of what our heroine thought and said as she crouched behind a rosebush while the car took its time passing the house will have to get it from her; but eventually she reached her own porch and felt relieved—for a moment.

The door was locked! She had no key!

In desperation she pushed the doorbell. Hubby was long in coming, but finally she heard him fumbling with the doorknob.

"Well, what the h—— kind of a party have you been to?" he roared.

Drive on Shoplifters.

LIMA.—A concerted drive to rid Lima of shoplifters has been launched here, headed by Willis Kipker, inspector of detectives. Action was taken at the instigation of several Lima merchants who reported heavy losses due to shop-lifting. Judge F. H. Poling assured police and merchants he would cooperate in driving out the culprits.

Woman Butcher Knife Robber Gets 20 Years For Seven Dollar Loot

FLINT, Mich.—Convicted of a hold-up last July, in which she is alleged to have used a butcher knife as a weapon in the robbery of Walter Wasileski, on the street here, Miss Effie Jeffries was sentenced by Circuit Judge Fred W. Brennan to serve from 10 to 20 years in the Detroit house of correction.

Seven dollars was the total sum derived from the robbery.

Road Work Completed.

YORKVILLE.—The Yorkville-Tiltonville-Rayland portion of the Ohio river highway in southern Jefferson county is completed, the last of the concrete having been pronounced dry and ready for travel. As soon as a few small stretches are paved betwene Warrenton and Steubenville and when Belmont county paves its section of the road between Yorkville and Martins Ferry, all of which is to be done next year, outlets to Wheeling and the National road on the south and Lincoln highway on the north will be available.

WHAT COULD POOR THING SAY WHEN HUBBY ASKED QUESTION?

CENTRALLIA, Ill.—This is a story that will cause every husband to chuckle who has admonished his wife to carry a keyring. For that's the moral of it.

The heroine, whose name has been withheld for obvious reasons, is a leader of Centrallia's smart set, wife of a prominent business man and is a widely known hostess.

The lady in the case returned late at night from a social function to which friend husband had refused to go.

She drove her roadster into the garage, got out, switched off the lights and slammed the garage door shut, ready to trip lightly toward the house, where hubby was asleep.

But she did not get far.

The garage door, equipped with a strong spring-lock, had caught the tail of her skirt fast when she had slammed it shut.

She discovered to her dismay that she had no key with her. The skirt was caught firmly. It was chilly. What was she to do?

Hubby had a key, but hubby was asleep. He was a sound sleeper. She called and called louder, but hubby slept on.

Our heroine was a woman of quick wit, and her nimble mind responded beautifully. If the skirt did not want to go along, then leave it behind. She stepped out of the garment and, clad in very light weight silken underwear, started for the house, which, of course, had to be a corner house. As soon as she started running the gauntlet an automobile, one of those with glaring lights, swept around the corner.

Anyone who wants to get the full benefit of what our heroine thought and said as she crouched behind a rosebush while the car took its time passing the house will have to get it from her; but eventually she reached her own porch and felt relieved—for a moment.

The door was locked! She had no key!

In desperation she pushed the doorbell. Hubby was long in coming, but finally she heard him fumbling with the doorknob.

"Well, what the h—— kind of a party have you been to?" he roared.

Drive on Shoplifters.

LIMA.—A concerted drive to rid Lima of shoplifters has been launched here, headed by Willis Kipker, inspector of detectives. Action was taken at the instigation of several Lima merchants who reported heavy losses due to shop-lifting. Judge F. H. Poling assured police and merchants he would cooperate in driving out the culprits.

Woman Butcher Knife Robber Gets 20 Years For Seven Dollar Loot

FLINT, Mich.—Convicted of a hold-up last July, in which she is alleged to have used a butcher knife as a weapon in the robbery of Walter Wasileski, on the street here, Miss Effie Jeffries was sentenced by Circuit Judge Fred W. Brennan to serve from 10 to 20 years in the Detroit house of correction.

Seven dollars was the total sum derived from the robbery.

Road Work Completed.

YORKVILLE.—The Yorkville-Tiltonville-Rayland portion of the Ohio river highway in southern Jefferson county is completed, the last of the concrete having been pronounced dry and ready for travel. As soon as a few small stretches are paved between Warrenton and Steubenville and when Belmont county paves its section of the road between Yorkville and Martins Ferry, all of which is to be done next year, outlets to Wheeling and the National road on the south and Lincoln highway on the north will be available.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settled domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How many people and cars are cared for at the Washington tourist camp during the season?—M. D. S.

A. The report of Colonel Sherrill shows that during the last fiscal year 13,821 cars, with 44,356 persons, were registered at the tourist camp, the average length of stay being two days.

Q. What is the use of the yellow spot in the eye?—E. O. M.

A. The circular yellow spot called "macula lutea" and known, after its discoverer as "the yellow spot of Sommerung," is about one-twentieth of an inch in diameter. The only mammals in which it exists are men and monkeys. It is the area of most distinct vision, a circumstance which may partly be accounted for by the fact that it is singularly free from blood vessels which curve around it and apparently avoid it.

Q. Is the saxaphone used in military bands?—D. S.

A. As long ago as before 1850, the saxaphone was officially adopted as an instrument in use in French military bands. The saxaphone is used in practically all military bands.

Q. What relation is Thomas Meighan's wife to Blanche Ring?—J. S. H.

A. Frances Ring Meighan and Blanch Ring Creel are sisters.

Q. Has an airplane ever been launched from a dirigible?—C. W.

A. This was done at the recent air races at Dayton when a small army messenger plane hooked under the car of the army dirigible TC-5 was launched. Not only can a plane be launched from an airship, but it can return to its perch by means of an automatic attachment.

Q. Did the story of Atalanta's Race by Byron originate with him?—E. L. C.

A. The story of Atalanta's Race was not conceived by Byron. It is contained in Greek mythology and mentioned by Ovid in his Metamorphoses.

Q. Please tell something about the coffee tree.—E. M.

A. The coffee tree when native develops a height of from 18 to 20 feet. Under cultivation the tree is kept short and generally grows from 4 to 6 feet high, to increase the crop and facilitate picking. There are generally two or three main harvests in a year but the shrub bears to a greater or less degree all the year around. Coffee trees produce from 10 to 20 years and sometimes longer.

Q. How long have there been coats-of-arms?—J. F. M.

A. Heraldry was established in the 12th century. Early bearings were simple in character and were generally chosen so that they might suggest the name of the bearer.

Q. Is there any danger of the Confederate Memorial on Stone Mountain being damaged by erosion?—P. D. T.

A. At first, it was feared that the Memorial would lutimately be destroyed by erosion. The State Geologist, however, estimates that every 100,000 years, the process of erosion would affect the memorial to the amount of one inch.

Q. If the head of Lincoln by Gutzon Borglum, in the Capital at Washington were placed on a figure what would the proportions be?—W. S.

Q. Where is Irak?—M. A. K.

A. Irak and Mesopotamia are the same. It lies west of Persia and its capital is Bagdad.

To be prepared for snow storms, the head of the street cleaning department of one eastern city watches the weather reports and if bad weather is predicted he has teams and shovels ready to operate on short notice.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflammed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.

Nose Dives in Airplane Restore Both Speech and Hearing of Girl

Sudden change of air pressure on her ear drums and throat nerves, made possible by repeated nose dives in an airplane, has restored the speech and hearing of Gwendolyn Caswell, Chicago girl of twenty-two, who had been afflicted since she was three years old. She was able to talk and hear on her return to the ground from the trip. Photo shows Miss Caswell and her pilot Bert C. Hunter, after their ride.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so-called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflammed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.

Nose Dives in Airplane Restore Both Speech and Hearing of Girl

Sudden change of air pressure on her ear drums and throat nerves, made possible by repeated nose dives in an airplane, has restored the speech and hearing of Gwendolyn Caswell, Chicago girl of twenty-two, who had been afflicted since she was three years old. She was able to talk and hear on her return to the ground from the trip. Photo shows Miss Caswell and her pilot Bert C. Hunter, after their ride.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settled domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How many people and cars are cared for at the Washington tourist camp during the season?—M. D. S.

A. The report of Colonel Sherrill shows that during the last fiscal year 13,821 cars, with 44,356 persons, were registered at the tourist camp, the average length of stay being two days.

Q. What is the use of the yellow spot in the eye?—E. O. M.

A. The circular yellow spot called "macula lutea" and known, after its discoverer as "the yellow spot of Sommerung," is about one-twentieth of an inch in diameter. The only mammals in which it exists are men and monkeys. It is the area of most distinct vision, a circumstance which may partly be accounted for by the fact that it is singularly free from blood vessels which curve around it and apparently avoid it.

Q. Is the saxaphone used in military bands?—D. S.

A. As long ago as before 1850, the saxaphone was officially adopted as an instrument in use in French military bands. The saxaphone is used in practically all military bands.

Q. What relation is Thomas Meighan's wife to Blanche Ring?—J. S. H.

Q. Has an airplane ever been launched from a dirigible?—C. W.

A. This was done at the recent air races at Dayton when a small army messenger plane hooked under the car of the army dirigible TC-5 was launched. Not only can a plane be launched from an airship, but it can return to its perch by means of an automatic attachment.

Q. Did the story of Atalanta's Race by Byron originate with him?—E. L. C.

A. The story of Atalanta's Race was not conceived by Byron. It is contained in Greek mythology and mentioned by Ovid in his Metamorphoses.

Q. Please tell something about the coffee tree.—E. M.

A. The coffee tree when native develops a height of from 18 to 20 feet. Under cultivation the tree is kept short and generally grows from 4 to 6 feet high, to increase the crop and facilitate picking. There are generally two or three main harvests in a year but the shrub bears to a greater or less degree all the year around. Coffee trees produce from 10 to 20 years and sometimes longer.

Q. How long have there been coats-of-arms?—J. F. M.

A. Heraldry was established in the 12th century. Early bearings were simple in character and were generally chosen so that they might suggest the name of the bearer.

Q. Is there any danger of the Confederate Memorial on Stone Mountain being damaged by erosion?—P. D. T.

A. At first, it was feared that the Memorial would lutimately be destroyed by erosion. The State Geologist, however, estimates that every 100,000 years, the process of erosion would affect the memorial to the amount of one inch.

Q. If the head of Lincoln by Gutzon Borglum, in the Capital at Washington were placed on a figure what would the proportions be?—W. S. —

Q. Where is Irak?—M. A. K.

A. Irak and Mesopotamia are the same. It lies west of Persia and its capital is Bagdad.

To be prepared for snow storms, the head of the street cleaning department of one eastern city watches the weather reports and if bad weather is predicted he has teams and shovels ready to operate on short notice.
